Possibility of Walkout Grows After Negotiations Collapse

CHICAGO (AP) — A nationwide railroad strike and quick White House intervention appeared possible today after the collapse of railroad-union negotiations on the featherbedding issue.

Just 90 minutes after Wednesday's bargaining session opened, a conference of representatives of the five operating labor unions and the railroads broke down.

H.E. Gilbert, president of the Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen, said the carrier representatives walked out of the meeting.

"We did not leave the bargaining table," he said. "They did. We are ready to negotiate whenever the railroads make up their minds to engage in true collective bargaining."

Denies Walking Out

"We went into the conference with the hope that the carriers would be willing to bargain honestly," he said. "We found they wouldn't."

James E. Wolfe, chief management negotiator, said: "I don't think that anybody walked out. We told them we were disappointed and that we thought they were stalling."

Wolfe announced that the railroads will act as soon as possible to make sweeping changes in the work rules to eliminate what they call featherbedding. The carriers first notified the unions of the changes in 1959.

No Flat Prediction

The unions, representing 200,000 members, have stated that such action would trigger a strike.

Gilbert would not say flatly that adoption of sweeping rules changes would bring a walkout.

"We'll know what to do if the railroads put the rules changes into effect," he said.

Wolfe said the breakdown in negotiations, the third, should lead to a fact-finding board by President Kennedy, which would delay any strike for at least 60 days.

At stake are 65,000 jobs and $600 million a year.

Can't Agree On Rules

The two sides appeared to be separated on ground rules. The railroads wanted to conduct the talks within the framework of the presidential railroad commission report of Feb. 28, 1962. This report accepted some of management's demands, and management accepted the report. The unions wanted bargaining to include their proposals.

Senate Banking Group Approves Transit Subsidy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Banking Committee approved 9-6 today a $500 million transit subsidy bill designed to help cities with traffic jam and commuter problems.

It was the first new major spending bill in President Kennedy's 1963 program to clear a Senate committee for floor action.

Sponsors said they hoped the legislation could be called up for Senate action in about 10 days.

The bill won the support of eight Democrats—John Sparkman, Ala., Paul H. Douglas, Ill., Joseph S. Clark, Pa., Harrison A. Williams Jr., N. J., Edmund S. Muskie, Maine, Edward V. Long, Mo., Mrs. Maurine B. Neuberger, Ore., and Thomas J. McIntyre, N. H.—and one Republican—Jacob K. Javits, N. Y.

Opposed were two Democrats—A. Willis Robertson, Va., the committee chairman, and William Proxmire Jr., Wis.—and four Republicans—Walter F. Bennett, Utah, John G. Tower, Tex., Milward L. Simpson, Wyo., and Peter H. Dominick, Colo.

GOP Drive to Pare Budget May Cut State School Aids

Reduction Would be Almost Certain to Force Increase in Local Education Levies

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — The first intimation in more than twenty years that the state treasury may cut back its multi-million dollar program of subsidy for the local public schools of Wisconsin has come from the controlling Republican majority on the legislature's finance committee.

The suggestion came in a subcommittee report signed by Sen. Alex Meunier of Sturgeon Bay and three other members assigned to consider the request of the state department of public instruction for a school aid budget of some $212,000,000.

"Until there are indications that a revenue measure to provide more money will be available," said the Meunier report, the legislature should hold down all spending, including the politically sensitive school aid budget, to the levels that the present state tax structure can support.

Fight Over Tax Source

The reference was to the fact that Democratic Gov. Reynolds has repeatedly pledged to veto any general sales tax bill to resolve the state financing dilemma, and that the Republicans have indicated they will refuse to adopt his income tax increase plan because it would make the Wisconsin income tax scale the highest in the country.

The full finance committee did not act on the Meunier report, but it obviously came as no surprise. It fits the emerging strategy of the Republican legislature to try to put pressure upon Reynolds to modify his position by reminding him that the alternative may be a painful reduction in essential or popular state services.

Assemblyman Glenn Commerford of Wauwatosa, co-chairman of the committee, asked Angus Rothwell, state superintendent of schools, who defended the high state aid request, whether he would assist the committee in rewriting the school aid formula to fit a smaller amount of money that may be available to finance it.

Local Rates Involved

"That would be our obligation," Rothwell replied, "but I should say that it couldn't be done without hurting," he added.

He referred to the fact that any substantial cutback in state support would force local school boards to raise taxes.

Present state aids are at the rate of 50 per cent of the statewide average per pupil cost. The bill would set aid at 60 per cent of each school's actual cost. Aid for students from other counties would be 50 per cent of the state average or 50 per cent of actual cost. Further, hospitals agreeing to meet improved standards would get additional aid.

Another section of the bill would set aid at 60 per cent of actual cost.

State Members Of House Split On Defense Bill

Divided 3 to 6 on Financing RS70 Bomber Program

BY FRANCES MCKUSICK
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

WASHINGTON — Members of the Wisconsin House delegation today split 3 to 6 in their votes on an amendment to the Defense Department procurement bill which would finance the continuance of the RS 70 bomber program.

The House approved this amendment, 226 to 179.

Continuance of the RS70 bomber, easily the most controversial part of the entire defense department program, will cost an estimated $370 million.

Those voting for the RS70 amendment included Reps. Henry C. Schadeberg and William K. Van Pelt, Republicans, and Clement J. Zablocki, a Democrat.

Different Opinions

Members voting against it included Reps. Robert W. Kastner and Lester R. Johnson, Democrats; and Republicans Vernon W. Thomson, Melvin R. Laird, John W. Byrnes and Alvin E. O'Konski. Not voting was Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Milwaukee.

Supporters of the RS70 bomber amendment felt that the United States should not depend upon its missile program exclusively for military defense and strength, and so should continue with development of the RS70 bomber, on which more than a billion dollars already have been spent.

On the opposite side of the picture, Congressmen Laird and Byrnes and others believed that the RS70 could have been developed within the $15.3 billion budget by trimming some of the other items within it.

"I am not within the bomber,"

110,000 Ballots for Beilfuss, 35,194 for Larson, Poll Shows

MADISON (AP)—The official canvass of the March 5 primary election gave Judge Bruce Beilfuss 110,000 votes and Harold E. Larson 35,194 as they won nomination for the State Supreme Court race.

Beilfuss, a circuit court judge from Neillsville, and Larson, a Superior attorney, will be opponents in the April 2 election for the post that will become vacant next January with the retirement of Chief Justice Timothy Brown.

The canvass results, announced Wednesday by the secretary of state's office, listed these totals for the three other candidates in the high court primary:

William Evans of Milwaukee 28,056.

State Sen. Davis Donnelly of Eau Claire 22,933.

and Christ Alexopoulos of Milwaukee 12,304.

The House passed the extension Monday by a topheavy 387-3 vote.

Rep. Emmanuel Celler (D-N.Y.), left, talks with Newton Minow, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, Wednesday in Washington at the start of a month of House Antitrust Subcommittee hearings on newspaper competition. Minow, one of more than 40 witnesses, said the FCC has found cross-ownership of newspapers and television stations sometimes is in the public interest. John B. Torinus, editor of the Post-Crescent, will be one of the witnesses. (AP Wirephoto)

Gigantic Cleanup Task After Floods

Thousands of Families Go Back to Homes in 5 States

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mud, muck and misery greeted thousands of families returning to their homes today in portions of five southern states hit hardest by rampaging rivers and streams.

Other thousands were homeless still, but the torrential rains were over and the flood waters were receding in most sections.

Property damage amounted to many millions of dollars, and massive cleanup operations added to the cost. Thick mud coated homes, businesses and roads in some areas. Occasional mudslides blocked streets.

Disaster Areas

Parts of southeastern Kentucky and southwestern West Virginia were declared disaster areas by President Kennedy.

Fifteen deaths were attributed to the floods and five persons were missing. Six died in West Virginia, four in Tennessee, two in Kentucky, two in Virginia and one in Alabama.

Volunteers built an emergency wall of dirt to augment a flood wall at Prestonburg, Ky., and the barrier turned back the Big Sandy River with just four inches to spare.

At Paintsville, down river from Prestonburg, water was reported over the parking meters on the main street. About 1,000 of the 2,400 persons in the town were evacuated, but a Civil Defense spokesman described the situation as well in hand.

Bus Passengers Rescued

Ten passengers and a driver were rescued from a Greyhound bus trapped for more than eight hours in flood waters on a highway 35 miles west of Chattanooga, Tenn.

Amphibious vehicles were used to remove the passengers and bus driver Forrest F. Darnell of Memphis, Tenn. said he was forced to stop the vehicle in shallow water sweeping across highway 64 when a car stalled in front of him shortly after midnight Wednesday.

The water rose quickly to about four feet and poured two feet deep into the bus, he said.

"The water was so swift it picked up the front of the bus and set it on the shoulder of the road," he said. "The bus rocked all night."

Elsewhere, the Tennessee River approached flood level but was expected to be held in control by Tennessee Valley Authority dams and spillways. Other rivers were receding.

No Attack on Soviet Vessel, U.S. Declares

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department has denied a Soviet charge that three American warships fired on a Soviet trawler last Friday.

Six Navy destroyers fired gunnery exercises in the area—70 miles east of Norfolk, Va.—but the nearest surface ship was 12 miles away, five miles beyond the destroyers' maximum antiaircraft range, said a statement issued Wednesday night by the State Department.

The surface ship was not identified and a spokesman said he did not know if it was a Soviet vessel.

Formal Reply Prepared

In its protest the Soviet Union said two cruisers and a destroyer fired dummy—nonexplosive—shells near a Soviet ship. This, said Moscow, was "an act of sheer wantonness which could have grave consequences."

Linn White, State Department press officer, said he did not know whether the antiaircraft

Lawmaker From California Found Dead by Spouse

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Clyde Doyle, D-Calif., acting chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, died unexpectedly in his sleep early today. He was 75.

The veteran Congressman, a man who was serving his ninth two-year term, had been active in Congressional work in recent days.

Only last night he and Mrs. Doyle had attended an American Legion banquet.

He was found dead in his bed in his home in Arlington, Va., by Mrs. Doyle at 1:30 a.m.

Doyle represented the 23rd California Congressional district — a portion of Los Angeles county. He was the ranking Democratic member of the House Committee on Un-American Activities and recently had been serving as its acting chairman because of the illness of the Chairman, Rep. Francis E. Walter, D-Pa. He also was a ranking member of the House Armed Services Committee.

Aides of the Congressman said he had led a fight recently against abolition of the committee on Un-American activities, and that he also had been active in consideration of the armed services budget.

He wrote bills in several sessions of Congress to outlaw the Communist party.

Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, left, is greeted by Boeing Co. officials after arriving by plane in Seattle early today for a private briefing later in the day by Boeing on the Dyna Soar manned space glider program. Johnson May Speak at State Party Dinner

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. John W. Reynolds said Wednesday that if a date can be agreed upon, Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson will speak at the Wisconsin Democratic party's Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner this spring.

Reynolds said Johnson "indicated a great interest in Wisconsin" during a 30-minute meeting also attended by Patrick J. Lucy, Wisconsin Democratic party chairman.

The governor said he and Lucy planned to see if the Milwaukee Arena would be available on a date which would fit into the vice president's schedule.

Results of Poll U. S. Foreign Policy Supported Abroad but Soviets Also Gaining

BY LEWIS GULICK
WASHINGTON (AP)—The popularity of U.S. foreign policy has hit a record high among West Europeans but the Soviets have scored striking gains too, according to a new U.S. Information Agency poll.

The recent rise in pre-Soviet sentiment was attributed to "the avoidance of war over Cuba— which many in Europe attribute more to Soviet moderation than to U.S. strength."

Public Favors U.S.

The USIA survey of opinion in four major European nations, dated last month and still classified as confidential, reported that America still runs well ahead of the Soviet Union in popular opinion.

It also said: "Confidence in U.S. leadership showed record gains in Britain and West Germany, but dropped some in France where President Charles de Gaulle is 'so dramatically at odds" with President Kennedy.

2. Frenchmen nonetheless continue to hold the United States in high esteem, although De Gaulle's drive for "independence" from America is making some headway and predominant French opinion favors non-alignment with either Washington or Moscow.

Findings of USIA polls were the basis of 1963 presidential campaign in his 1960 presidential campaign that U.S. prestige abroad had slumped during the Eisenhower years.

Last month USIA agreed to make public its surveys after they are at least one to two years old. Its stated reason for the delay was to avoid damage to U.S. foreign relations by publicizing current studies. Under present USIA policy, last month's poll would not be released before 1965.

The new survey said USIA researchers would shortly prepare a special memorandum from the European opinion sampling dealing specifically with the Cuban situation.

Decline in France

The report's first conclusion from preliminary returns on the European poll was that "favorable impressions of U.S. foreign policies now stand at the highest point registered in Measurements on this index extending back to 1956."

"On confidence in the ability of the U.S. to provide wise leadership for the West in dealing with present world problems," the February 1963 responses ranged from a plus 68 per cent not favorable in Germany to 10 per cent in Britain and a minus 10 per cent in France. The figures all represented gains over May 1960 except in France, where the decline was described as "limited."

As for West European opinion of the Soviets, the survey said: "The marked gains in pro-U.S.

Proverbs Around The World Say Same Thing in Different Words

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

It is possible—is it not?—that the wisdom of the world can be enfolded in its proverbs. Homely axioms run through our language as they do through all others. The Basques say, "all the good sense in the world runs into proverbs."

Perhaps this is true. It can be shown that many proverbs run through almost every language in virtually the same terms.

For example, a common Albanian proverb says that "An old dog will learn nothing." It is comparable in many other languages. In English we say, "You can't teach an old dog new tricks."

The Greek, Aristotle, wrote this of proverbs: "Remnants which, on account of their shortness and correctness, have been saved out of the wreck of ancient philosophy."

Undoubtedly many wisdoms are universal wisdoms, and it shows in the proverbs. We say "A chain is as strong as its weakest link" and the Albanians say that "A thread breaks where it is thinnest."

Where we say, "The children of cobblers go without shoes," the Basques of Spain and France say, "In the house of a blacksmith, there is a stick for spit."

The Basques say, "God is a good worker but He loves to be helped." Similarly, in our language those who help themselves.

When we say that it takes two to make a quarrel, the Belgians say it rather more attractively with more than one meaning with their "One sword keeps another in the scabbard."

We say that "Still water runs deep," and the Czechs say, "Still water—deep bottom."

The English have a proverb which is comparable to many. "A pot that belongs to many is ill stirred and worse boiled" and that proverb is equivalent to our — "Too many cooks spoil the broth."

It is possible that every proverb has its foreign equivalent, but I would like to call attention to some well-made axioms of other peoples, and then permit you to seek its likeness if you care to.

The Czechs say, "I am a gentleman and you are a gentleman; who is going to tend the swine?"

Don't Use Carrots

The Irish have a very pretty and apt proverb in this: "Never bolt your door with a boiled carrot."

Bulgarians employ a bitter phrase in this axiom: "If you wish to drown, do not torture yourself with shallow water."

The French have a wonderful thought behind this: "If your friend is one-eyed, look at him in profile."

They also say that "The grand-sire buys, the father builds, the son sells and the grandson begs."

"In the world of the blind," say the Irish, "a one-eyed man is king."

There is observing wisdom in the proverb, "He who is nearest to the church is the latest coming to mass."

The Finnish people have an axiom which says, "An empty stomach teaches the hunter to shoot straight."

In China, it is said that "Everybody pushes a falling fence."

The Norwegians have many fine proverbs: "Use what you have, said the housewife as she scrubbed the table with a cat," and "Bad is called good when worse happens." And "Don't sell the skin before the bear is shot."

Russians Need Practice

Perhaps the Russians would be better neighbors to the world if they employed one of their own homely philosophies; "Make peace with men and quarrel with your sins." And they have wisdom, too, in their observation that "Every peasant is proud of the pond in his village because from it he measures the seas."

A dandy warning is tucked into a phrase used by the Canadians who say, "Do not shout dinner until you have your knife in the loaf."

54 Iola Voters Turn Out for Village Caucus

IOLA — Fifty-four Iola village voters turned out to nominate officers at the annual caucus meeting Saturday.

Adam Horle, incumbent, and S. W. Cleaves, former village president, were nominated for village president.

Six men, including the three incumbents, were nominated for trustee. Three of the six will be elected. Nominated were Carl Waller, Willie Erickson and Leverne Hoffman, incumbents, and Herman Gjertson, Howard Bestul and R. O. Gunderson.

Harold Larson and Delores Hoffman were nominated to fill the vacant office of justice of peace. Both said they would withdraw.

Other nominations were incumbents, and all will be unopposed. They are clerk, Charles Hartvig, treasurer, Leland Johnson, assessor, Kenneth Carlson, supervisor, Harold Bestul, and constable, Richard Krause.

Arnold Helgeson was chairman of the meeting, and John Groenier was clerk. Tellers were Lloyd Cooper, Gene Taylor, Herb Helgeson and Orin Taylor.

New Tavern Vision Law Requested

A recommendation has been made to erase Appleton's old tavern "vision" ordinance from the books.

The action was taken Tuesday night by the common council's welfare-ordinance committee.

At the same time, the committee instructed City Atty. Frederick Froehlich to prepare a new ordinance to incorporate the state statute.

The new ordinance would prohibit obstruction of a clear view of the interior of a tavern or supper club from the outside by use of drapes, blinds, screens or anything else while the establishment is closed.

The city's present ordinance, which Police Chief Earl Wolff says should be eliminated, says "all windows should be of clear, clean glass and of such a size as to afford an unobstructed view of the interior from the street... and shall be adequately lighted so the interior of said building and the occupants thereof can be clearly distinguished by passers-by."

Wolff recently informed the council the local ordinance and state statute were in conflict. He said one law was needed and requested support of the common council in making a clarification.

TV Group Will Press Issue Before Hearing

Central Wisconsin Denies Alleged License Trafficking

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Wisconsin Citizens Committee for Educational Television presses today its assertion that Central Wisconsin Television, Inc., planned to dispose of a permit to build TV station WCWT at Wausau, Wis., before it was granted. The Federal Communications Commission issued the permit to Central Wisconsin, effective Sept. 8, 1961.

Central Wisconsin, which asked the FCC on March 12, 1963 for authority to assign the permit to Midcontinent Broadcasting Co., denies the alleged "trafficking in licenses."

William F. Krueger, principal agent for Central Wisconsin, was recalled to the witness stand at a hearing before FCC examiner Charles J. Frederick.

Denies Sale
Krueger has denied that Central Wisconsin considered selling its permit to Midcontinent for its Channel 9 station at Wausau before January, 1962.

Louis C. Stephens, attorney for the Citizens Committee, sought Wednesday to ascertain from Krueger what plans had been made for constructing the station.

Asked by Stephens how and why a decision was made in February 1962 to proceed with construction of the station, Krueger said there were several reasons.

After the construction permit was granted, Krueger said, Central Wisconsin thought about transferring its transmitter location from the Kalinke site to one on Rib Mountain.

Krueger said nothing was done before February 1962 because it looked as though the TV tower would be built at Rib Mountain.

"When did Central Wisconsin decide not to construct?" Stephens asked.

"There never was any real determination not to construct," Krueger replied.

Krueger said previously that Central Wisconsin decided to sell its Wausau Community Antenna System (CATV) to Americantenna Corp., which demanded the permit for Channel 9 as part of the sale.

CW Stockholders

Although Central Wisconsin stockholders on Nov. 1, 1961 authorized the sale, Americantenna later bought CATV without Channel 9.

Asked about Harry W. H. Lillge, a director of CATV, Krueger said Lillge was not a stockholder or director of Central Wisconsin and did not work for the company. His wife, Mrs. Viola Lillge, was a director of Central Wisconsin.

Stephens said the Citizens Committee had reason to believe that Lillge played a much greater role in Central Wisconsin affairs than was evident to the FCC. Stephens said Mrs. Lillge was a figurehead.

State Building Corp. Gets Federal Loans

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Community Facilities Administration has approved loans totaling $6,000,000 to the Wisconsin Building Corp., Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said Wednesday.

The funds, along with $287,000 to be supplied by the building corporation, will be used for additions to student unions at Wisconsin's nine state colleges and for separate food service facilities at two — Watertown and Stevens Point.

The student union additions will range in cost from $400,000 at River Falls to $900,000 at Oshkosh.

shells fired by the destroyers were dummies or live ammunition. A formal reply to Moscow's protest along the lines of Wednesday night's statement will be made, he said.

The statement described the location as "an established and recognized U.S. Navy operations area."

"On the day in question U.S. naval vessels, none of which were cruisers, were in the area," it said. "Six U.S. Navy destroyers fired gunnery exercises."

Sleeve Target Towed

"The ship nearest the location of the alleged incident fired an antiaircraft practice at a towed sleeve target."

"At the time of the firing this ship was 10 miles southwest from the position which the Soviet Union reports was the location of the incident. The ship fired in an easterly and westerly direction with ammunition which has a seven-mile maximum range."

"No surface vessel was within 12 miles of the firing ship before and during the firing. The clearance of the range was confirmed by the target towing aircraft. The weather conditions were clear."

"At no time did this vessel or any other U.S. naval vessel in the general area fire when any surface vessel or aircraft could be in danger."

explained Laird, "but we certainly did not need to spend another more than a quarter billion dollars to develop it, when this money could have been found elsewhere without any additional appropriations."

Congressman Johnson was the only member to vote against a motion to send the bill back to its committee to trim the total authorization figure by about one billion dollars. All others voted for it, except Reuss, who was absent, but the motion was defeated 149 to 258.

All members of the delegation voted for the bill, except Laird, Byrnes and O'Konaki, who had also objected to the bomber amendment adding $330 million. The bill passed 373 to 33.

Sauce-y Ideas for Lenten Meals

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Post-Crescent Food Editor

Any cook with even a tiny spark of creativity can start borrowing from great chefs throughout history. Many a chef de cuisine has risen from obscurity to world fame on a particular sauce of his own invention.

Epicures the world over often judge the excellence of a dish by its sauce or gravy, providing, of course, the ingredients of the dish also have been prepared with a masterful touch.

Seafood, one of the most versatile of all foods, particularly is adaptable to preparation with sauces... then there are the many stews, casseroles and one-dish meals that depend upon their saucing for excellence. There are hundreds of recipes that call for one kind of sauce or another... so to lighten the burden of lenten meals and to make a culinary name at the same time, take to mastering the art of saucery.

The recipes today all feature prepared tomato sauce... spicy and rich... as a short-cut to saucery. A quickly prepared chive-mustard sauce is recommended for seafoods such as fish steaks, scallops, shrimp or fish sticks. Then there's a caper sauce that's delicious with a seafood loaf that comes from an old mariner's family. Lasagna with an unexpected shrimp and crabmeat addition uses the convenient canned tomato sauce to cut down preparation time and pay tribute to the shellfish. An early California recipe for Chili beans and rice becomes simplified in today's recipe.

Chive Sauce Mustard
2 tablespoons chopped chives
1/4 cup prepared mustard hot dog relish
3-ounce can tomato sauce
Combine chives with relish and tomato sauce in saucepan. Heat thoroughly. Spoon about one tablespoon sauce over broiled or baked seafood steaks such as halibut, swordfish or sea bass. Serve remaining sauce on the side. This sauce also is delicious with fried shrimp, scallops or fish sticks.

Seafood Loaf with Caper Sauce
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1/2 cups cooked, flaked fish (halibut or whitefish)
1 cup soft bread crumbs, packed
1/4 cup chopped parsley
1 egg
1/4 cup tomato sauce
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 1/2 cups tomato sauce
1 tablespoon brown sugar
2 tablespoons capers
1 teaspoon lemon juice
Melt butter in two-quart saucepan; saute onion until soft. Remove from heat; add remaining ingredients of first portion of recipe, mixing thoroughly. Turn into greased loaf pan. Bake at 375 degrees about 40 minutes until top is lightly browned. Allow to stand five minutes before slicing. Serve with Caper Sauce (second part of above recipe.)
To make the sauce, combine all ingredients in small saucepan. Simmer for 15 minutes. Both the Many Fish Sauces call for complicated preparations, but here is one served on fish steaks that's as easy as any to be found. Simply combine chopped chives with prepared relish and canned tomato sauce in a small pan. Heat thoroughly and, presto, Chive Sauce Moutarde is ready to serve on fish, shrimp, scallops or even oysters.

Lenten Chili Beans and Rice, a favorite from the early days of California, becomes an easy-does-it dish when prepared with canned tomato sauce for modern convenience.

Auxiliary Names Poppy Princesses

KAUKAUNA — Miss Barbara Keinonen and Jan Hardtke were named 1963 Poppy Princesses at a recent meeting of the Junior American Legion Auxiliary at the clubhouse.

Tiny Tot Princess will be Miss Margaret Domres. The princesses were crowned by last year's princesses, Misses Donna Wurdinger, Barbara Biersteker and Mary Kay Greenwood.

Judges were Mrs. F. J. Banning, Mrs. Fred Mason and Mrs. Jerome Huss.

The princesses will attend the ninth district junior conference

April 6 at Kimberly. Reservations may be made until March 25 with Mrs. Sherman Rogers or Mrs. David Specht.

Members are making displays featuring veteran-made poppies. They will be judged at the April 4 meeting to determine which will be exhibited at the conference.

Little Chute WCOF Officers Announced

LITTLE CHUTE — Officers were elected by St. Johanna Court 555, Women's Catholic Order of Foresters, Monday and plans were made to participate in joint installation ceremonies April 17 with Sacred Heart Court, Kaukauna.

Mrs. John Van Asten was named ranger; Mrs. Charles Meulmans, vice-chief ranger; Mrs. P. C. Vanden Heuvel, recording secretary; Mrs. William Bongers, financial secretary; Mrs. John Wildenberg, treasurer, and Mrs. Mary Van Dyke, Mrs. Alphonse Coenen and Mrs. Wilbur Kilsdonk, trustees.

The Rev. Martin Vosbeek was named spiritual director, Miss Minnie Verkuilen and Mrs. Harold Wierschke, juvenile directors. Plans were made for a joint Holy Communion Sunday with juvenile members at the 7.30 a. m. March 31 mass.

Even If You Don't own a handsome antique sauceboat in which to serve it, this wonderful Caper Sauce will become a favorite recipe. It is a perfect accompaniment for this delicious Seafood

Loaf, adapted from an old seagoing family's recipe. It's so good, sauce and all, that it could prompt a sea chanty when first tested. This is a dish for second helpings.

Once Acquainted With this deluxe lenten version of Lasagna, it will become a dish to serve throughout the year for those special, informal occasions. There is so much come-hitherness in the delicate aroma and flavor in this feast from the sea that the most discriminating guest will be delighted.

Blue Cheese Stars in Salad For March 17

St. Patrick's Day is a time for celebrating (whether you're Irish or not!) and it's also a time for good eating.

Green, of course, is the order of the day. To inject a colorful note into your St. Patrick's Day dinner, fix this zesty molded salad.

Made with lime gelatin, apple, celery and pecans, it is accented with the mellow flavor of American blue cheese. This delicately-marbled cheese gives the salad a gourmet flair.

St. Patrick's Day Salad
3-ounce pkg. lime-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
1 cup cold water
1 cup diced apple
1/2 cup diced celery
1/2 cup chopped pecans
1/4 cup crumbled American blue cheese
Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Stir in cold water and chill until partially thickened. Fold in apple, celery, pecans, and blue cheese. Pour into one-quart ring mold which has been rinsed in cold water. Chill until firm. Unmold on bed of lettuce or curly endive.

Miss McGuire Wins Legion Essay Contest

HORTONVILLE — Miss Mary McGuire was named winner of the American Legion Auxiliary essay contest at the Monday evening meeting of the Auxiliary.

Miss Sykes, a senior, at Hortonville Union High School.

H. W. Miller, Appleton, showed a movie on activities at Camp Wawbeek.

sisted by American Legion members.

Mrs. Wallace Barrington has charge of the lunch committee for the April meeting. Mrs. Donald Breaker, Mrs. Irving Breitrick, Mrs. Earl Buchman and Mrs. Leonard Buchman will serve on the committee.

Hints For Food Budgeting

BY MARY-BETH KUESTER
Home Economist,
Wisconsin Michigan Power Co.

Are you a good marketing manager for your family? Wheeling a cart through the aisles of a supermarket takes all the skill of a top-notch buyer. And, it's predicted that the supermarket of five years from now will contain up to half again as many items!

To do a better job of selecting what's right for your family, study the food ads. You can save money at sales if the merchandise is of good quality and you have storage space.

canned tomatoes for chili. Try to coordinate style or grade with use. Convenience foods can be a "built-in maid service" if chosen wisely. If time is at a premium, a mix is a good buy at any price.

Tuna Roll-Ups
14 ounces canned tuna, drained and flaked
1 cup dairy sour cream
1/2 cup salad dressing
1 cup cooked mixed vegetables, drained
1/3 cup chopped onion
1/3 cup chopped green pepper
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Dash salt, pepper

2 cups milk
2 eggs

2 cups pancake mix
2 tablespoons melted shortening
To make filling: combine all ingredients, mixing well. Cook over low heat, stirring frequently, about 10 minutes or until hot.

To make pancake roll-ups: place milk and eggs in mixing bowl. Add pancake mix and then melted shortening. Stir lightly with wire whisk or spoon until batter is fairly smooth (slightly lumpy batter makes light pancakes). Pour one-third cup batter onto hot, lightly greased griddle for each pancake. Bake to golden brown, turning only once. Place scant quarter-cup filling on each pancake. Roll up pancake. Garnish with pimiento strips. Recipe makes six servings.

Reports Heard By Ladies Aid

MANAWA — Zion Lutheran Ladies Aid met last week with Mrs. Ben Rohde and Mrs. Edward Becker as hostesses.

The sunshine committee reported two visits to shut-ins and that they had sent two get well messages and gifts.

Mrs. Evan Rohde, chairman of revising the Aid constitution, gave each member a copy of the by-laws with the changes to be voted on at the next meeting.

Mrs. Kenneth Stroessenruether and Mrs. Beverly Tohm were in charge of the entertainment. Mrs. William Pelhke Jr. and Mrs. Erwin Klemm, received prizes.

Appointed to the March sunshine committee were Mrs. Edward Riske and Mrs. Ben Rohde.

Seafood Loaf and Caper Sauce make about six servings.

Lenten Lasagna
1 pkg. (8 ounces) lasagna
¼ cup poly-unsaturated oil
2 cups cooked shrimp, cut in ½-inch pieces
7½-ounce can crabmeat
15-ounce can tomato sauce
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
¼ teaspoon whole oregano
½ teaspoon whole sweet basil
8 ounces Mozzarella cheese
2 cups Ricotta or cottage cheese
¼ cup grated Romano or Parmesan cheese

Cook lasagna according to package directions (lasagna may be found packaged in macaroni and noodle section of market). In large skillet, combine oil, shrimp and crabmeat; saute lightly. Add tomato sauce, parsley, oregano and basil.

In a rectangular baking dish, nine by 13-inches, layer half the lasagna, seafood-tomato sauce, then the Mozzarella cheese. Repeat with remainder of these ingredients. Top with cottage or Ricotta cheese; sprinkle top with grated Romano or Parmesan cheese. Bake in 375-degree oven from 20 to 30 minutes. Serve hot. Recipe makes about eight servings.

Chili Beans and Rice
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
¼ cup oil
1 can meatless chili beans (1-pound, 14-ounce can)
1 tablespoon parsley flakes
2 tablespoons brown sugar
15-ounce can tomato sauce
4 cups cooked rice

In large skillet, saute onion in oil until soft but not brown. Drain chili beans; add to cooked onion. Add parsley, brown sugar and tomato sauce. Simmer slowly for one hour, stirring occasionally. Serve hot beans over rice. Recipe makes six to eight servings.

American Girl Begins Trip For Wedding in Sikkim

NEW YORK (AP) — This is a love story about an American socialite and the prince of a far-away land.

The socialite is Hope Cooke, 22, who leaves by air today for the remote mountain kingdom of Sikkim, an independent state bounded by India, Tibet, Bhutan and Nepal.

In Gangtok, the capital of Sikkim, Miss Cooke will be married to Prince Thondup Nangyal in a four-hour ceremony March 20.

The demure brunette met the 30-year-old prince in India four years ago, when she was a student of oriental culture and history at Sarah Lawrence College in Bronxville, N. Y.

The prince, a Buddhist and a widower with three children, became engaged to the socialite in 1961, but the wedding was put off until this year on the recommendation of court astrologers.

While looking forward to her journey and her wedding, Miss Cooke said wistfully before her departure that she will miss New York concerts, the view of the East River and her friends.

There are to be compensations, she noted.

The socialite is taking some "concerts" with her in the form of phonograph records. She noted that the prince has a full stereophonic system in his palace.

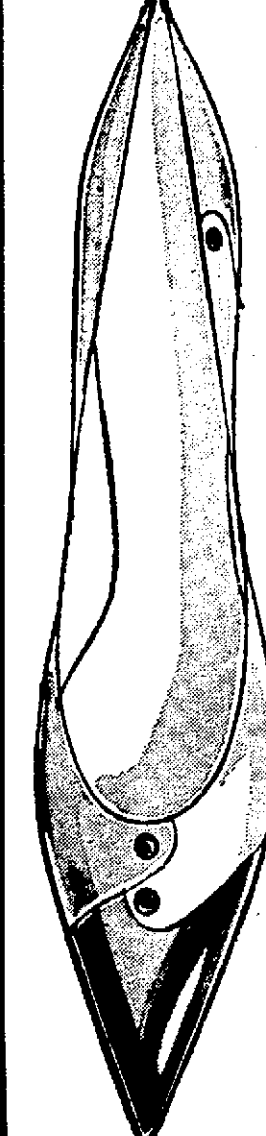

Miss Cooke also is taking books and "an awful lot of personal clothing and some furniture," including two Early American rocking chairs—perhaps the first rockers to be introduced to the far-off land of 170,000.

Will Write Books

As for friends, she said: "I always have had a great love for the eastern (sic). I guess it began from reading about the orient in children's books. It captured a corner of my mind."

Miss Cooke plans to write a textbook about the Kingdom of Sikkim for outsiders and a book for the children of Sikkim.

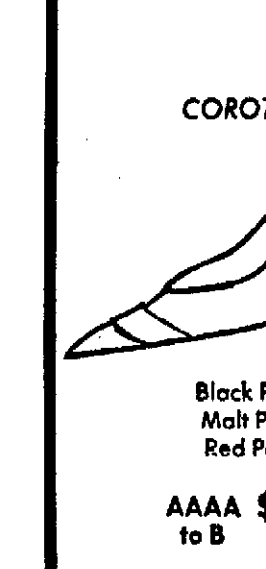

An Episcopalian, Miss Cooke was not required to adopt the Buddhist religion. She noted that the wedding date was a good one by astrological signs, but added: "I like to think of it as good because it is the day before spring."

Her entry, Tropical Cherry Pie, combines the tart-flavor of America's traditional pie fruit with the exotic flavor of flaked coconut from her island home in America's newest state.

Miss Yee, representing the contest's Western division, will use her top prize of a $1,500 scholarship to pursue a college career in the field of home economics.

The other three regional finalists representing Central, Eastern and Southern states received $500 scholarships each. They were Judy Baer, Durant, Iowa, Janice Blethen, Rockland, Me., and Ella Charlene Holmes, Des Arc, Ark. The following is Miss Yee's winning recipe:

Tropical Cherry Pie
2 cups water-packed tart red cherries
1 cup cherry liquid, plus water
¼ cup sugar
2½ tablespoons cornstarch
Dash salt
Few drops red food coloring
¼ teaspoon almond extract
1-1½ cups flaked coconut
9-inch baked pie shell

3 egg whites
Dash salt
6 tablespoons sugar
Drain cherries thoroughly, reserving liquid; add water to make one cup. Combine half-cup sugar, cornstarch and salt. Add reserved cherry liquid. Cook, stirring constantly, until thick and clear. Remove from heat; add coloring, almond extract and cherries; cool

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

BEVERAGE BLOWERS

Dear Louise: At a recent informal dinner party, one of the guests continued to blow on her coffee, obviously to cool it. Since then, another guest and I have been having a discussion about it. I claim that blowing a hot beverage isn't correct. My friend doesn't agree. Who is right?

Louise Davis Answers:

You win. It is ill-mannered to blow. The only substitute is the spoon which gently and unobtrusively stirs the hot beverage. At no time should a liquid-filled spoon be raised above the cup to allow the coffee to drip or splash back into the cup.

GIRL OVERSTEPS

Dear Louise: A friend of mine had been dating a boy several times last summer. His grandfather died and when the girl learned about it, she sent flowers to the family, whom she doesn't know. Was she correct in doing this?

Louise Davis Answers:

No. The girl overstepped. The flowers to the family imposed an obligation on them for a thank you note to someone whom no one knows except the boy. If the girl and the young man were still dating regularly, the girl would have had a better reason for sending flowers. Even so, a note of sympathy to the boy would have been wiser.

Square Dance to Have Ides of March Theme

An Ides of March theme will highlight the Fox Valley Square Dance Club dance Friday at the Menasha Eagles Club.

Gifts have been donated by merchants from Oshkosh, Neenah-Menasha, Appleton and Little Chute.

Carleton Schnieder will call rounds from 8 to 9 p.m. and square dances from 9 to 11 p.m.

On the committee are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Doering, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hill, and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Madsen. A sandwich potluck luncheon is planned.

to room temperature. Add one cup coconut, reserving rest for topping. Spoon into baked crust.

Beat egg whites and salt to form soft peaks; add six tablespoons sugar gradually, beating until stiff peaks form. Spread meringue over filling, sealing to edges. Sprinkle with remaining coconut. Bake at 350 degrees 12 to 15 minutes or until golden brown.

This Beef Stew has an unusual recipe. The beef is marinated (and consequently tenderized) in pickle juice that also imparts a delightful sweet 'n sour flavor to the stew. Also, tapioca is used as the thickening agent, an idea worth trying.

Pickle Juice Adds Flavor to Stew

Do you know that the liquid in which pickles are packed can give a delicious, undefinable flavor to many of your favorite dishes?

Not only does pickle juice add a subtle, sweet 'n' sour flavor to foods, but it does a grand job of helping to tenderize economy cuts of meat.

When pickle packers learned about the extensive use of pickle liquid, they hastened to have some recipes developed using it as an ingredient. Budget Gourmet Stew is one of these ideas.

The recipe is unusual. Notice that it doesn't call for seasoning. The pickle liquid, bouillon and sherry wine do the job. Note, too, that marinating time is short. That's because the pickle juice keeps right on tenderizing the beef cubes during the baking.

Budget Gourmet Stew
1 pound beef stew (cut in 2-inch cubes)

¼ cup sweet pickle juice
¼ cup sherry wine
1½ cups cold water
2 medium onions, sliced
1 small jar whole mushrooms
2 beef bouillon cubes
2 tablespoons dry bread crumbs
2 tablespoons minute tapioca

Combine meat, pickle juice, wine, water and onions. Substitute one-fourth cup more of pickle juice if wine is not available. Marinate meat for one hour at room temperature.

Add remaining ingredients. Place in two-quart casserole with tight-fitting lid. Bake at 350 degrees for four hours. Serve over cooked noodles, rice or mashed potatoes.

If desired, other vegetables such as carrots and potatoes may be added during the last hour of baking. Recipe serves four.

Dress Tips
 Sometimes a clean shirt collar is wrinkled before you ever wear it. Try dampening the area at night, pressing it against the flat inside wall of the bathtub—and it will be neat and wearable the next morning. . . . Try to remove spots and stains from washable clothes before putting them into hot water. Heat tends to "set the stains."

Time for Peace and Renewal Found At Deanery Day of Recollection Sunday

Holy Name of Jesus Catholic Church, Kimberly, was the inspirational setting for the Outagamie County Deanery's Annual Day of Recollection. It began at 10 a.m. Sunday, with participants attending high mass. They then attended a morning conference and met for dinner at the school. Two afternoon conferences preceded the 3 p.m. closing exercise.

The Rev. Alfred Lison, chaplain at Xavier High School, was Retreat Master at the spiritual program. His theme was "What it Means to be Catholic in Our Day."

A Lovelier You
 By Mary Sue Miller

A Neck Becomes a Throat

Fashions in beauty, as in all, and that the head gains poise else, change their emphasis. At the moment, the throat is coming in for increased attention — the smooth, slender throat.

The fact is demonstrated in the current photographs of world-famous lovelies, wherein heads seem posed on incredibly fragile shafts. One really wonders how throats thereby.

If a greater share of those assets appeals to you, just follow these suggestions:

Take a lesson from the swan—carry your head proudly erect. Draw the neck and throat up, the shoulders down.

When using cleansers or emollients on the face, massage some into the neck, too. Apply a throat cream or an astringent cream to allay crepiness.

Firm the neck with the residue of powder base left on the hands after application to the face.

Wear your hair high on the neck or altogether off it.

Wear clothes with necklines scooped out in the back, if ever so slightly.

Adjust your necklaces so that they dip a bit in the back.

Slim and limber the neck by stretching it in all directions, daily.

In such ways, even an ordinary neck becomes a swanlike throat!

To firm and uplift sagging facial muscles and flesh, use my four-way method. Procedures are detailed in the leaflet, "Banish Crepey Throat and Chin." For could be so sleek and willowy. You cannot doubt, however, that they appear the epitome of grace

Sheinwold May Get Pinched In Bridge

One of the hazards of traveling in Italy, the girls tell me, is that you get pinched. An even worse hazard is that perhaps nobody will take the trouble to pinch you. If this all seems much too difficult, don't despair. You can stay right at home and get pinched at the bridge table.

South, a highly pinchable blonde, acquitted herself nobly in the bidding. North's cue-bid of three hearts meant: "Partner, bid three notrump if you can stop the hearts." South asked no questions; she bid three notrump and waited for the opening lead.

West naturally opened the deuce of hearts, and South discarded a spade from dummy as East won the first trick with the ace of hearts. Our heroine smiled winsomely as she looked at dummy's magnificent diamonds. The sun was shining, and everything was going to be oh so hunky-dory.

Switches to Clubs
East switched to the king of clubs, and South won with the ace. And now our blonde beauty proceeded to run off dummy's diamonds.

South discarded a low club on the third diamond, a low spade on the fourth diamond, and the jack of hearts, on the fifth diamond. Then the pinch began.

What was she to throw on the sixth diamond? The ten of spades was the logical candidate. But then came the seventh diamond, and poor South felt the pinch once more.

The situation was hopeless. By this time the opponents had thrown away all of their hearts and were sure to defeat the contract with spades and clubs.

There were several ways to make the contract, of course. The easiest was to cash the king of hearts before starting the diamonds.

The moral is too clear to need repetition, and if any of you girls think that seven lovely diamonds are worth a pinch or two you can't say that you got any encouragement from this column.

Answer: Bid one heart. If partner lacks heart support he can bid a four-card spade suit by himself. If he can do neither, you can forget about major suits for this hand.

The Ailing House

Floor Slate Gets Loose

Q: We have a slate entrance. The slate was cemented to the floor. The cement is cracking and the slate is getting loose. What can I do with it where it is loose? The house is only two years old.

A: The cement holding the slate in place was probably not kept damp while curing and is now shrinking and cracking. The faulty cement should be removed and the slate re-laid, keeping the mortar damp for at least a week to allow slow curing. If you had a mason do the job for you, suggest you consult him about correcting the faulty installation.

Q: On our concrete porch a large pail was set down and rusted. What can be done to remove this? Also, painters spilled paint and varnish on the concrete. How can this be removed?

A: Make a paste of a rust-removing liquid (available hardware and some paint dealers) and powdered whiting and cover the rust stain with this. When dry, brush off and replace with fresh paste. Repeat treatment if necessary. Or the following method can be used: Dissolve 1 part sodium citrate in 6 parts of water and 6 parts of commercial glycerin. Mix part of this with enough powdered whiting to form a paste and spread on the stain in a thick coat. When it is dry, replace with paste or moisten with the remaining liquid. A week or more may be required for complete removal of the stain.

Complete removal of the paint and varnish may be impossible because of penetration into the concrete. However, try using a paste-type paint remover to soften the paint and remove as much as possible.

SEALING GROUT BETWEEN MOSAIC TILE

Q: I have made several end tables and cocktail tables using mosaic tile for the tops. There is a white grouting compound between the tiles. I would like to seal the tops with some kind of sealer which will make the white grouting waterproof and stain-proof. The sealer should be as clear as possible, so as not to destroy the shine of the tiles. Can you suggest anything?

A: Yes: Use a sealer for marble and terrazzo, made by a nationally known wax manufacturer and available at some janitor supplies dealers. This sealer is practically colorless, is water-resistant and protects from water-borne stains.

Herter Says Trade Talks Complicated

Veto Against Britain Fails To Dim Hopes

BY STANLEY MEHLER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Christian A. Herter, special U.S. trade negotiator, said today he does not feel that the significance of his new job was shattered by the recent French veto of Britain's entry into the Common Market.

"In some respects the veto enhanced the importance of the trade expansion program," Herter said in an interview. "It certainly complicated the matter."

Just how much the matter has been complicated may become clear in the next two months when international trade experts meet in Geneva. The Geneva talks may determine whether Herter, armed with the Trade Expansion Act of 1962, can help batter down foreign tariffs and launch booming, new U.S. trade in the 1960s.

Bill Introduced
Some congressmen have introduced bills that would amend the Trade Expansion Act to get around the French veto. The amendments would allow Herter to negotiate for the complete elimination of tariffs when the United States, the Common Market, and Britain together account for 80 per cent of the world's trade.

"I've had some reservations on those amendments," Herter said. "If you open the whole trade expansion act up to amendments, God knows what will happen."

And, despite the French veto, Herter said, the program still gives him the power to negotiate with the Common Market and other countries to cut tariffs in half.

"But we don't know what the French attitude will be on these specific negotiations," he continued.

The Geneva meeting, he said, may unravel the French attitude. As he prepared to negotiate, Herter also faces pressures within the United States from groups seeking higher tariffs to protect American industries.

Herter said protectionist pressures have been growing greater as the Common Market has been increasing its own tariffs against American farm products.

Cites Example
As an example, he cited the case of frozen poultry. Common Market tariffs have almost eliminated the importation of U.S. frozen poultry. So American poultry farmers have demanded retaliatory action.

Under the Trade Expansion Act, the United States can combat what it considers an unreasonable foreign tariff by boosting an American tariff on goods coming from the offending country.

"Unless the tariff on frozen poultry is modified, we may have to take retaliatory action," Herter said.

"But it really doesn't help the poultry industry to take retaliatory action against some other product coming in to the United States."

Herter, who will be 60 in two weeks, can display a lifetime of laurels, as congressman, as governor of Massachusetts, as Secretary of state.

Now, as trade negotiator, he faces one of his most complicated and delicate tasks: Planning and negotiating tariff reductions amid uncertainty on whether Europe really wants them.

McNamara Rift With Congress Over Defense Spending, TFX Deepens

Former Ford Executive Has Won Every Major Clash With Solons

BY FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP)—To Congress, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara is looking less like a giant these days. And to McNamara, Congress is becoming more of a hairshirt. The congressional disenchantment, which started setting in a year ago, is growing deeper in the dispute between McNamara and Congress over defense spending.

State Veterans Unit Facing Cash Shortage

Propose to Sell Mortgages in Order To Save Program

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Recognizing the perilous cash position of the state treasury, the state department of veterans' affairs is preparing a plan to sell its veterans' housing mortgages as a means of continuing the state-financed veterans' housing program.

The plan was laid before the legislative finance committee by John Moses, director of the state veterans' administration, as he reported that the demand for state home loans is considerably greater than the department's present resources can supply.

Two Decades
The state for the last two decades has been lending up to $4,000 each on second mortgages to needy veterans who cannot borrow all of their housing needs from ordinary commercial credit sources.

Moses said his agency will be short at least $3,000,000 during the next two years, on the basis of the present trend in loan applications.

He said the need for state credits is especially felt in the more remote rural districts of the state, where there are comparatively few commercial lending agencies.

Drafting Bill
The official said the department is drafting a bill asking for such an appropriation from the state general fund, and an alternate bill authorizing the sale of its mortgages to the state investment board, which would be given a guarantee against losses through defaults.

The investment board handles more than half a billion dollars in reserves of state employee and state teacher pension accounts. There is a precedent in the sale of such mortgages by the veterans' department. Two years ago the legislature worked out a system for a liberalized state student loan program which permits the department of welfare to discount student notes to the investment commission for cash.

So far, McNamara has won every major clash—and probably not many smart betting men would wager against the powerful defense secretary in the current row over the TFX fighter plane.

But in the future, the onetime (Ford) motor company executive may have to work harder to get his proposals through Congress.

Military Views
McNamara is being called a know-it-all who is trying to become a single chief of staff by overriding professional military advice. Congressmen who so describe him are giving voice to views held by many uniformed officers.

In return, McNamara is accusing congressional critics — there are Republicans and Democrats among them — of disservice to the country in challenging the effectiveness of U.S. intelligence and irresponsibility in urging budget cuts while voting to increase defense spending.

Informed sources indicate McNamara has become increasingly annoyed by a combination of events.

One is the Senate investigation of award of a potential $6.5 billion TFX fighter contract to General Dynamics Corp. over the Boeing Co. McNamara has strongly implied the investigation is distorted and said it has "needlessly undermined public confidence in the integrity and judgment" of top Pentagon officials.

A second reported factor is the recent statement by House Republican leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana that the defense budget could be cut about $3 billion — some $1 billion per service — and conflicting action by another GOP leader, Rep. Leslie C. Arends of Illinois.

Called Dictator
On Tuesday, Arends accused McNamara of acting like a dictator and called the defense chief "I got all the answers McNamara."

McNamara teed off on Arends before the advertising council Wednesday, accusing him of supporting "irresponsible action in adding over $1 billion to the budget that is not needed" and of criticizing "the responsible official (McNamara) who took out the billion."

McNamara acknowledged that in a sense he acted as a dictator in chopping $14 billion from budget requests submitted by the services before the final $51 billion in defense money requests went to Capitol Hill.

Arends read about this and rushed to the House floor. He declared the House Armed Services Committee, where he sits as senior Republican, would choose the "considered judgment" of the Joint Chiefs of Staff over what he called "the arbitrary decisions" of McNamara.

Police Recover Stolen Porcelain Antiques

LONDON (AP) — Police announced Wednesday the recovery of most of a $200,000 haul of porcelain antiques taken on Jan. 27 at the Sussex estate of the late Nellie Ionides.

The recovered porcelains were found in a house in London. The police spokesman declined to give details and said nobody had so far been arrested.

Mrs. Ionides, an oil heiress and friend of the late Queen Mary, died last November at 79.

Joanne Dru Plans to Marry Contractor

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Actress Joanne Dru and contractor George Rodgers Pierce plan to wed Saturday.

Pierce, 40, and Miss Dru, 41, took out a marriage license Wednesday.

She was previously married to singer Dick Haymes and actor John Ireland. She has three children by her marriage to Haymes. Pierce has been married once.

Utah Law Repealed

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—The Utah House of Representatives passed a bill Wednesday to repeal Utah's law prohibiting marriages between whites and persons of dark-skinned races.

Previously approved by the Senate, the bill now goes to the governor. The House vote was 52-6.

Harvard Dinner Will Be at White House

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Harvard announced Wednesday night that the university overseers and the Harvard Corporation will hold their annual dinner May 13 at the White House.

John F. Kennedy, '40, issued the invitation for the Harvard groups to meet with him.

Robert F. Kennedy, and U.S. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass. There are many others from the Cambridge institution in the government.

Other Harvard alumni in Washington include U.S. Atty. Gen.

FCC Postpones Order for Hike in Line Rates

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission has indefinitely postponed its order authorizing rate increases for the private use of leased communications lines.

The increases had been authorized Jan. 20 after a seven-year study. And the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. and Western Union were ordered to arrange to put the higher rates into effect May 1.

However, the FCC said Wednesday the order would be stayed while it considers petitions for reconsideration.

Press interests, who opposed the AT&T and Western Union applications for higher rates, had sought the reconsideration.

The American Newspaper Publishers Association contends some users would pay up to 150 per cent more for private line service under the new rate schedule. The newspaper group noted that AT&T had estimated the increases would average about 19 per cent to press users and 2.1 per cent for commercial users, while charges to government users would be 7.8 per cent lower.

Experts Doubt Nikita, Mao Can Settle Their Bitter Fight

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev and Red Chinese leader Mao Tse-tung may yet succeed in silencing their public quarrel behind a facade of Communist unity, but U.S. experts are skeptical that any real agreement can be achieved.

It was announced Wednesday that Mao has invited Khrushchev

Authorities here who have followed the conflict through hundreds of thousands of words since it came into the open about three years ago find it hard to believe that Khrushchev can accept Mao's invitation to the Red Chinese capital any time in the near future without risking a serious loss of face.

Issues Involved
The issues involved in the dispute arise out of the contradictory national interests of the Soviet Union and Red China. They are so basic, no expert in the U.S. government sees any prospect that the differences can be resolved.

If the Red Chinese had given any indication that the way was open for a settlement and that they were prepared to accept Soviet leadership of the whole Communist bloc, Khrushchev could go to Peking expecting to score a triumph. If he goes on Mao's terms, experts here agree, his action will be construed in other Communist countries and in Communist parties over the world as a sign of weakness on his part, and evidence that the Soviet Union needs the Chinese—to return to the fold—more than the Chinese need the Soviet Union.

If that were indeed the impression created, Communist leaders sensitive to shifts in the power balance inside the Red camp might be inclined to pay more attention in the future to Peking's line and less to the Kremlin's.

Children Should Call on Dad To Clear Divorce Difficulties

BY ANN LANDERS
-DEAR ANN LANDERS: Two years ago Mom and Dad were divorced. Some kids get to choose the parent they want to live with, but nobody asked me. I'm 15, my brother is 16. Mom divorced Dad for another man who changed his mind about marrying her. Now she has another boy friend who is mostly out of work.
Dad gives Mom $550 a month, which is supposed to be support to us and we would like your advice.

money for my brother and me. She hasn't bought us one stitch of clothes since the divorce—only two pairs of shoes in two years. If I didn't earn some money sitting and if Dad and Grandma didn't send us Christmas and birthday money we'd be in rags. My brother is in worse shape than I am because he has grown a lot and nothing fits him.
We get $1 a week for milk money (we carry lunch) and that's it. Yesterday Mom bought her boy friend some new clothes and a second-hand car because he needs it for a job, she said.

vice.—Raggedy Ann and Andy
Dear Ann and Andy: Your Dad should be told immediately. Your mother is involved in a sordid mess and he is the one who should straighten it out.
DEAR ANN LANDERS: I suspect I am not the only physician who reads your column every day. I seldom disagree with you, but I did recently. Please reconsider your advice to "Horrid!" She wrote about a gossip nurse who had discussed her medical file with friends. You advised the patient to "Change doctors, and if the question is ever raised as to why, explain—leaving out all names, of course."

If the patient takes your advice, who suffers? First, the patient, because he risks less effective care which results from a loss in continuity of medical history. Second, the physician, because he loses a patient.
The real culprit—the gossip nurse—loses nothing.
I feel the nurse should be reported to the County Medical Society or the physician should be told directly.—Fort Worth M.D.
Dear Doctor: You are right. I was wrong. I accept two hard swats with an old ether mask.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I and another couple (also married about 10 years) went to a movie last night. This movie was for adults only. There were six teen-agers sitting in the row ahead of us. They looked about 16.
The movie was beautifully done but it was not for 16-year-old kids. What could have been a delightful evening for us was ruined by these kids giggling, punching each other and laughing in the wrong places.
Please tell me, Ann, why do teenagers laugh during the most tender and meaningful parts of a movie? I can't for the life of me figure it out. Our children will be teenagers in a few years and I would like to be able to understand this. Thanks for whatever help you can give.—Evanston
Dear Evanston: Laughter, particularly the giggly type, is the result of self-consciousness. When teen-agers are embarrassed, they often react with giggle. (P.S. Some adults do too.)

To learn how to keep your boy friend in line without losing him, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Necking and Petting—And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 30 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.
Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Retired Generals May Receive Pay Increase

WASHINGTON (AP)—Six of the nation's ranking retired military officers would get a healthy increase in their retirement pay under a measure recommended Tuesday by a House Armed Services subcommittee as part of a proposed $1.5-billion military pay increase.

Under the bill, the five-starred officers, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Gen. Omar Bradley and Adm. Chester Nimitz would get a raise from $30,543.36 a year to $34,186.56. Gen. Carl Spaatz, Adm. Raymond Spruance and Gen. A.A. Vandegrift, would be raised from $20,143.36 to $21,386.56.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower draws a $25,000 annual presidential pension but no military retirement pay. As a retired five-star general, however, he is entitled to all other benefits provided for retired officers.

Kaukauna Okays Outdoor Education Plan

Students Would Attend Three-Day Camping Session

KAUKAUNA — The board of education has approved an outdoor education program for sixth graders that includes a three-day camping session.

Students and teachers would turn to the outdoors, in an approved camp area, to study such skills as compass reading, surveying, measuring, woodland first aid, conservation and other topics.

Board members emphasized the outdoor education program was not an outing or recreational activity, but rather a serious learning experience endorsed by leading educators. It has been tried successfully and youngsters are given three days of intensive outdoor study.

Plans call for students to attend a camp in either spring or fall. The school board will finance the bus transportation and insurance, but cost-of meals and other camp accommodations will be absorbed by families of students.

Secure Property

A delegation from the Nicolet School Parent-Teacher Association appeared before the board and requested immediate action on acquisition of a school site on the south side to help alleviate overcrowded conditions at Nicolet.

Visitors said a similar request was made by the state board of education in 1957, but the board failed to take action. Pointing to work being carried out on the high school addition and other more immediate demands, board members said a request had been filed with the common council to investigate potential school sites, but it was impossible to meet all school demands in one step.

A. Buechner of the state department of public instruction, told the visitors Kaukauna was not unique in the state with overcrowding and indicated problems must be solved on an interim basis until permanent solutions to conditions can be found.

Board members said there will be a meeting with the common council to discuss acquisition of school sites and asked citizens to appear at the session to make feelings known.

Utility Tax

Julian Bichler, superintendent of schools, told the board the city system now is entitled to 50 per cent of utility taxes paid Kaukauna and other communities within the system, because of district consolidation.

Under state statute, when a school system is located partially in a county with less than 50,000 population, the school system becomes eligible for 50 per cent of utility taxes returned to municipalities, said Bichler. Kaukauna was not in this category before school consolidation. Letters have been sent various municipalities informing them of the change in procedure, he said.

Dissolve District

A letter was received from the Wrightstown School District stating that district was threatened with dissolution because three factions within the district had requested permission to join other systems. One group wants to join East DePere, another group hopes to join Brillion and the third seeks to join Kaukauna.

Board members refused to enter discussion on the request. The board said it was a problem which would have to be settled by the Wrightstown district without outside interference.

The superintendent was instructed to advertise for a head cook to handle the 1963-64 hot-lunch program. Hiring of Miss Frances Church as English teacher, Thomas Schaeffer as social studies teacher and Mrs. Oscar Kunz as study hall teacher was approved. Gerald Lampman was granted a one-year leave of absence to accept a National Foundation grant to study mathematics at Notre Dame University.

County Will Hire 3 Jailers

Salaries Raised $10 Per Month Effective April 1

Three new county jailers will be hired sometime before April 1 to bring the total to five. Jailers now on duty at the county jail will begin working a 44 hour week, the Outagamie County board has decided.

Jailer salaries were raised $10 per month and range from beginning salary of $295 to $345 per month. The raises will be effective April 1.

Establish Hours

The board also established 48-hour weeks for the county's two investigators Jack Frenz and Jack Zuelzke and for the Huber law officer, Louis Micheln. County patrolmen will put in a 49-hour week.

Supv. John Schreiter, Appleton Sixth, said the hours for investigators, the Huber law officer and patrolmen had been in effect for some time, but had never been put in writing. Schreiter said the purpose of the resolution stating the hours, was to make them a matter of record. Jailers, under the new resolution, will increase their work week by four hours.

Win Scout Trophy

Committee Votes To Buy Second Police Vehicle

KAUKAUNA — The purchasing committee of the common council will recommend acceptance of the low bid of Coffey Motors for a 1963 Galaxie 4-door station wagon police special to serve as a second police car and emergency vehicle.

Low bid of the five received was $2,350. High bid was $3,006.44.

The 8-cylinder vehicle will have power and power brakes. It is equipped with two spot lights and will be lettered on both front doors.

Future meetings are planned by the public protection and safety committee to decide what equipment will be included in the vehicle.

Latin Students Take National Examination

Thursday, March 14, 1963 Appleton Post-Crescent 89

Some 146 students from the girls' Latin classes and 37 boys from Robert Detloff's sophomore honors in the test and a Latin Latin classes will participate in trophy for Xavier.

Marie is head of the girls' Latin department. Last year four girls won high honors in the test and a Latin trophy for Xavier.

Wichmann's Low Prices on Speed Queen Washers and Dryers Will Truly S-t-r-e-t-c-h Your Hard-Earned Dollars!

Speed Queen Automatic Dryer

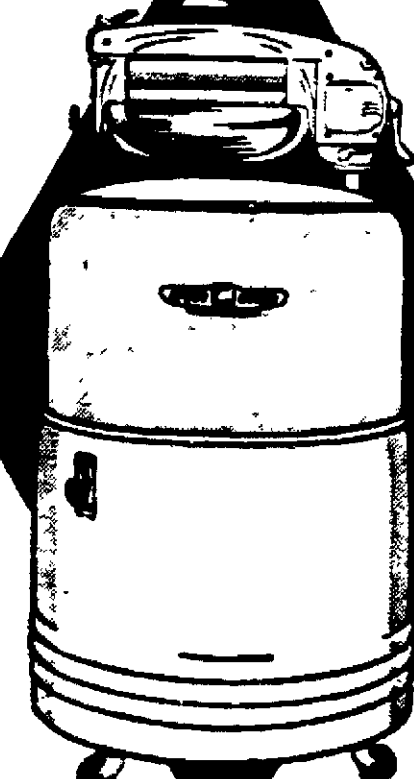

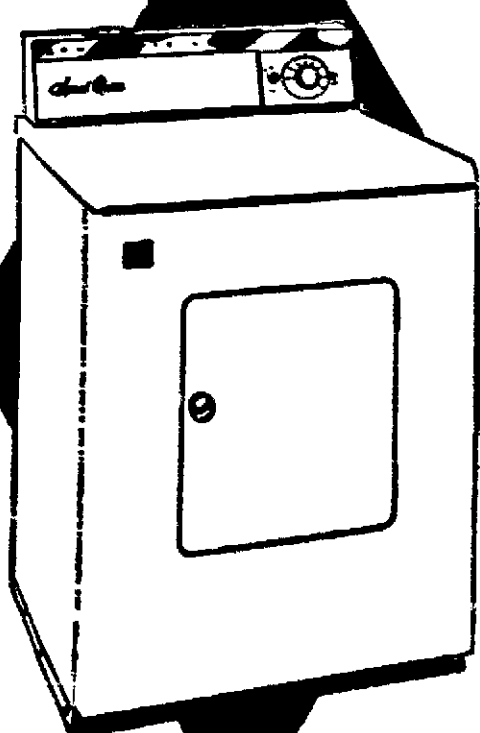

This efficient, dependable Speed Queen dryer is "climatized" . . . you just set the dial for the kind of "drying weather" you want inside the dryer, it does the rest. The selective heat control allows for safe drying of all types of fabrics, including wash 'n wear and can be operated without any heat. The IN-A-DOOR LINT TRAP is built right into the front door. Just pull the screen—wipe it—push it back—in a matter of seconds . . . no kneeling or stooping! The revolving drum is so smooth it won't snag even your finest lingerie, or finest nylons. If you have small children, you'll appreciate this safety feature . . . everything stops when the door is opened and the start button must be pushed to restart the drum after the door is closed. No more weather worries on washday with this budget-priced dryer!

Pick Hugh Devore Interim Coach of Irish '11' for 1963

Kuharich Resigns to Become Supervisor of NFL Officials

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Joe Kuharich's resignation as Notre Dame head football coach kicks off one of college football's all-time guessing games.

Devore

Kuharich's resignation was announced by the university Wednesday and at the same time what it means," said Devore. "I have no designs on the main job. After all, I've been coaching for 30 years. I'm here to help out and Kuharich suggested I take over. My job as freshman coach will not change. I want to see the university come out of this situation as well as possible.

Clay Wins Over Doug Jones by Thin Margin

Cassius' Balloon Punctured Before Sellout Crowd

BY MURRAY ROSE
NEW YORK (AP) — Even in victory the Cassius Clay balloon has been punctured. The self-proclaimed "greatest heavyweight" is just human after all.

There were no knockouts, no knockdowns, no "total annihilation," and brash Cassius was lucky to get a thin, lustily booed decision in 10 rounds over hard-working Doug Jones of New York at Madison Square Garden Wednesday night.

At times Clay looked like a novice both at long range and inside. His bombs didn't explode. And he had to rally furiously in the final two rounds to capture the unanimous verdict.

As for Sonny Liston, Clay is no more ready for him this year than Floyd Patterson was in the second minute of his title debacle last Sept. 25. Yet the undaunted Clay said he wanted that "big, ugly bear Liston within six months."

"Clay showed me that I'll get locked up for murder if we're ever matched," was the comment of Liston, who saw the closed circuit telecast in Miami Beach. Without Cassius to beat his eardrums, he'll be able to concentrate on his return bout with Patterson April 10.

Bright Future
But at 21, 6-foot-3, 202½ pounds and undefeated, the unsmuffed Louisville Lip still has a bright future ahead of him even if he has sworn off poetic predictions.

Matchmaker Teddy Brenner of the Garden wants to put Clay and Jones in Yankee Stadium this June and there was talk also of a lucrative international fight with Sweden's Ingemar Johansson, the former heavyweight champion.

There were cries of "fake" and "fix" by some of the pro-Jones fans in the capacity crowd of 18,732 seconds after the unanimous decision was announced. Varied objects were tossed into the ring by irate fans.

Judges Artie Aidala and Frank Forbes had the same 5-4-1 scores

Braves Lose, 3-1, Fail in Bid To Obtain Dodgers' Moon

Spahn Charged With 2 Runs In 4 Innings of Pitching

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Light hitting and leaky fielding — the things that last place clubs are made of — were the properties of the Milwaukee Braves as they continued to tinker with the lineup Wednesday and were defeated 3-1 by the Los Angeles Dodgers in an exhibition.

The Dodgers, getting all of their runs as the result of Milwaukee mistakes, are now 3-2 for the spring and the Braves 1-4 and last in the Grapefruit League.

The Braves also announced that their Moon shot had failed. John McHale, Milwaukee's president and general manager, said he had discussed a deal for outfielder Wally Moon with the Dodgers but had been turned down.

McHale said the Dodgers are going to keep Moon "and get rid of Duke Snider. A deal is just about closed which will send Snider to the New York Mets."

Goes 4 Innings
Warren Spahn started for the Braves, going four innings in which he gave up four of the five Los Angeles hits and was charged with two of their runs.

Frank Howard opened the second with a single but was caught off first by Spahn's toss to Norm Larker. As Howard legged it for second, he was hit in the back by Larker's peg and pulled in safe. Howard scored on a single by Willie Davis, who stole second and scored on Doug Camilli's double.

Snider singled off Tony Cloninger in the seventh. Moon then bounced to Cloninger but his wide throw to second prevented a double play. Snider reached home safely as Tommie Aaron fielded Davis' grounder but threw high to Cloninger covering first.

Bob Hendley and Dan Schneider finished up on the mound for the Braves, hurling a hitless inning each.

Dodger starter Don Drysdale retired the first nine Braves to run his spring string to 18 before walking Mack Jones to open the fourth. Drysdale's late throw to second after picking up Ted Kazanski's roller and Willie Davis' error on Larker's short fly, filled the bases. Lee Maye singled Jones home and Kazanski was out at the plate when he failed to slide.

The Braves filled the bases on a pair of walks by Johnny Podres and an error in the fifth but failed to score. They got two on in the sixth, but again failed to get a run. Ed Roebuck, the third and last Dodger hurler, struck out the side in the ninth.

The Braves also made their first cut, sending six players to the minors. Outfielder Ethan Blackaby and infielders Walt Hrinjak and Santos Alomar were dispatched to Denver in the Pacific Coast League, outfielder Lou Jackson to Toronto of the International League and outfielders Adrian Garrett and Glenn Clark to the minor league camp at Waycross, Ga., for reassignment.

Clintonville Becomes First Team to Fly To State Tournament

MADISON (AP) — Clintonville, one of the entrants in the state high school basketball tourney opening in Madison, today, became the first team in tournament history to fly to the meet.

The city's chamber of commerce arranged for a plane from Clintonville to Milwaukee and another for the Milwaukee to Madison leg. The team arrived Wednesday 30 minutes before its practice time in the fieldhouse.

Bill Dickey Will Help Coach Mets

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Bill Dickey, former New York Yankees catcher, will come out of retirement briefly from his Little Rock, Ark., home to assist in coaching the New York Mets Manager Casey Stengel, and George Weiss, Mets president, said Dickey would arrive here Friday and help in coaching for about 10 days.

Dan Markowski Homers as Giants Defeat Cubs, 3-2

BY MIKE RATHET
Early Wynn has one foot inside baseball's record books. He may be too old to lift the other.

The 43-year-old right-hander, one victory shy of becoming the 14th major league pitcher to win 300 games, is trying to stick with the Chicago White Sox in a final bid to join the select circle. Philadelphia's Phillies gave him a shove toward the old peoples' home Wednesday.

Working without a contract and needing some impressive performances to get White Sox brass to draw one up, Wynn was shelled for two triples, a double, a single and Wes Covington's homer in the first inning of the exhibition game against the Phillies at Sarasota, Fla.

That was it for Wynn. The White Sox managed to turn the tables in the third inning and belted Phil's ace Art Mahaffey and reliever Billy Smith for eight runs and a 10-7 victory. Catcher J. C. Martin had two hits in the inning, a two-run homer off Mahaffey and a double of Smith.

A Tough Day
It was a tough day for pitchers. Cleveland 20-game winner Dick Donovan was shelled for seven straight hits and four runs in a 6-5 loss to Houston at Tucson, Ariz., and New York Yankee hopeful Stan Williams was tagged hard as the world champions lost to

14-Hit Attack
The A's unleashed a 14-hit attack, with newly acquired Chuck Essegian collecting two singles and two runs batted in, to beat the Senators. Consecutive homers by Will Stargell and Howie Goss highlighted a five-run first inning

Erie Man Blasts 703 in ABC Test

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Except for Jimmy Moyer's performance, things were quiet in the American Bowling Congress Tournament Wednesday.

Moyer, 38, an unemployed foundry worker, moved into a seventh-place tie in the regular singles when he fired a 703 series. It was his best showing in seven ABC tournaments.

The bowler from Erie, Pa., put together games of 224, 243 and 236 for his total. The division is led by John Snowdell of St. Louis with 727.

U. S. Rink Takes World Curling Tourney Lead

PERTH, Scotland (AP) — The United States shot into the lead in the Scotch Cup curling tournament Wednesday, winning its opening games against Canada and Scotland.

Canada and Scotland finished the first day with one victory each. Sweden suffered two defeats.

In the morning, the United States defeated Canada 7-6 and Scotland defeated Sweden 15-4. Later Canada, which has won the trophy four years running, crushed Sweden 2-4. The United States downed Scotland 9-7.

Each team plays its rivals twice in a round-robin tournament. The event is scheduled to end Friday.

The American team — Mike Szyziuk, Nels Brown, Ernie Skrzyziuk and Wally Hibbick, all of Detroit — won the two most exciting matches of the opening day.

The Americans just edged out the famed Canadians, winning the last two ends after trailing 3-4.

The Detroit quartet trailed 1-3 against Scotland. But the Scots missed two vital chances and the Americans pulled up to 3-3, then went on to lead 7-4.

Indiana Sets Free Throw Accuracy Mark

CHICAGO (AP) — Indiana's Hoosiers, finishing third in the Big Ten after forcing Ohio State into a title tie with Illinois, topped the conference in two team statistical categories.

Indiana set a record in free throw accuracy, hitting on 328 of 429 foul shots for a .764 percentage. Illinois was second with .749 which also erased the previous mark of .744 by Ohio State last year.

Indiana also led the league in offense with a 90.4 average and Illinois was second with 87.2.

Minnesota was the defensive giant, allowing the opposition 70.9 points per game while Illinois was high in field goal average with a .453 percentage.

Michigan led the league in rebounding with a 53.6 percentage as the Wolverines grabbed 680 rebounds and Wisconsin committed the least personal fouls, averaging 16.7 per game.

Attendance for conference games reached a new high with 897,625 witnessing the 70 league games. This was an average of 8,538 per game or a 6.95 per cent increase over the 1962 total of 838,807 for 70 games.

Lombardi Puts Packer Cage Squad on Bench for Season

STURGEON BAY — Coach Vince Lombardi has benched the Packer basketball team for the season.

Norb Hecker, coach of the Packer cagers, informed Chan Harris, editor of the Door County Advocate, that Lombardi has forced the team to cancel its remaining games after its game in Sturgeon Bay last Sunday.

Hecker apologized to Harris and Sturgeon Bay for "the behavior of some members of our team." He was obviously referring to Fred Thurston and Boyd Dowler who were responsible for the two principal incidents.

Thurston once shoved a Sturgeon Bay player to the floor and Dowler whistled the ball out of bounds when he disagreed with a referee's decision, the ball bouncing off the ref's shoulder.

However, Hecker said in the letter that this was the first rough game the Packers played and he said he thought Sturgeon Bay had something to do with it, that the Sturgeon Bay coach kept telling his players "to run us into the ground."

"As you know these fellows are highly competitive and don't like to lose," Hecker wrote.

Four of Loyola's starting five are Negroes.

Chancery Court Judge L. B. Porter of Union granted the temporary injunction at the request of State Sen. Billy Mitts, an outspoken foe of Mississippi State's hopes of repealing the "unwritten law" prohibiting athletic competition with Negroes.

E. W. Lawson joined Mitts in seeking the injunction. Both are from Enterprise, a town in southwest Mississippi.

Three times in the previous four years the Maroons won the right to represent the Southeastern Conference in the national tournament — but bowed to the "unwritten law" and pulled out, letting the SEC's No. 2 team represent the conference.

But this year, Dr. D. W. Colvard, president of Mississippi State, decided to shake off tradition and send the team to the tournament. He added a condition — "unless hindered by competent authority."

Gov. Ross Barnett and several legislators spoke up against it. Nevertheless, the State College Board gave its approval. The board is the governing body for all of Mississippi's institutions of higher learning.

Porter's injunction said the board's decision to permit Mississippi State's participation "is contrary to the public policy of the citizens in this state and the majority of the citizens of this state do not uphold the board."

Actor Leaves Hit for Season in Midwest

'Hamlet' to Open Guthrie Season;
Milwaukee to Have Tent Musicals

BY JINGO
What would you do if you were an actor playing the lead in one of the most exciting and successful dramas to hit Broadway in many a day? The answer seems simple: Ride out the hit to the bitter end and make yourself a pile of dough and all of the success possible.

That might be Jingo's and your answer, but it wasn't George Grizzard's, one of the finest actors in America today. George was playing the lead in "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolfe?" to rave notices and expectations of a long, long run: last week he gave up Broadway for a 20-week summer season in the Midwest.

Monday he started rehearsals of "Hamlet" with Sir Tyrone Guthrie. The show and the season in Minneapolis opens May 7 with Jessica Tandy proof reader: this part is cut off automatic.

Those of us who might find Minneapolis a far stretch to visit can get something of a vicarious thrill by going to the Bergstrom Art Center to see a model of the new Guthrie Theater and imagine the Cronyns and Grizzard and Rita Gam trodding the boards.

The second half of the Guthrie season starts with Miss Tandy and Miss Gam in the "Three Sisters" on June 18 and the Cronyns starring in "Death of a Salesman" on July 16. The four shows will alternate dates the rest of the season.

Melody Tent Theatre
Milwaukee had a chance to be the summer home of Guthrie and company. The Cream City passed up Guthrie and his new, modern theater, but it will have additional professional theater in town this summer.

Despite a record short of exceptional, another tent show is headed for town. This try is called the Milwaukee Melody Tent with Bill Rach as producer. It's a Chicago outfit operating as Mid-America's Top Musical Tent Theaters with a Comiskey and a Vaughn sharing producing tasks with Rach.

If stars mean anything the tent to go up at Good Hope Road and W. 72nd Street should find the way a bit smoother than usual.

"Guys and Dolls" June 18

The season opens June 18 with everyone's favorites, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon MacRae, in the sure-fire attraction of "Guys and Dolls." Robert "Mr. TV Himself" Cummings follows with the Oscar nominee "Music Man." Jaye P. Morgan will enact "The Unsinkable Molly Brown."

Earl Wrightson and Lois Hunt team up for "Vagabond Kind." The tremendous "Bye Bye Birdie" will be headed by Van Johnson and Dennis Day. Milwaukee's own

Four Candidates Seeks 3 Trustee Seats in Village

LITTLE CHUTE — Four candidates are circulating nomination papers for the three village board posts to be filled at the April election, according to Mrs. Loretta Versteegen, clerk-treasurer.

Incumbents taking out papers are Jack Lamers, Richard Ebben and Jack Metz. Newcomer to the field is Patrick Blohm. Nick Vander Pas is circulating papers without opposition for re-election as assessor and Paul Kostka, village president, is being opposed for president and county supervisor by Paul Hietpas.

Narrator Stars in NBC Special

BY TV 800UT
6:34-7:34 (Channel 4-3) — California . . . The Most may not make you want to move there, but it could make a star out of Edwin Newman. If that's a non-sequitur, so is the state this program visits. At least, it is in this highly amusing and informative hour, Newman really shows his witty side as he gives you a glimpse of California odds and ends — its odd sects and weddings, its old people, its agriculture, its education, its Hollywood. (Color).

7:34-8:38 (Channel 4-3)—Dr. Kildare wastes its hour on a dreadful story which tries to combine The Beverly Hillbillies and Going My Way, with a dash of Dr. Kildare. We're concerned with a mountain girl (Collin Wilcox) who is living in the city with her two children. And, in between drinking and flirting, she manages to spend some time beating the kids. Despite her very unsavory nature, a nearby nun (Fay Bainter) tries to help her and Kildare (Richard Chamberlain) gets into the act, too.

8:38-9:38 (Channel 11) — My Three Sons has some fun with household pets. Although Chip (Stanley Livingston) is not allowed to bring home a puppy, Robbie (Don Grady) acquires a piglet. It's part of a project to make money, but pig food costs money, too.

8-9 (Channel 2) — There's good science fiction on The Twilight Zone, which considers what happens when an astronaut disappears for six hours. Steve Forrest is the astronaut in question. After a few orbits, the ground stations lose contact with him. Then he lands, in a surprising fashion, and finds everything about him the same, except for a few minor but irritating differences.

8:30-9 (Channel 11) — Good fun on McHale's Navy again, with the problem being a single Japanese plane which drops one bomb a day. The attacks are more irritating than dangerous, but McHale's men are assigned to find the landing strip and destroy it.

9-10 (Channel 11) — For perhaps the second or third time in television history, a television program outbid the movie studios for the rights to a novel. And so you'll see "Jeany Ray" on Premiere. It's a near-tragic tale of a spastic child in a rural community.

9-10 (Channel 2) — The Nurses has a depressing hour, especially if you're old and alone. Peggy Wood, working without make-up, is old and alone — a nurse who is now too old to work. After some mishaps, she is forced into retirement. But her mind cannot accept the idea of uselessness, and it begins to snap.

10:20-12 (Channel 4-3) — Tonight's guests are William Saroyan, Bobby Cole and Dr. Joyce Brothers. (Color)

'Silent Spring' Subject of CBS Program April 3

NEW YORK (AP) — "CBS Reports" will devote its April 3 program to the controversial book, "Silent Spring," by Rachel Carson, and the use of chemical insecticides.

ABC will inaugurate a series of five - minute fashion shows on March 26 with Suzy Parker modeling the clothes. The six programs will be seen on Thursdays 11:58 a.m. to 12 noon.

"You Don't Say," the live word game that replaces "Young Dr. Malone" on NBC April 1, is produced by Lucille Ball's company and has had a test and shake-down period on a Los Angeles station. Which recalls that NBC is describing CBS' next year's evening schedule as "fun and games" while it grandly calls its own "drama and diversity."

Young Hobby Club Design One of Your Own Solar System Insignias

BY CAPPY DICK

How about designing an insignia of your own to indicate your interest in outer space and the solar system? It's fun to do. If you have an astronaut club each member can make an insignia for himself.

A suggested design is today's fun-project. When completed, it is an insignia in the form of a shield representing the sun and the nine planets and you can pin of blue construction paper to represent the nine planets and glue these all around the sun.

With red crayon, color the lower end of the yellow area and print "No. 1" in that area, using black ink. This shield should be given to the No. 1 member of your "solartary" group. The next member should have a shield bearing "No. 2," and so on.

it to your sweater or jacket or wear it on your shirt as a shoulder patch. Using this design as an example, you can form an insignia of your own design.

Let's call it a "solartary" insignia. From thin cardboard cut a shield (Figure 1) two inches wide and two and an eighth inches high. Cover it with aluminum foil, shiny side out. Attach a small safety pin to the back with several staples as in Figure 2.

From yellow construction paper cut a shield an eighth inch smaller all around than the cardboard shield, leaving an eighth inch stick this yellow piece on the foil shield, leaving an eighth inch border around it.

Finally, cut out nine little discs

Minding Your Business
By Cyrus Barrett, Jr.

IMPORTANT FACTOR IN FAILURES IS POOR ANALYSIS OF POTENTIAL

Dear Cy:

We both work and would like to own our own retail shop. My wife once worked in a dress shop, but we would like to get into a men's apparel specialty shop if it had a good potential. How can we find an area with above average retail sales opportunities? Once we find the area, we'll decide on the type of store.

GEORGE WILMS

DEAR GEORGE:

You don't have to be an accountant to determine the retail sales opportunities in any area. Anyone who can add numerical doodles is eligible. To peer over the horizon and see what total retail sales will do in any area, the University of Virginia's measurement system will give you a good reading. It works this way. Determine the percentage of that state's income and retail sales, in relation to the other 49 states. Then obtain similar figures for the area which interests you in relation to the state. By dividing the two figures, up will pop the "area potential ration." If it's less than 100, you've discovered opportunity. If over 100 — watch out! For full details and a report of how this worked in Virginia, write the university in Charlottesville. Address your request to the Bureau of Research, and don't forget to enclose $2.00. As you are aware, this formula doesn't mean certain businesses might not be sardine packed. You'll have to investigate locations, using sight, touch, sound, and every sense you can muster. According to a Small Business Administration research report, "Many factors go into business failures, but none is more important than failure to assess the prospects for success before embarking on a new venture."

Dear Cy:

Until last night, we lived a quiet, relaxed home life. No money, you understand, but a serene existence. My wife took one glance at your story on how a second Dr. Malone, Jerry's adopted son, David.

Neither Jerry Malone nor his wife, Tracy, are involved in anything spectacular at the moment —except their daughter's murder trial, of course. Dr. David's wife disappeared a spell back and is believed to have drowned.

The writer, Richard Holland, didn't make the drowning absolutely positive, because there was some thought that maybe some time later the missing wife might return to start a new story line. Now they'll just leave her among the missing.

Hope for Comeback

"We hope that the show will come back some time, so we're not going to make things too final," said Mrs. Quinlan. "The Malones have been sort of separated lately. We're just going to bring them back together."

Mrs. Quinlan says that the end of the show will mean a "real wrench."

"After four years, working with one group, it gets to be an important part of your life," she said. "We've had a great deal of mail about the program—after all, audiences get to know the characters and some are very involved with the people."

The venerable serial's place, another victim of poor ratings, will be taken by a game show, "You Don't Say."

a woman, out of college a few years, can become a salaried librarian. Now, she wants to go to library school for the necessary year. Since she admits to 37 years of age, she qualifies. Where can additional information be obtained?

GEORGE VANDENBERG

DEAR GEORGE:

Your wife will find the class packed with women in her age bracket and will enjoy her new endeavors. Write: American Library association, 50 East Huron, Chicago 11, Illinois, and Special Libraries Association, 31 East 10th Street, New York City 3, New York.

DEAR CY:

Enclosed is a photo of me, a 46-year-old man who hit bottom but didn't bounce. After a lifetime at one job, I got fired, so another man could replace me at less money. What do you suggest for a person who is 48 and who got tossed out of the only job he had? At least my wife is loyal to me.

FLOORED

DEAR FLOORED:

You're in a pretty good shape. You have the two most important people on your side ... your wife and you. Losses are only completely devastating when a man fails to profit from a loss. Successes are based on a foundation

Drainage Law
Topic of State
Officials' Talks

Conservationists
Oppose Bill Citing Wildlife Dangers

BY DAVE OTTO
Post-Crescent News Service
A proposed bill that would revise and consolidate state drainage laws will be the subject of a joint assembly-senate hearing at Madison today.

The bill, result of four years of work by the water resources committee of the legislative council, has the backing of drainage engineers, highway officials and certain agriculture groups. It is strongly opposed by state and private conservation groups.

The purpose of the bill is to untangle the outdated laws which presently allow for the drainage and reclamation of marsh areas for agricultural and commercial purposes. Under these statutes, a wide variety of drainage projects are being carried on by public and private organizations with little or no coordination or control.

Create Districts
The newly-drafted 108-page bill would create drainage districts governed by drainage boards and subject to county court controls.
These districts would be able to apply for federal monies for drainage projects and would, with the blessings of the court, have powers of condemnation to build drainage ditches across both public and private lands.

The Wisconsin Conservation Department and private groups, such as the Wisconsin Division of The Izaak Walton League, fear the bill does not go far enough in protecting wildlife habitat in relation to drainage.

Amendments Ignored
Private conservation groups opposing the bill as it presently stands fear WCD requested amendments were ignored because of pressure from the so-called "muck farm" interests who raise truck crops on the rich black soil of recently drained swamp and marsh areas.

The conservation interests feel the wildlife value of the wetlands areas are more important than any future agricultural or commercial value.
A possible dilemma was pointed up by L. P. O'Vigt, state WCD chief, who noted the legislature has ordered purchase of millions of dollars of wetlands under the outdoor recreation act. If the revised drainage law is passed in its present form, it will allow drainage districts to construct ditches and destroy the very wetlands the state has worked to acquire.
The joint committee recognizes efforts of the legislative council to revise the antiquated drainage statutes as a good thing, and it poses its passage.

Rev. and Mrs. Geeding Nazarene Church Plans Series of Revival Services

The Rev. and Mrs. W. W. Geeding of Bushnell, Ill., will conduct a series of revival services at the Church of the Nazarene, 1700 N. Graceland Ave., today through March 24. The services will be at 7:30 p.m. each evening.

The Rev. and Mrs. Geeding are ordained evangelists in the Church of the Nazarene. The Rev. Mr. Geeding was a pastor for 19 years, and will assist the pastor in carrying on the Gospel program.

Both will assist in the musical part of the services. Mrs. Geeding plays the piano and piano accordion and sings. The Rev. Mr. Geeding is a chalk artist and will present hymn illustrations throughout the revival services.

The Geedings have toured the North American Indian District of the church and will devote one service during the revival period to the cause of the missions, emphasizing the cause of world evangelism.

Antarctic Peak Bears Name of Kaukauna Man

KAUKAUNA — Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. Lyle A. McGinnis, 423 W. Eighth St., from the National Science Foundation, Washington, D.C., an Antarctic land peak has been named after their son, Lyle D. McGinnis.

The geographical feature located at 84 degrees 32 minutes south latitude and 178 degrees west longitude was named after McGinnis as he was an assistant seismologist with an International Geophysical Year expedition which visited Antarctica in 1957. McGinnis spent 18 months in the area.

The name was approved by the U. S. Board of Geographical Names. He was a 1949 graduate of Kaukauna High School and after serving a year in the navy graduated from St. Norbert College in 1954. He received a masters degree in geophysics from the University of Missouri, St. Louis.

He currently is employed by the Illinois State Geological Survey and is studying for his doctorate at the University of Illinois. He is married and the father of two children.

Report Erred On Firm Fire

A minor fire at the Juvenile Furniture Co., 828 S. Lawe St., March 7 was confined to sawdust stored in a metal bin and firemen suggested the firm replace a wooden deflector within the bin with a metal deflector.

The Post-Crescent was in error when it quoted the official fire department report which suggested the firm "tear out old wooden bin and told them to put in metal bins." The report should have said "deflector" instead of "bin," according to Fire Chief Roland Kuehn.

State Health Office Asks for More Money

Funds Needed to Beef Up Supervision, Regulation of Hundreds of Nursing Homes

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON—The state department of health has appealed to the legislature for money to beef up its supervision and regulation of hundreds of private Wisconsin nursing homes that are admitting more of the state's elderly persons each year.

Dr. Carl N. Neupert, state health officer, made the appeal as he described the agency's budget request for the next two years, which included a proposal for the employment of 21 new persons. The agency now has 347 persons on its payroll, including many working under federal money grants which have increased in size and numbers in recent times.

500 Nursing Homes
There are now more than 500 nursing homes in the state, currently enrolling more than 16,000 aged residents. The median age of persons applying for admission to such homes is about 80 years. The county and other public homes for the aged are under the supervision of the state department of public welfare.

About half of the private homes do not have either a professional nurse or a trained practical nurse, the health official said, which means that his agency which licenses such institutions under the law must inspect and police them regularly, and train their employees in the proper care of the elderly.

"There is tender, loving care for the most part, but..." said Dr. Neupert, as his voice trailed off.

Later he said there have been cases where nursing home proprietors prefer to feed their elderly residents in bed, because it is easier for them, although it is damaging to the health and welfare of the aged person.

His department is also falling behind in its legal responsibility to inspect local general hospitals, and the small town and rural hospitals especially need regular inspection visits from the state specialists, he admonished.

The need for close state control of the local nursing homes, he warned, will become greater rather than less in the future because there is little reason to hope for an improvement in the supply of nurses who could work in such facilities.

ADA Members Asked To Help Canned Milk Program of UW

EAU CLAIRE (AP)—Wisconsin members of the American Dairy Association have been asked to join the State Department of Agriculture in promoting and marketing sterile whole milk canned under a process developed by the University of Wisconsin.

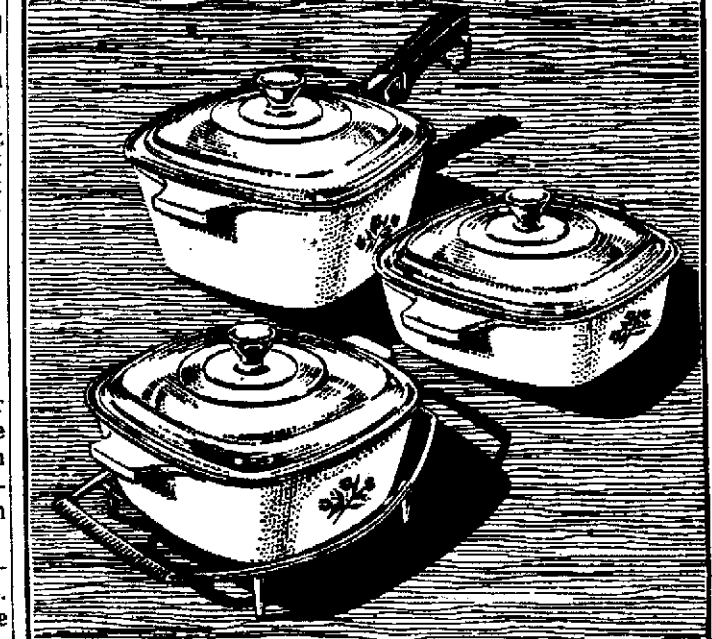

The association's annual convention also was asked Wednesday to put $15,000 into the project. The request was made as the delegates approved a resolution opposing compulsory milk check deductions for advertising. Presently the ADA has a voluntary two cents per hundred checkoff for advertising.

The state association's council will meet at Madison April 14 to act on the request to join in promoting the canned milk.

2 Areas in State Said to Be Depressed

Lawmaker Says Only
West Virginia Is
Worse Off in U. S.

MADISON —(AP)— Merchants are "hanging by their thumbs" in Bayfield and Ashland counties, described at a legislative hearing Wednesday as "the most depressed area in the 50 states, outside of West Virginia."

Assemblyman Robert Barabe, D-Mellen, made the evaluation as he spoke at an Assembly committee hearing in support of a bill that would end state restrictions on smelt fishing.

He said the fish are of no commercial value except as an attraction to out-of-state visitors and making them less expensive to catch could help the lagging tourist industry. Barabe said the present $5 license is keeping tourists away from the Lake Superior area.

Sen. Frank Christopherson, D-Superior, who has offered a companion measure in the Senate, also appeared in support of the proposal.

Kaminski Against Bill

It was opposed by Emil Kaminski of the State Conservation Department.

He told the Conservation Committee that lifting of the license fee would deprive the department of control over smelt fishing, making it "a no-man's land." He also said it would not mean the end of fees for Wisconsin residents fishing for smelt in other states.

The committee also heard arguments on a plan to amend the condemnation procedure of the Conservation Department by allowing a petitioner to go directly to circuit court with an appeal.

The change was backed by Stanley Perry, former head of the legal department of Milwaukee County, but opposed by James Hill of Baraboo, counsel for the Lake Delton Development Corp.

"I feel that anything that protects the little fellow against the inroads of the bureau of Wisconsin should be kept on the books," Hill said.

A recommendation that the state withdraw its financial support of the Wisconsin Agriculture Department's work to control Dutch elm disease was forwarded Wednesday by a subcommittee of the Joint Finance Committee.

The recommendation was offered as a means of cutting the department's two-year budget request of $7,330,145, or $880,673 more than the budget for the current biennium. In addition the subcommittee also proposed the junking of programs to control barberry rust and white pine diseases. The department spent $125,000 on the programs in the last two years and has asked $151,000 for them in the next two-year period.

Peking, Moscow Will Attempt to End Differences

TOKYO (AP)—Red China has agreed to meet a Soviet delegation to thrash out ideological differences splitting the two nations and has called a truce in the war of words between Peking and Moscow.

But the Chinese insisted their hard line against the West still is the correct Communist policy. They also stood by demands that the Kremlin drop talk of peaceful coexistence, abandon its championship of the Yugoslav Communists and make up with Albania.

Replying to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's proposal for a reconciliation meeting of Soviet and Chinese leaders, the Chinese Communist party and Chairman Mao Tse-tung in a letter made public Wednesday invited Khrushchev to stop in Peking during a trip he is expected to make to Cambodia this spring.

Law Professor Wants Insanity Rule Changed

LOS ANGELES (AP)— A law professor told the National District Attorney's Association that the "McNaghten Rule," now used to determine criminal insanity, should be modified.

Prof. Arthur M. Sherry of the University of California law school spoke at the group's convention Wednesday.

"If a defendant is so mentally disordered that he is unable to control his conduct, he is not responsible for his actions—regardless whether he knows right or wrong."

The McNaghten Rule provides that a person is sane if he knows his act is considered to be wrong. "Too many offenders who are judged sane, tried, convicted and imprisoned are later unleashed on society to commit some other, perhaps more serious crime," Sherry said.

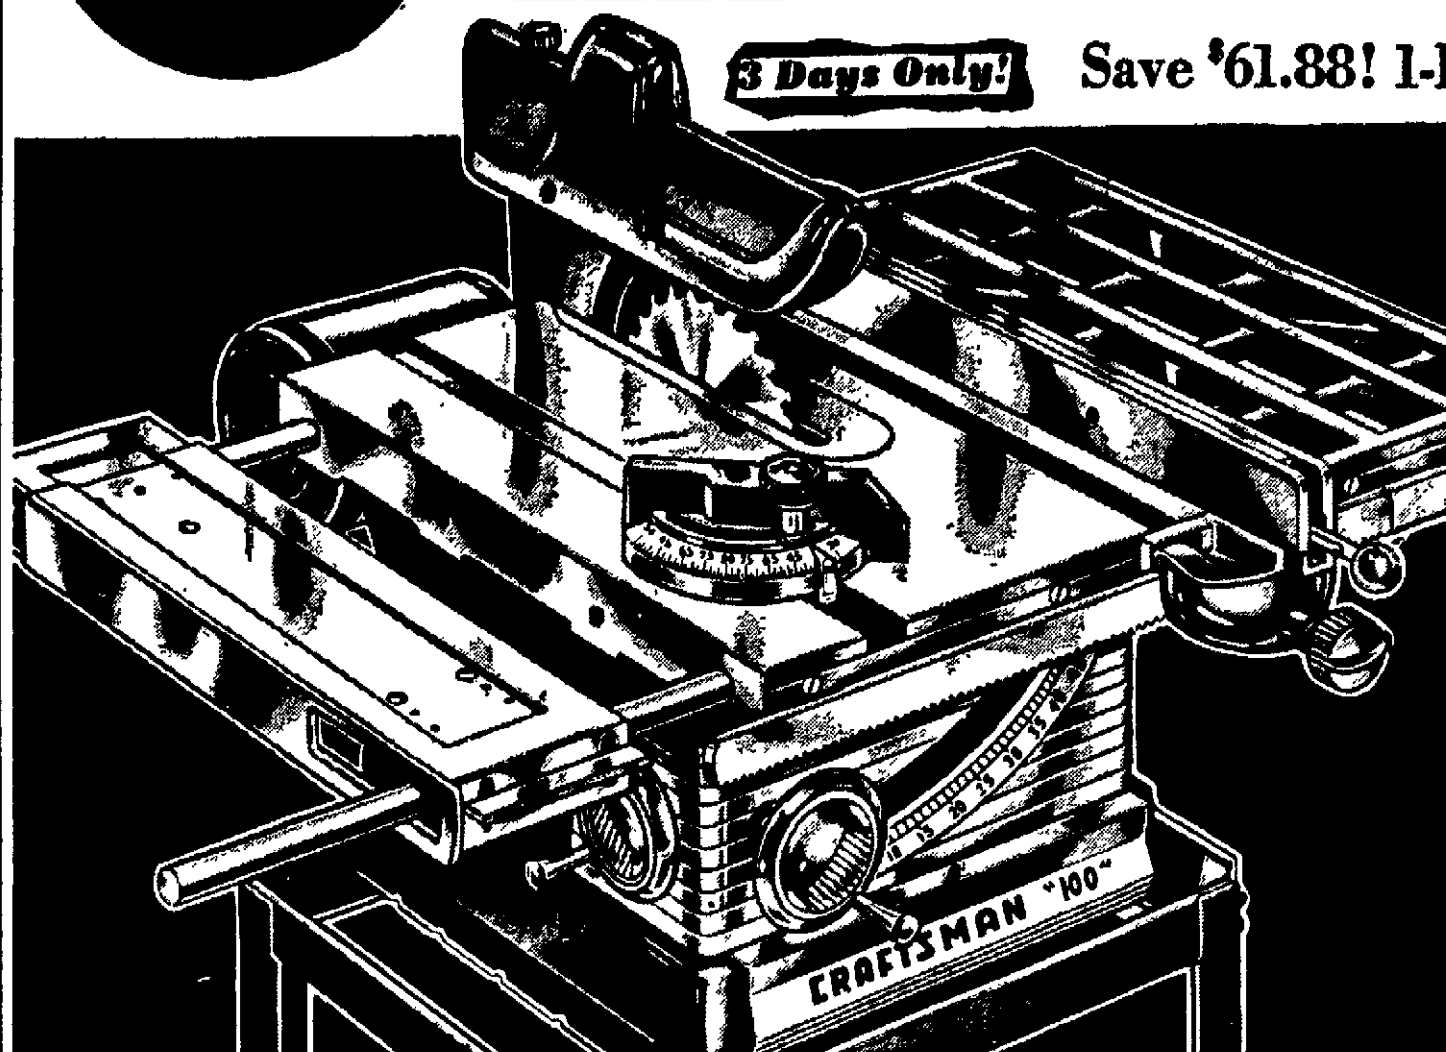

Defendants acquitted because of mental disorders should be committed to the department of corrections for custody, instead of being released, Sherry said.

"We all like Mrs. Grass Soup BETTER..."

... except Billy, he's a wild one!"

ABOUT 1,000 kids tasted Mrs. Grass noodle soup and another famous brand. 3 out of 4 preferred Mrs. Grass. Number 4 probably hated soup anyway.

THE "ALL-AMERICAN" KID DOES FOR MRS. GRASS SOUP BECAUSE:

- It tastes home-made — mild, pleasing seasoning.
- It has more flavor — because it has the exclusive Golden Nugget, with its sautéed-in chicken-y flavor.
- It has more noodles — 50% more.
- AND it's so economical — 25% more soup than other mixes.

Why not let Mrs. Grass make the soup in your house?

LITTLE CHUTE — Members of the American Legion Monday night named Gordon Hammen chairman of a nominating committee to select a slate of officers.

He will be assisted by Carl Hammen, Frank Hermen Sr., Leon Bongers, Paul Casey, Ray Chartier and Leo Hendricks. Approval was given to sending two boys to Badger Boys State with the Legion to assume the cost and furnish spending money for each.

An appropriation of $25 was made to have the color guard of the Drum and Bugle Corps attend a Madison session for training and experience for drill teams. Donations of $5 were approved for the Red Cross, Cancer Fund and Easter Seal campaign.

the presentation as did Eldred Bergner, ninth district commander. Named delegates to the county council dinner to be held at Appleton were Donald Reetz, Carl Hammen, Clarence Vanden Heuvel, Martin Jansen, Lambert Coenen and Lester Winus. Plans for the birthday party to be held at 8 p.m. Sunday at the Combined Locks pavilion were completed.

Social Worker Term Extended

Appleton School Employee Will be Retained 6 Weeks

The proposed extension of the contract of the school social worker for six weeks during the summer of 1963 raised a discussion on the place of a social work program in the schools, during the Appleton Board of Education meeting. The extension was approved.

Board member Victor Sumnicht asked if this extension meant the program is being projected to a full-year program, and questioned the validity of this.

Superintendent of Schools Royce E. Kurtz said that the problems related to school can carry into the summer, and that summer school also is in session. He said only one staff member from the Child Service Center works in the summer.

"Welfare Program"

"You can get into a welfare program here," Sumnicht said. "It is a matter of the basic philosophy of the social service department — whether the school system should be a mother hen for social problems or should be concerned with excellence in education."

The social service department works with these students because their academic work is being hampered by some problem that cannot be handled by the classroom teacher, Mrs. George C. Munro, board president said. Kurtz also said the department works with problems related to the school program.

Sumnicht asked if the Community Guidance Center should not be called in on continuous problems.

Kurtz answered that the school department does work cooperatively with the community agency.

Receive Citation

A citation of commendation was presented the post by Paul Kostka, village president. The citation honors the Legion for contributions toward betterment and progress of the village and praises the Post for setting an example of good citizenship to others in the community.

Kostka spoke briefly following the presentation as did Eldred Bergner, ninth district commander. Named delegates to the county council dinner to be held at Appleton were Donald Reetz, Carl Hammen, Clarence Vanden Heuvel, Martin Jansen, Lambert Coenen and Lester Winus. Plans for the birthday party to be held at 8 p.m. Sunday at the Combined Locks pavilion were completed.

Constable Opposed in Greenville Vote

GREENVILLE — One incumbent for the Town of Greenville received opposition at the town caucus. Elmer H. Schroeder, second supervisor, will not seek reelection.

Willis Becker, incumbent constable, is opposed by Louis Rudloff. Second supervisor nominees are Emory Tellock and Lawrence Van Heuklon.

Other officers are Rudolph Spreeman, chairman, Harry Schoettler, first supervisor, Harvey Jamison, clerk, Carlyle Manley, assessor, and Ed Kelly, treasurer.

30,439 Killed on State Roads Over 50-Year Period

MADISON (AP)—The State Motor Vehicle Department reported that from 1912 — when record keeping started — through 1962, traffic accidents claimed 30,439 lives.

Twenty-one persons were killed in 1912. The annual toll passed the 100 mark in 1917. The number broke the 500 mark in 1937, the 800 mark in 1938, the 700 mark in 1939 and the 800 count in 1939.

There was a drop in the early 1930s but in post-war years with more vehicles and more drivers, the annual toll began rising again.

Highest toll ever recorded was 965 in 1956.

Last year was close—953.

Economy Hurt By More Than High Taxes

Rising Costs and Population Causes Of Unemployment

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
WASHINGTON — Unemployment is rising, yet business is not supposed to be in a recession. President Kennedy is asking for a tax cut that he believes will stimulate the economy and goes so far as to say that a recession will come if the tax bill is not soon passed.

But this confusing picture beclouds the real issue—the actual causes of the “chronic sluggishness” to which the administration's economists frequently refer.

For the grim truth is that a tax cut by itself will not remedy the basic ills of the economy. There are today many things wrong with the economic situation as a whole, but they are being ignored for political reasons.

Statistics in generalized categories alone do not tell the whole story.

Ills of the Economy

First of all, the total volume of sales is growing, but not as rapidly as it should if more jobs are to be created.

Second, total profits may show up well compared to previous records, but this often can mean merely that large businesses are making more profits on a bigger volume of sales while many of the marginal companies are suffering.

Third, the rate of profit in business is lagging due to higher and higher costs.

Fourth, while many corporations and individual businesses throw in the sponge each year, the number has increased in the last few years. The sales of the companies that go out of business are absorbed by the larger companies, and unemployment grows.

Fifth, big companies are face to face with rising labor costs and are trying every way, especially through automation and new technology, to lower their labor costs.

Sixth, population is increasing, but the number of jobs being created isn't keeping pace with the growing number of persons of working age in the country.

Won't Talk About It

What's basically wrong with the national economy? It isn't difficult to find out, but the administration as well as most of the politicians of the opposite party will not even discuss the subject in their public speeches, let alone come forth with a solution.

The best way to explain the problem is to analyze any major strike that has cost a community hundreds of millions of dollars. For instance, the New York newspaper strike cost the people directly or indirectly involved nearly $400 million, and must have cost Uncle Sam a large amount in lost taxes from individuals and businesses. It shouldn't have taken three months for both sides to recognize the facts of life—the point beyond which fatal injury would be imposed on some of the employers, with a consequent reduction of available jobs in the industry—but it did. Many employers can't wait that long and hence capitulate.

It isn't the effect of the strike along but the underlying causes that merit careful analysis. How, for instance, can a company with a narrow margin of profit or actual losses pay increased labor costs which are based on the capacity to pay enjoyed by the more successful companies? In industry after industry, rates are fairly uniform and labor's demands are figured on what the most prosperous businesses can pay. Differentials in wage rates have sometimes been applied, but they are not usual. Some of the larger companies sit at the bargaining table in an industry-wide negotiation knowing that the settlement they themselves can afford will drive competitors out of business.

Tax Cut May Not Help

The uneconomic factors which the organized power of labor unions has introduced are numerous, and these will not be corrected by a simple tax cut. Such a cut is expected to stimulate the economy through a rise in individual incomes. But personal income is pretty high already. Not everybody spends money that would be better saved for future needs, such as higher education for children.

It may be doubted whether the economy will be materially stimulated by private spending generated by a tax cut. Increases in government spending will not do it, either. For, as one set of government projects is completed, there have to be replacements, and the drain becomes continuous.

Nor can the problems of the economy be solved by gloating over statistics that show a rise in total profits. It's the number of businesses that survive and the rate of profit each can enjoy, as well as the sums available for investment, which in the end can mean an increase in jobs. All the other devices are temporary resuscitators designed to alleviate pain but not to cure a chronic illness. What the economy requires more than anything else today is a major surgical operation. Congress will sooner or later have to take power away from the short-sighted leaders of labor. Timid men in public life will have to be replaced by men of real courage.

New markets and expansion of existing markets are vital. These need large sums of venture capital. Overseas markets for American goods can be increased. But a favorable climate at home and abroad for venture capital requires confidence and a long-range program, rather than the temporary remedies now being proposed. The latter, when added up, merely postpone but do not avoid deep recessions and possibly depressions.

GOP Leader Says No Split in County

Harve Wolfe Attacks Jensen Faction in Outagamie Party

A spokesman for the Outagamie County Republican Party today questioned a reported "split" in the party ranks and lashed at the candidacy of Leon Jensen, 30, route 2, Hortonville, for party chairman.

Harve Wolfe, Appleton statutory committee chairman, said, "There is no apparent split that I know of. There is discussion, certainly, as to various candidates, but the fact that Mr. Jensen is trying to promote a split to improve his own situation makes me wonder about the reasons behind his desire to be county chairman. . . It makes me wonder who the several Republicans urging him to run are and what their real reasons are."

The Republicans will hold their county caucus at 7:30 p.m. today at the Conway Hotel. John Conway has been nominated by the nominating committee for chairman. Leonard E. Pasek, present chairman, does not intend to seek re-election.

'New Leadership'

Jensen announced his candidacy Tuesday and said the party needs "new leadership" and that projects and policy should be "made at the grass roots level, not on the executive level."

"Why does he (Jensen) want to overthrow the party stalwarts?" Wolfe asked. "... on the slate of candidates proposed by the nominating committee, all but one represents new leadership."

"He (Jensen) is defying the fundamentals of good management," Wolfe charged. "A political organization is no different than a business. Here, our profits are votes. Policy cannot be made at the grass roots level. It can be carried out there. Policy and the initiation of policy must be made at the executive level and controlled by the county chairman."

Wolfe, who backs Conway, questioned Jensen's "grasp of leadership" technique. He noted that Conway "has devoted years of time and energy to learning how a political party operates."

Eleventh Hour

In a statement released today, Conway said, "I believe in the democratic process of free elections in party leadership as well as in the state."

9 Students in Valley Winners Of Fellowships

Wilson Award Goes To 7 at Lawrence, 2 Other Scholars

Seven Lawrence College students and two other collegians whose home towns are in Northwestern Wisconsin today were named for Woodrow Wilson Fellowships.

Winners were the following Lawrence students: David Black, Hazelhurst; Anthony Carter, Champaign, Ill.; Eugene Gaer, Milwaukee; Jonathan Hartshorne, Hamilton, N. Y.; C. William Moebius, Milwaukee; Karen Prah, Mount Prospect, Ill.; and James Williamsen, 902 E. Washington St. Another Lawrence student, William Falter, Elmhurst, Ill., was named to the honorable mention list.

Area students similarly chosen were John Schauer, 132 S. Main Blvd., Green Bay, a student at St. Norbert College, and Carl Wood, 567 Mount Vernon St., Oshkosh, a senior at Michigan State University.

Largest Group

The appointment of seven from the current senior class at Lawrence constitutes the largest group from the college in a single year. A total of 32 Lawrence students have won Woodrow Wilson awards since 1950, along with four honorable mentions.

The Woodrow Wilson program is aimed at recruiting superior students for careers in college teaching. This year 1,475 winners were named, and 1,154 were cited for honorable mention, from nearly 10,000 applicants.

Each fellowship covers tuition and fees for the first year at the graduate school of the fellow's choice, plus a stipend of $1500 and dependency allowances, said Sir Hugh Taylor, president of the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship Foundation.

Sir Hugh noted, "It is our hope that these newly-elected Woodrow Wilson fellows will continue as decisively as possible toward the attainment of a Ph.D. Toward that end we have chosen candidates who can meet the foreign language requirements of their graduate schools."

College Teaching

"All these winners—the largest number we have selected in any one year thus far—were chosen as 'good bets' for college teaching. We hope they will follow that career, yet we do not hold them to such a firm commitment. We ask only that they give college teaching serious consideration."

Most of this year's Fellowship winners are in the humanities or social sciences, but there are also 309 scientists among them.

In order that those winning honorable mention may be chosen to receive alternate awards from universities or other sources, their names are now being circulated among the graduate schools of the United States and Canada.

The major fields of the local winners follow: Black, economics; Carter, anthropology; Gaer, history; Hartshorne, religion; Moebius, classics; Miss Prah, English; Williamsen, philosophy; Falter, political science; all from Lawrence, and Schauer of St. Norbert in economics.

Boy Scouts Planning Day of Recollection

Boy Scout Troop 25 is conducting a day of recollection for all Boy Scouts, Leaders, and Explorers of the Catholic churches of Appleton March 24 at Sacred Heart Church.

The program will open with 8:15 mass and will close at noon. Father Robert Smith, assistant pastor at Sacred Heart, will be the director.

Special Registration Hours in Little Chute

LITTLE CHUTE — Village residents planning to vote in the April 2 election who have not yet registered and are unable to do so during the clerk's office hours will have the opportunity to register from 6 to 9 p.m. Friday. Deadline for registration is March 30, according to Mrs. Loretta Versteegen, clerk.

Kimberly - Clark to Build Pulp, Paper Mill in West

400 to be Employed at New California Facility Which Will Make Printing Papers

NEENAH — Kimberly - Clark Corp. announced today construction will start immediately on a multimillion dollar pulp and paper mill at Anderson, Calif., site of its Shasta Division.

Completion is scheduled for November, 1964.

The new integrated facility will manufacture printing papers for the expanding needs of western states. The supporting pulp mill will have a daily capacity to produce 150 tons of several grades of bleached kraft pulp. The paper mill has a designed normal capacity for 64,000 tons.

NLRB Examiner Hears Testimony On Union Requests

Ruling Required Before Vote on Post-Crescent Representation

A National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) examiner conducted a three hour hearing Wednesday regarding union representation requests which involve production workers at the Appleton Post-Crescent.

The employees of the newspaper, which is owned and operated by the Post Publishing Co., have been represented by the Post-Crescent Craftman's Union, an independent union, since 1921.

The hearing, conducted in a conference room at the city hall by Hymen Bear of the Chicago NLRB office, was procedural and a requisite prior to the setting of a date for a representation election as required by federal law.

Before Examiner

Before the NLRB examiner were:

- A petition of the Post Publishing Co., also signed by officers of the Post-Crescent Craftman's Union, to have the latter listed on the ballot to be the representative or collective bargaining agent for all production employees at the newspaper.
- Also, the petition of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' Union of North America, which is pressing its bid to be the representative of the newspaper's pressmen, stereotypers and apprentices — totaling 17 employees.

All employees, including pressmen, stereotypers and apprentices, presently belong to the Post-Crescent Craftman's Union.

The unions and the company previously submitted petitions to the NLRB requesting the representation election be held.

Raymond Bohlig, St. Louis Park, Minn., representing the pressmen's International union, and Gilbert J. Niesen, Racine, business representative of the Wisconsin District Joint Council of Pressmen's Unions, contended the pressmen, stereotypers and apprentices at the Post-Crescent should be designated as one work unit, separate of the other production departments.

Atty. Victor Harding, Milwaukee, representing the company, claimed all production workers could belong to the one union and emphasized the pressmen and stereotypers were flexible in that they had interchangeable duties and assignments. On behalf of the company, he objected to breaking up production employees into separate work units.

Registered Objection

J. Joseph Cummings, Appleton attorney, represented the Post-Crescent Craftman's Union, an intervening party, in the proceedings before the NLRB examiner, and registered objection to the request to designate workers in the pressroom as a separate work unit.

Two area representatives of the International Typographical Union (ITU) also sat in on the proceedings as observers but did not participate in the hearing.

Only witnesses called to give testimony were Sylvester Kneepkens, Kaukauna, president of the Post-Crescent Craftman's Union, and Henry G. Starck, 1536 W. Prospect Ave., the newspaper's production manager.

The NLRB examiner informed representatives of the pressmen's

Interstate Road System Offers Safest Traffic

MADISON (AP) — The State Highway Commission cited figures today to show the Interstate system is Wisconsin's safest roadway.

The accident rate last year on 180 miles of Interstate open to travel was less than half, or 42.5 per cent, of that on the rest of the state's roads, Wayne N. Volk, commission traffic engineer, said.

The Interstate rate was 95.1 accidents per 100 million miles of travel, while the rest of the state system showed 224 accidents per 100 million miles.

Fatal accidents on the Interstate were only 36.5 per cent of what they were on other state roads, and personal injury mishaps only 34.8 per cent.

In 1962 there were 11 deaths on the I system. There were 726 fatalities on all other rural roads during the year.

So far this year there have been three deaths on the Interstate and one at a ramp intersection with a state highway.

Better Rooming Conditions Being Sought

Health Board to Work With Other Appleton Groups

A move to improve safety and sanitary conditions in Appleton rooming houses was initiated Wednesday by the Appleton Board of Health, following an inspection of several rooming houses by the city sanitarian and the Appleton fire department.

The Board of Health decided to work cooperatively with the fire and police departments and building inspectors to inspect rooming houses and seek improved conditions where necessary.

These same units may decide later to work cooperatively on formulation of a rooming house code, Dr. Marvin Kagen, city health commissioner, said after the meeting.

Lack Sanitation

City Sanitarian William Moldenhauer conducted the inspection of four rooming houses in cooperation with the Appleton fire department. His report to the board of health stated "the inspections disclose a very definite lack of awareness of the owners, managers and occupants, as to basic safety and sanitation."

He recommends that in the absence of licensing of rooming houses or apartment buildings in Appleton, corrective measures should be undertaken under terms of the State Industrial Code.

He reported finding uncovered rubbish cans; basements, hallways, stair landings and rooms filled with papers and various types of junk; basements and communal toilets in need of cleaning; broken stairs; ceilings, walls and floors in need of repair, and outdated fire extinguishers.

Dr. Joseph L. Benton, who presided at the meeting, said these buildings should be condemned if they aren't kept clean.

City Sanitarian Donald Day estimated that there are about 100 rooming houses and boarding houses in the city.

3 Meetings Today On Milk Production

OSHKOSH — Quality milk production meetings were held this afternoon at Winnebago and Omro and will be held at 8 p.m. today at the Oshkosh City Hall annex for farmers, dairy plant operators, veterinarians and milking machine servicemen.

Speaking at the meetings are James W. Crowley, extension dairyman, and L. A. Brooks, extension agricultural engineer, both of the University of Wisconsin, and Robert Williams, of the state department of agriculture's marketing division.

They will discuss the 1963 milk markets, milking machines and milking techniques for producing a better quality product and advancing the milk quality.

60 Days in Jail

OSHKOSH — Walter Warczak, 60, Milwaukee, was sentenced to 60 days in Winnebago County jail this morning by County Judge James V. Sitter after Warczak pleaded guilty of petty larceny. He was charged with taking two clocks worth $10.98 from an Oshkosh store.

Schlieve May Start Legal Action Against Gieger Construction

Labor leader Robert Schlieve met with Outagamie County Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer Wednesday and discussed possible legal action against the LeRoy Geiger Construction Co.

Schlieve's conference with the district attorney followed action of the board of public works Tuesday in refusing to hold a hearing on charges the local construction firm failed to pay some workers the certified wage scale.

The Geiger Construction Co. had a contract with the City of Appleton to do street construction work last year, and the certified wage clause was a part of the agreement.

In the past the board of public works held hearings on charges against contractors and on occasion disciplined them for not abiding by contract terms.

However, the board reversed its policy and said the district attorney could sign a complaint because a state statute was alleged to have been violated.

Schlieve and Schaefer conferred for about 30 minutes Wednesday afternoon in the latter's office. Details of the discussion were not revealed.

Another Meeting

However, Schaefer said another meeting will be held at an undetermined date to explore the problem further. Asked if they had arrived at any decision, Schaefer said nothing was determined.

Conviction of a firm violating the state law in regard to contract terms calls for a penalty of $500 for each offense, a jail term of 30 to 100 days, or both.

The two workers who claim they were underpaid by Geiger have estimated they have about $800 coming.

In addition to the allegation that the Geiger firm violated its contract with the city in regard to the wage agreement, Schlieve claims the firm also sub-contracted some of the work which, if proven, is also a violation of the law.

The board's action earlier in the week in denying the hearing was by a 6 to 2 vote. It took the position the issue was between the workers and the contractor, with the burden on the former to go to court.

Kansas City Philharmonic Provides Memorable Evening of Fine Music

BY JAY JOSELYN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The Kansas City Philharmonic Wednesday night joined its name with the Chicago and Minneapolis orchestras in Fox Cities history by providing a memorable evening of music in the Appleton High School auditorium.

Although the sponsoring Benefit Circle of the King's Daughters failed to sell out the auditorium, it is hoped the near capacity audience and its warm response to the fine musicians encouraged the circle to become symphony impresarios and provide the Kansas City orchestra a return engagement in the near future.

Old Favorites
Except for its opening number, Creston's Dance Overture, the program was made up of old favorites and, intrinsically, the Creston offering could not be called "new" music despite its relatively tender age. The rhythmic telling of Florida's life under four flags, however, gave the strings a virtuoso showcase in its rollicking square dance finale.

Hans Schwieger, the Kansas City's gracious conductor, appeared to keep a tight rein on his orchestra's dynamic potential, producing an understated demonstration of complete control of shading, feeling and color while eschewing a theatricality often mistaken for brilliance in many orchestras.

This complete control was best demonstrated in the Strauss "Death and Transfiguration" in which the orchestra truly became his instrument, responding to his slightest change of dynamic and tempo.

Wind Ensemble
While this response continued, Wagner's prelude to "Die Meistersinger" and Brahms' "First Symphony" and the two encores, Wagner's prelude to the third act of "Lohengrin" and Brahms' "Sixth Hungarian Dance," failed to point up the orchestral depth as well as the Strauss.

Perhaps what set the Kansas City in a niche of its own Wednesday was its wind ensemble, especially the woodwinds and more especially the double-reed instruments. Their liquid, round tones created a brilliance that sparkled in the velvety background provided by the competent strings.

The near capacity audience received the philharmonic enthusiastically and succeeded in drawing forth the two encores mentioned above.

The Acoustics
However, there were some in the audience who reported less than perfect acoustics. Since the auditorium has never been "fired" for an orchestra, this is regrettable, but not inexcusable.

There were nuisances that could have been avoided, however; an obligate of clashing pop bottles and children's voices from the hall, a groaning door during the quiet introduction of the Strauss tone poem and a bearded woman in the middle of the

Man Kills Self in Car

Theodore Ferg, 67, Clintonville Is Asphyxiated

CLINTONVILLE — Theodore Ferg, 67, 136 Roberts St., was found dead in the garage of his home Wednesday night. Dr. Owen E. Larson, Waupaca County deputy coroner, ruled Ferg took his own life by asphyxiation from carbon monoxide.

Clintonville police were called at 8:25 p.m. after Ferg's son, Roy, found his father in the family car. The motor had stopped running, and Ferg was dead eight to 10 hours, James Begg, police chief, said. Assisting in the investigation were Sheriff Loran Frazier and Undersheriff William Mork.

Ferg's wife had been ill and was taken to Clintonville Community Hospital Tuesday. Eberhardt and Hoh Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements which are incomplete.

Vince Lombardi To Head Mental Health Campaign

Vince Lombardi, coach of the Green Bay Packers, will head the 1963 state-wide fund campaign for the support of the Wisconsin Association for Mental Health's program of prevention, education and treatment of mental illness.

Accepting the position, Lombardi said, "The Green Bay Packers won the National Professional Football Championship with hard work, team spirit and the fans' loyal enthusiastic support. This same dedication is needed to combat Wisconsin's number one health problem — mental illness. As the 1963 campaign chairman, I am happy to have the opportunity to urge your support of the program this May."

The association's 1963 goal is $181,650, earmarked for direct rehabilitation help at the community level as well as for research and educational programs, service to patients, public information and volunteer assistance at the state and county levels in mental

Appleton Man Denies Driving While Drunk

Donald Vanderlois, 40, 888 Day St., Green Bay, pleaded innocent of drunken driving and will face trial March 26. He posted $250 bond after he appeared in Outagamie County Court, Branch 2 Wednesday.

Vanderlois was arrested by county police early Wednesday morning in the Town of Vandenberg. He was taken to the Outagamie County jail, where he was examined by a doctor.

$100,000 Addition

KVS Will Have Annual Open House on Sunday

KAUKAUNA — Visitors will have the opportunity to inspect the recently-completed $100,000 addition to the Vocational and Adult Education School during an open house set from 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

The open house follows the last week of adult classes each spring. Displays are planned in knitting, hospitality foods, clothing and formal modeling, lapidary, hobby craft, upholstery, millinery, remodeling, slip covers, lampshades, drapery, rug hooking, braiding, machine shop, welding, auto mechanics, small gas engines, wood working, electrical, hydraulics, and oil and water color painting.

Club Hostesses
Homemaker club members will serve as hostesses and guides and will conduct a bake sale in conjunction with the affair. Instructors will be on hand to answer questions about various courses. The new 6-room wing is a second floor addition of classrooms, an auto lab. It is accessible from the second floor of the high school and a rear entrance to the building. It houses a combination sewing-classroom, crafts room, classroom combination, two classrooms divided by a curtain which makes a large room suitable for 75 people, a home furnishings room, electrical-electronic lab, graphic arts drafting room with a small dark room, a teachers' office and washroom facilities.

March Court Calendar Lists 31 Civil Actions

CHILTON — A total of 31 civil actions to be decided by a jury are included in the bar calendar for the March term of Calumet County Circuit Court which opens at 2 p.m. March 18 at the courthouse here.

Third Judicial Circuit Judge, will preside.
A majority of the cases slated for jury decisions stem from auto accidents — 17 in all. Three of the actions are personal injury claims other than auto accidents. There are two each for fire loss and damage, account collections, wage recovery and damages.
Others include breach of agreement, garnishee and a lien foreclosure.
Four cases will be presented for a ruling by the court.

Reynolds En-route To Washington

MADISON (AP)—Gov. John W. Reynolds is on his way to Washington, D.C. today amid confirmed reports that he will invite Vice President Lyndon Johnson to come to Wisconsin for a speaking engagement in May. The Democratic state party's annual Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner will be held in Milwaukee May 18.

An executive office spokesman confirmed Reynolds has an appointment with Johnson but said he could not say if the meeting involved the invitation.
Reynolds flew to Washington with Patrick J. Lucey of Madison, chairman of the state Democratic party. Reynolds plans to confer with Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges on possible acquisition of more interstate highways in Wisconsin.

Lions, Rotary Clubs Will Bowl Friday

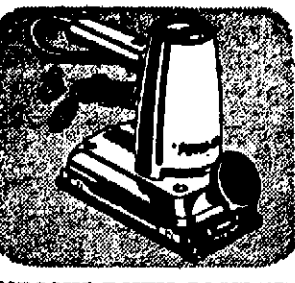

KAUKAUNA — The 19th annual Rotary-Lions bowling match will begin at 8 p. m. Friday at the Bowling Bar, with the two organizations deadlocked in the series at 9-all.
Both clubs will enter four teams with total pins determining winners. The losing club will pay for the bowling. The clubs also will meet on the golf course in the summer.

Say Sub-Station Not Necessary

A new fire station is not needed in the southeast sector of Appleton, according to a report city officials received from the National Board of Fire Underwriters.
Recently, Ald. Thomas K. Schneider (13th) introduced a resolution in the common council to have the city study the feasibility of purchasing land on the south-east side for future use as a combination fire department and police precinct station.

Boyd A. Hartley, representing the underwriters, wrote Fire Chief Roland Kuehn that ordinarily it was not the board's policy to make recommendations for specific locations of fire stations, except in connection with a complete survey of the municipal fire protection facilities.
Hartley said it appeared that the No. 2 fire station is now generally located to serve the south- and southeastern portion of Appleton.
"Therefore, we would not presently recommend additional fire companies for this area," Hartley said. He noted that further extensive expansion of the city in that direction would call for re-consideration of the fire station proposal.

State Checker Tourney Will be in Madison

The 41st Annual Wisconsin Checker Tournament will be at the Hotel Loraine in Madison March 30 and 31. Any checker player who is a resident of Wisconsin is qualified to enter.
Last year, 40 players entered the competition at Oshkosh, with Howard Owen of Tomahawk and Pat Crain of Oshkosh tying for first place. The Swiss system with standard rules for play will be adopted for the tourney.

It will be warmer in the Mississippi Valley and southern Rockies and colder in New England, the middle Atlantic states and the Ohio and Tennessee valleys. Snow will fall in the northern Plains, upper Mississippi Valley, central Appalachians, Ohio Valley and central Rockies. Showers are expected in the South and on the Pacific Coast. (AP Wirephoto Map)

19 Kaukauna High Students Picked for Honor Society

KAUKAUNA — Nineteen juniors and seniors at Kaukauna High School have been named to permanent membership in the Augustin Grignon National Honor Society, and 10 sophomores have been named temporary members. Permanent members will be inducted into the organization at future ceremonies. A tea for parents of members and faculty will be conducted after induction.
Temporary Members
Sophomores named to temporary membership are Lisa Anderson, Carol Behnke, Donna Borchardt, Nan Ebert, Jill Robin, Jean Schmidt, David Schwalenberg, Suzanne Sielaff, Wayne Steinbach and Pamela Thiel.
Students on the A and B honor rolls were eligible for membership. A list of activities participated in by potential members was compiled by Miss Frances Corry, society adviser, and an electing committee of nine teachers reviewed eligible students. Five votes were needed for election to the organization. The election committee was selected by the principal.

Reject Gas Heat For Courthouse In Oshkosh

OSHKOSH — The Winnebago County board Wednesday again rejected gas heat for the courthouse and then adjourned until the April 16 reorganization meeting.
The board voted 17 to 20 on a motion brought by Supvs. Alvin Staffeld, Roger Sweet and Oliver Thomsen, all of Neenah, to have the public building committee advertise for bids for both gas and coal firing equipment.
The board Tuesday rejected by a 13 to 22 vote the resolution of the public building committee to secure bids for gas firing equipment and then approved a motion by Supv. Herbert Pitz, Oshkoosh, to have bids received for coal firing equipment and to report those bids back to the board.

The board had set up $30,000 in this year's budget for repairs to the heating plant. Estimates presented to the board Tuesday indicated that such installation of gas equipment might cost $30,000 and that for coal would run about $27,000. However, the board was told, the cost to operate with coal would be cheaper than with gas.
Supv. Staffeld read to the board the names of various Neenah, Menasha and Oshkosh industries and schools which were changing over to natural gas. Other supervisors said they could give as long a list of names of firms using coal and that just lists of names did not give a true picture.
President Kennedy will give three public speeches during his three-day visit to Costa Rica next week. They are included in a busy schedule of conferences and ceremonies outlined Wednesday by the White House.
His first address—outside of remarks on arriving on Costa Rica Monday—will come later in the day at the opening session of his conference at San Jose with presidents of the six Central American republics.
The White House said the President intends to spend this week-end in Palm Beach, flying to San Jose from there Monday morning.

Debate Winners To Compete in Oshkosh Tourney

St. Mary students captured 11 of the "A" ratings and four "B" ratings. St. Mary winners were Luane Briske and Kathy Davis, declamation; Helen Johnson, interpretative reading of poetry; Sue Makofski and Nancy O'Melia, interpretative reading of prose; Scott Butterfield, four-minute speech; Joseph Beisenstein, non-original oratory; Steven Schmidt, extemporaneous speaking; Sarah Martin, public address; and James Buhl and Daniel Rudebeck, original oratory.

Students from Lourdes High School, St. John High School, Little Chute, students who received "A" rating were: Irene Ruys, declamation; Judy Babauta, interpretative reading of poetry; Grace Coenen, non-original oratory, and Joyce Rickert, original oratory. Judges for the contest were Kenneth Edge, Edward Flynn, Hubert Wetak and E. J. Goodrich from Appleton High School.

Winners of the district contest at Oshkosh State College will advance to the state meet at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, on April 27.

Seek Wild Life Refuge Class for County Land

The personnel committee recommended delaying until the April session a request by the directors of the county guidance center for an additional psychiatric social worker or a psychologist with a master's degree. Salary would be in the range from $7,200 to $8,000, depending on experience, the guidance center directors asked. The guidance center board stated the center was understaffed since the suggested ratio is three professional persons for every 50,000 of population.

Referred to the personnel committee was a request from the public building committee for an additional bracket of $15 a month or the position of switchboard operator - receptionist at the courthouse.

A request submitted by several supervisors to have the court-house officers open during the noon hour is to be studied by the personnel committee which is to bring in recommendations at the next meeting.

Ignorance Endangering U.S. Freedoms

Mrs. Helen Douglas, Ex-Congresswoman,
Speaks in Oshkosh

The former member of the house foreign affairs committee stated that "the cold war is quite different than anything we've ever had because of the nature of weapons now being made." She stated that peacetime machinery has now been turned into war machinery.

"Fifty per cent of our research is in the military field," she declared, "and the defense industry of the United States is bigger than any other industry in the world."

Gap Widens

What is the arms race with Russia doing to us? According to Mrs. Douglas it is widening the gap between science and the people and causing a great gap in our society. "Even scientists don't understand each other's disciplines" she commented.

"I don't believe that the important decisions being made daily can be made by a few men," she emphasized. "The military must think in war terms; the congress, state department and the president work to keep us out of war — but the military dominates our lives. It is very difficult for us to think objectively about our affairs but it is about time we started seeking information about things we don't understand."

Mrs. Douglas, who served one term in the U.S. delegation to the United Nations, said "new advances in weapons imperil us more than they help us. We must secure a disarmament program, because the possibility of accident grows greater."

Work for Peace

"The final decisions are being left to the military and to the scientists, and not to us. We must study and discuss the problems, but we aren't doing it," she insisted.

"We must fight being de-humanized by the arms race and that's where the women come in," she commented. "It's the women who say 'we don't want war'."

In conclusion, Mrs. Douglas stated that "we work for peace knowing we must have it."

'Who Was That Lady...'
Players Production
'Bound to Please'

BY JAMES AUER
East-Crescent Staff Writer

Take one assistant professor of chemistry, caught by his wife in the act of kissing a foreign exchange student. Add an inventive, if unprincipled, television mystery writer. Mix in assorted spies, FBI agents, CIA operatives and Google sisters (they "sing and dance like rabbits").

This — for playgoers with culinary tastes — is the recipe for Norman Krasna's "Who Was That Lady I Saw You With?" The two-act comedy was given the first of three scheduled performances at the Grand Theatre Wednesday evening by Oshkosh Community Players, Inc.

With Bob Reid playing the compromised chemistry instructor Shirley Vorsek as his uncompromising wife, and Dick Hamberg as their nonconformist confident, the players have whipped up a frothy cocktail that's bound to please their Fox Valley folmany-scened script are not entirely solved by stage manager Leonard Padgham Jr., and his crew. But then, a few years ago, the Attie Theatre's technicians were similarly bedeviled by countless set-changes and stage-waits of this cleverly-constructed, but essentially cinematic, theater-piece.

Granted, the production problems presented by Krasna's

Director Fred Steinbrecher has attempted to transport his audience from Columbia University to his hero's living room, to a Chinese restaurant and ultimately the basement of the Empire State Building by means of a basic box set, movable painted flats and the extensive use of black curtains.

Although the transitions, on opening night, were not overlong, they will undoubtedly be accomplished more swiftly tonight and Friday. Sight lines are not always ideal, particularly when only a portion of the stage is utilized.

As the trio of perennial adolescents about whom the plot revolves, Reid, Hamburg and the decorative Mrs. Vorisek are effectively matched and, as the show reaches its fanciful climax, labor diligently to achieve the necesand harried Friend of the Family, while Reid reaches the peak of his characterization as he sings the National Anthem in what he believes is a sinking, steam-filled submarine—actually, the sub-basement of the world's tallest building.

Sturdy Support

Sturdy support is offered by Harold Kroll as Harry Powell, the fatherly FBI agent whose sympathy for Reid's dilemma leads to far-reaching consequences; by Connie Koch and Marilyn Willie as the formidable Coogles; and by Roy Lewis and Don Boese as the Cold War's two most ineffective

Soviet spies, Orlav and Belka. Neenah's Pat Haase appears briefly but memorably as a secretary; Bruce Weideman is suitably upset as a CBS prop man called upon to fake an FBI card; Jim Alderson is made up to resemble Dr. Manchu as an humble Chinese restaurateur, and Ken See-field, Tom Wildman and Con Marks are properly agitated as Federal agents called upon to deal with the lead trio's machinations.

The cleverly-illustrated program, designed by "The Committee," de-designed by The Committee, to serve a special word of commendation, as do Mrs. Woody Hall and Betty Harper, chairmen of the prop committees. All of the properties seemed to be readily at hand — no mean achievement in a show of this complexity.

"Who Was That Lady I Saw

You With?" will be repeated at 8:15 p.m. today and Friday (the Ides of March). It is ambitious

Rockefeller and 1964

There is a tide in the affairs of men, as one of the masters of human psychology wrote long ago, and it may be illustrated for our times in the contemporary positions of Richard Nixon and Nelson Rockefeller.

Three years ago Mr. Rockefeller, then as now a titular giant in the Republican party as governor of the big state of New York, made a scouting trip into Wisconsin to assess his prospects for the 1960 presidential nomination of his party. He found here, as he found elsewhere in the country, that the party's rank and file workers and local leaders were almost solidly committed to the nomination of Vice President Nixon as the heir apparent of President Eisenhower.

Last week the New York governor returned, to encounter a welcome that was perhaps startling in its contrasts, but that probably surprised him not at all, given his appreciation of the realities of practical politics. Mr. Nixon's career as presidential candidate is finished. The party has not yet turned up really promising successors for the nomination, except for Mr. Rockefeller. As it now appears the New Yorker may very well have the nomination next year by acclamation. Surely his Wisconsin reception—and this is perhaps representative of the traditionalist Republican party of the great Middle West—was as warm as any presidential aspirant could have desired.

Mr. Rockefeller's main theme in his prepared address at a party-sponsored rally last weekend was calculated to appeal to the good sense of most of the people of Wisconsin. The country needs a federal tax adjustment, he said, but it cannot come without a decision to retrench, or at the very least to stabilize the level of federal expenditures at the same time. This is as simple a means to illustrate the quarrel between Republicans and the New Frontiersmen Democrats in contemporary life as is available, and it is just about the most vital of the distinctions between them. Mr. Kennedy submits that we can spend more and tax less, and that the combination will make us prosperous. We don't profess to be expert in these avant garde fashions in economic theorizing, but that seems like utter nonsense. We are confident that most of the people of this state also regard it as absurd.

We find ourselves wondering whether Mr. Rockefeller truly wants the nomination next year for which he is manifestly running. History is against him. Most presidents win second terms, and Mr. Kennedy obviously intends that he will not be an exception to the rule.

Yet Mr. Rockefeller has shown a brilliant ability to attract votes in New York, where he has thoroughly demoralized the forces of Mr. Kennedy's Democratic party. And it is a fair assumption that a man who rejects a nomination next year will in turn be passed over when the possibly more desirable nomination of 1968 is decided.

'Oh, Brother!'

Stroebe Island Park

We were happy to learn recently that Sen. Gerald Lorge, Bear Creek, and Assemblyman Harold Froehlich, Appleton, are sponsoring a bill in the legislature that will make it possible for the Fox Cities communities to purchase and develop Stroebe's Island for public recreation.

The bill would allow municipalities to jointly acquire, own, maintain and operate any district facilities which are deemed feasible and approved by the municipalities.

The need for recreation facilities in the Fox Cities is growing as fast as the population, not to mention the lag in park development during recent years. Preserving open space for public use has become a primary aim of municipal and state planners.

Backers of the Stroebe Island park hope that some state and federal aid will become available to help buy it. Certainly, the populous, industrial Fox Valley deserves a share of whatever public monies are available for open space development.

The bill is another pioneering effort by the regional planning commission, just as the commission itself was when it was the first such group organized in the state.

We hope the bill will become law quickly so that the proposed Stroebe Island park development can progress with all possible speed.

Revolt in the Middle East

The two Middle East revolts in the short span of three weeks were at least temporarily successful in setting up new regimes for the old. The former leaders went down to bloody defeat in the same way that they came to power in both Syria and Iraq. And there is no assurance that the revolts will not spread into Saudi Arabia and Jordan in particular. The main trouble is that the people of the Middle East are beginning to want to live like modern nations but they have several centuries to cover in a short span.

Nasser was the first such leader to come to power in the Middle East because he was able to exploit the reaction of the Egyptians to the absurd rule of Farouk. But Nasser's dream of glory and power in the United Arab Republic was at least temporarily smashed when Syria broke away and Iraq refused cooperation. The revolts of the last few weeks put Syria and Iraq back in Nasser's camp. The proposed "union of federation" announced by the Iraqi deputy premier will probably revolve back into the U.A.R. if control can be maintained by the present pro-Nasser leaders in Syria and Iraq.

Meanwhile there is concern again in other Arab countries. A couple of years ago the absolute ruler in Saudi Arabia loosened his strings of control undoubtedly in an effort to stall off revolt. The continuing struggle in Yemen is also an indication of unrest, stirred up by the advocates of prosperity and political liberties.

One of the places where the problem shows is in the black gold of the Middle East — oil. The United States produced about 18% more oil than Middle Eastern wells last year but while we increased production by 1% since 1961, the Middle East boosted its production by almost 10% and predicts a similar increase this year.

Oil is not a rare commodity anymore. Europe can afford to bargain a bit on prices because of the oil now coming from African wells recently developed in the Sahara. Russia still has plenty at home. But the Middle Eastern Arabs now want increased revenues for their tremendous social and economic plans and nationalization of the oil fields is one way. While most of the countries get 50% of the oil revenue being developed by outsiders, a few have attempted to raise the ante. The now murdered Kassem demanded more in Iraq and spent the expected money before his government got it.

The major problem in the Middle East, as Nasser discovered long ago, is to raise the economic level of the peasant as he gains knowledge of the outside world. In the Middle East, where revolts and massacres have been almost everyday occurrences, to fail to satisfy even the subjects of a country, much less the citizens, is likely to result in a new government being formed over the dead bodies of the old.

So far the Communists have shown little gains in the Middle East although they have been active in almost every country. But few Arab leaders care to be stooges of Moscow. There is a considerable conflict among them for supremacy but they don't care particularly about sharing control with anyone else. Right now Nasser seems on his way to new power and authority.

Appleton Jaycees Opposed To County Hot Mix Plant

Editor, Post-Crescent:

We believe that economic justice can best be won by "free" men through "free enterprise." This is one sentence of the Jaycee Creed. We feel that it's perhaps the most important one, at least for the occasion it would be. We are the Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce. Many cities have a Junior Chamber of Commerce Chapter. We represent Appleton which lies in the heart of Outagamie County. For this reason we are letting our thoughts be known. We are proud of our fine city. It ranks very well among cities of its size. It's also a privilege to represent such a fine city. We are also very concerned with the future of our community and the future of our young people who will be our leaders of tomorrow. We want for them the same opportunities in free enterprise as we have today. This is why we are opposed to our local county government entering into the competitive free enterprise system through the purchase of a hot mix plant. Such a purchase would destroy the initiative which business possesses.

The purchase of a hot mix ville senior at Milwaukee-Downer College, was named to the school's honor roll.

Mrs. Irvin Tornow was elected president of the Appleton Women's Catholic Order of Foresters. Other new officers were Mrs. A. J. Sauter, vice president. Mrs. John Hietpas, financial secretary. Mrs. Edwin Massonette, treasurer. Mrs. William J. Stier and Mrs. Frank Massonette, trustees. Mrs. Frances Morrow was re-elected recording secretary and Mrs. W. J. Butler trustee.

10 YEARS AGO

Thursday, March 12, 1953.

President Eisenhower laid before Congress a reorganization plan setting up a new federal department of health, education and welfare to take over the functions of the federal security agency.

Leonard Woolfel, route 1, Chilton, was to be honored by the Chilton Jaycees as the outstanding young farmer of Calumet County.

Kaukauna Veterans of Foreign Wars elected Mark Romanesko their new commander.

Mrs. Melvin Seefeldt was elected president of the auxiliary to the Learman-Schaller Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, New London.

Eight Hortonville High School students named to take part in the district contest of the State High School Forensic Association were Edward Wilers, Marlene Keller, Clara Laib, Mildred McHugh, Janice Ratzburg, Leone VanHallen, Bruce Schulz and Valgene Winterfeldt.

plant will not save money for the county. It would be more likely a lever in raising taxes which are much too high now.

We note that the original cost of Outagamie County's buildings, shops, trucks and road-building equipment represents an investment of over two million dollars. All Tax Free! There are 108 pieces of licensed vehicles. These licenses cost the county one hundred and eight dollars. A tax-paying business would pay approximately thirty-two thousand dollars and then an additional use tax of approximately $6,500. Sales taxes on the equipment cost the county absolutely nothing. A tax-paying concern would pay approximately twelve thousand dollars. Now we have tires, oil, grease, and batteries which would amount to a great deal of money. The county needs men to operate a hot mix plant — this means wages, paid out of the taxpayer's pocket.

We believe the county's reason for the purchase is part of the "something for nothing" trend. The government is doing for people what people should do for themselves... this is not good, sound economy.

Let's define "Free Enterprise." "Free Enterprise" can be defined as an economic order in which individuals or groups are relatively free to risk their resources in anticipation of reward proportionate to the risk taken. The term "Free Enterprise," sometimes called free market economy, refers to an economic order which is not only privately owned, but operated for the purpose of securing the highest possible rewards for the individuals within its framework. Such a system is controlled by the natural laws of supply and demand (for labor, natural resources, capital and the end product or service), prices and competition in the market place, and above all, consumer preference. In this economic order the proper role of government is to protect and encourage free economic activity through necessary regulations only, rather than interference in, control of, or direct competition with such economic order.

Sad Concert Scheduled on A Wednesday

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I am simply crushed! The announcement in your paper about the Kansas City Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra coming to Appleton on Wednesday, March 13, thrilled me to the very core of my ex-Kansas City being — until I realized that the orchestra will perform on a Wednesday evening which is set apart for many people during Lent for church services.

How could the "powers that be" ever slip up on that consideration? Don't they realize that Wednesday nights during Lent are generally set aside for church services, especially in the Fox Cities area? Woe is me! I would dearly love to hear the orchestra since I am a former Kansas Cityan and have always enjoyed attending the K. C. Symphony Orchestra presentations prior to moving to Wisconsin.

There must be many others who will be torn between maintaining a Lenten discipline or wondering "how in the world can I go to Appleton and hear good music?" In all honesty, it is a shame that Wednesday was chosen for this wonderful musical treat to come to Appleton. As for me and my household, we will attend church but you can be sure that our thoughts will tend to drift a bit toward Appleton and the K. C. Philharmonic.

Tax Issue Is Being Fought Out in Rock County Assembly Vote

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Normally there would be no more statewide concern about an election of an assemblyman in a single Rock County district than in any other neighborhood balloting in the state, but the folk of Edgerton and vicinity are about to become the targets of an exceptional struggle between the two state political parties.

The reason is that the special election to fill the vacant assembly seat in one of the three Rock County districts comes at a time when the Republicans and the Democrats in state politics are as evenly matched as at any time in history, and when the stakes in their struggle at the capital are greater than they have been in a couple of generations.

The Democrats have been announcing at every opportunity lately that they intend to put every ounce of their strength into that small southern Wisconsin district on behalf of the Democratic nominee for the seat to succeed the late David J. Blanchard. Republicans have said less about their plans, but it can be marked down as a certainty that they will put into it all the energy and imagination they can muster also. They know that the issue is of more importance to them, in actuality, than it is to the Democrats.

THE HISTORY

The district is one of these that in historical terms has been solidly Republican.

For the Democrats to pick up that seat, in view of the history of the locality, would be the most striking victory Gov. John W. Reynolds could possibly ask as he prepares for a grueling struggle with the Republican legislature which may very well control his future political career.

A quick glance at the voting record in the district shows that in the last decade it has delivered heavy margins to the Republicans. The late Mr. Blanchard ran five times. Once he managed a whopping 66 per cent of the vote. The last time that he ran against the candidate who is the Democratic nominee today, Mr. Wikum of Edgerton, Blanchard got 64 per cent. The average Republican victory during the decade showed a margin of 63 per cent, which is impressive enough in any Wisconsin test.

But this is not an ordinary situation, which is why the Democrats are boasting so calmly about what they intend to do in a neighborhood that on the face of it should scare them away.

First, there is the recent history that the Republicans tend to run more poorly in the off years. There is also the historical fact that the Wisconsin Democrats scored their most spectacular triumphs during the last decade or so in special elections. The election of Rep. Lester Johnson in western Wisconsin in a similar special election situation represented the most important modern Democratic breakthrough in this historically Republican state. The special election triumph of Sen. Proxmire in 1957 paved the way for the historic Democratic capture of the statehouse in 1968.

THE ISSUE

The second factor contributing to the Democrats' bravado in a situation that statistically should make them afraid is their hope to exploit the sales tax issue, in a kind of referendum.

It is quite true that the tax issue is the dominant one in state politics. But it is not an easy one to present fairly. Democrats have clearly shown that they intend to draw a picture of a Republican drive to "tax the poor."

The responsibility of the Republicans, and it may not be an easy one to meet, is to present the question in its real meaning — the choice that is presented to the people of Wisconsin for resolution of their divided state government, between an income tax scale that will be the highest in the country and therefore inevitably notorious, and a sales tax system that would exempt basic necessities of the kind that is already in effect in three quarters of the states of the country including many states under Democratic rule.

Real Beauty Lies in Eyes of the Beholder

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Purely Personal Prejudices: Not only beauty, but sexual desirability as well, is in the eyes of the beholder — in the Orient, women conceal their bosoms and necks, but reveal their thighs in slit skirts; and the Occidental man visiting there keeps the angle of his vision directed toward the legs, while the Oriental man looks only at the Western women with their necks and shoulders exposed.

Biographies of geniuses are always at bottom unsatisfactory, because truly great men cannot be understood; they can only be admired. This is why it is easier to write a convincing biography of a rascal than of a genius — we share the limitations of the former, but lack the "x factor" of the latter.

A woman gets mighty restless unless, from time to time, she can find something to "forgive" a man for.

The phrase "United Nations" is as big a contradiction as "civilized warfare;" for as long as the concept of nation remains pre-eminent, the unity will last only when it serves the self-interest of each.

Few of us are as candid as Mark Twain when he wrote on the envelope of a letter addressed to his wife: "Opened by mistake to see what was inside."

Air crashes seem so much more shocking than auto crashes because taking a plane is a deliberate act of choice, whereas driving a car seems more natural and inevitable than walking.

Speaking of wives, it seems to me that when a woman nags her husband it is not because she wants to dominate him, but because he has been unable to dominate her — nagging is usually an expression of the woman's unsatisfied need to be dependent.

The surest sign of a writer with a tin ear is that he records "very" as "veddy" when spoken by an upper-class Englishman; most attempts to transcribe Britishisms in American writing are as ludicrously false and outdated as the British attempts to record American speech.

If punishment were the answer to delinquency, as Federal Judge Luther Youngdahl has ironically noted, "We would have had a perfect society centuries ago, with pillories, stocks and the whipping post."

Sincerity is a virtue only when it is accompanied by a strong sense of self-criticism; otherwise it can become the most deadly of vices, self-righteousness, which is the root of most persecution.

Why is it that, contrary to Marx's expectations and predictions, it has been only the poor and under-developed nations that have turned to communism, not the prosperous and industrial ones? Is it not because to share poverty is easy; to share wealth, difficult?

Air crashes seem so much more shocking than auto crashes because taking a plane is a deliberate act of choice, whereas driving a car seems more natural and inevitable than walking.

Your Money's Worth

Three Indications Of Business Upturn

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Among the reasons some of the nation's top economists cite to support their belief that our economy in coming months will resume a rise from today's high level plateau are these three:

Porter

(1) New orders received by manufacturers for durable goods reversed a two-month decline in January, the last reporting date, and total new orders rose 2 percent from December's level.

(2) Contracts awarded for commercial and industrial buildings are climbing.

(3) Net corporate profits have been increasing too, hit the highest level of 1962 in the fourth quarter.

These are three of the 12 "leading indicators" developed by the National Bureau of Economic Research — and called "leading indicators" because in the past they have signaled ahead of time the development of a business upturn or downturn with remarkable consistency. Why are these three considered so significant? What makes them "leaders?" Here's the answer.

Orders Indicate Trend
When a manufacturer receives a new order for durable goods, he follows up by spending money to manufacture the goods, employing workers to produce the goods, etc. The buyer's decision to place the order and the manufacturer's receipt of the order precede the activity to fulfill the order. Rising new orders for durable goods, therefore, telegraph in advance rising manufacturing activity to produce the goods.

When a businessman places a contract for a new factory, he sets off a chain of events which will take place over a prolonged period. The contract is just the beginning, the actual spending for the factory may not occur for months.

Rising contract awards for commercial and industrial building, therefore, telegraph in advance rising business spending on the buildings, and as the paper contract is transformed into the reality of a new factory, jobs and paychecks are created not only for the workers engaged in the construction but also for those serving those workers.

When a corporation's net profits rise, its managers are influenced to make favorable decisions on spending for inventories so the corporation can hike its sales, on spending for new plants so it can enhance its efficiency, on spending for new equipment so it can produce at lower costs. A decision to increase inventories on the basis of favorable profit prospects means future spending on the inventories.

Of course, other "leading indicators" are not acting as well as these three; this is why the overall pattern is still so inconclusive. For instance, the clues to a future cut in our unemployment rate are not bright. A manufacturer ordinarily would lengthen the average workweek in his factory, step up his hiring rate and slash his lay-off rate before employing a substantial total of new workers. As of now, none of these three leading indicators—the length of the average workweek, the hiring rate, and the layoff rate in manufacturing—is telegraphing any employment boom, and our unemployment rate has just increased to 6.1 percent.

Nevertheless, the signs that business investment will be markedly higher this year than last are vitally important. Consumer spending still is rising. There certainly is no deflation apparent in government spending at any level—federal, state or local. Business spending has been the lagging factor all along.

Assuming business spending now perks up, the whole economic picture will perk up and the across-the-board tax reductions we'll eventually get really should help us move ahead.

The 1961-63 economic advance now is into its 25th month, which matches the life span of the 1958-60 advance. This one is showing signs of considerably greater durability.

White House Set To Act in Event of Railroad Walkout

Possibility of Walkout Grows After Negotiations Collapse

CHICAGO (AP) — A nationwide railroad strike and quick White House intervention appeared possible today after the collapse of railroad-union negotiations on the featherbedding issue.

Just 90 minutes after Wednesday's bargaining session opened, a conference of representatives of the five operating labor unions and the railroads broke down.

H.E. Gilbert, president of the Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen, said the carrier representatives walked out of the meeting.

"We did not leave the bargaining table," he said. "They did. We are ready to negotiate whenever the railroads make up their minds to engage in true collective bargaining."

Denies Walking Out

"We went into the conference with the hope that the carriers would be willing to bargain honestly," he said. "We found they wouldn't."

James E. Wolfe, chief management negotiator, said: "I don't think that anybody walked out. We told them we were disappointed and that we thought they were stalling."

Wolfe announced that the railroads will act as soon as possible to make sweeping changes in the work rules to eliminate what they call featherbedding. The carriers first notified the unions of the changes in 1959.

No Flat Prediction

The unions, representing 200,000 members, have stated that such action would trigger a strike.

Gilbert would not say flatly that adoption of sweeping rules changes would bring a walkout.

"We'll know what to do if the railroads put the rules changes into effect," he said.

Wolfe said the breakdown in negotiations, the third, should lead to a fact-finding board by President Kennedy, which would delay any strike for at least 60 days.

At stake are 65,000 jobs and $600 million a year.

Can't Agree On Rules

The two sides appeared to be separated on ground rules. The railroads wanted to conduct the talks within the framework of the presidential railroad commission report of Feb. 28, 1960. This report accepted some of management's demands, and management accepted the report. The unions wanted bargaining to include their proposals.

The commission recommended elimination of the jobs of 40,000 firemen on diesel locomotives in yard and freight service. The remaining jobs involve other workers.

The unions—engineers, firemen, trainmen, brakemen and switchmen—rejected the report and tried to stop the rules revisions in the courts.

Syrian Regime Hunts for Reds

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Syria's new revolutionary regime is reported stepping up its Communist hunt throughout the nation. Troops and military police are said to have rounded up nearly 100 Reds.

Informal sources said at least two members of the central committee of the Syrian Communist party have been arrested along with Communist writers and other party activists.

Mustafa Amin, acting secretary-general of the central committee, was arrested soon after Friday's coup by pro-Nasser army officers.

Johnson May Speak at State Party Dinner

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. John W. Reynolds said Wednesday that if a date can be agreed upon, Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson will speak at the Wisconsin Democratic party's Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner this spring.

Reynolds said Johnson "indicated a great interest in Wisconsin" during a 30-minute meeting also attended by Patrick J. Lucey, Wisconsin Democratic party chairman.

The governor said he and Lucey planned to see if the Milwaukee Arena would be available on a date which would fit into the vice president's schedule.

GOP Drive to Pare Budget May Cut State School Aids

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — The first intimation in more than twenty years that the state treasury may cut back its multi-million dollar program of subsidy for the local public schools of Wisconsin has come from the controlling Republican majority on the legislature's finance committee.

The suggestion came in a subcommittee report signed by Sen. Alex Meunier of Sturgeon Bay and three other members assigned to consider the request of the state department of public instruction for a school aid budget of some $212,000,000.

"Until there are indications that a revenue measure to provide more money will be available," said the Meunier report, the legislature should hold down all spending, including the politically sensitive school aid budget, to the levels that the present state tax structure can support.

Fight Over Tax Source

The reference was to the fact that Democratic Gov. Reynolds has repeatedly pledged to veto any general sales tax bill to resolve the state financing dilemma, and that the Republicans have indicated they will refuse to adopt his income tax increase plan because it would make the Wisconsin income tax scale the highest in the country.

The full finance committee did not act on the Meunier report, but it obviously came as no surprise. It fits the emerging strategy of the Republican legislature to try to put pressure upon Reynolds to modify his position by reminding him that the alternative may be a painful reduction in essential or popular state services.

Local Rates Involved

"That would be our obligation," Rothwell replied, "but I should say that it couldn't be done without hurting," he added.

He referred to the fact that any substantial cutback in state support would force local school districts to raise their own rates.

Committee Okays 4-Year Extension Of Draft Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — A four-year extension of the peacetime military draft law won unanimous approval today from the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., said he hopes to get Senate action Monday on the compulsory conscription.

Expected Senate approval would send the bill on to President Kennedy who asked continuation until July 1, 1967 of present authority to induct young men from 18 through 26 years for at least two years active service.

The House passed the extension Monday by a topheavy 387-3 vote.

State Members Of House Split On Defense Bill

Divided 3 to 6 on Financing RS70 Bomber Program

BY FRANCES MCKUSICK
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

WASHINGTON — Members of the Wisconsin House delegation today split 3 to 6 in their votes on an amendment to the Defense Department procurement bill which would finance the continuance of the RS 70 bomber program.

The House approved this amendment, 226 to 179.

Continuance of the RS70 bomber, easily the most controversial part of the entire defense department program, will cost an estimated $370 million.

Those voting for the RS70 amendment included Reps. Henry C. Schadeberg and William K. Van Pelt, Republicans, and Clement J. Zablocki, a Democrat.

Different Opinions

Members voting against it included Reps. Robert W. Kastenmeier and Lester R. Johnson, Democrats; and Republicans Vernon W. Thomson, Melvin R. Laird, John W. Byrnes and Alvin E. O'Konski. Not voting was Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Milwaukee.

Supporters of the RS70 amendment felt that the United States should not depend upon its missile program exclusively for military defense and strength, and so should continue with development of the RS70 bomber, on which more than a billion dollars already have been spent.

On the opposite side of the picture, Congressmen Laird and Byrnes and others believed that the RS70 could have been developed within the $15.3 billion budget by trimming some of the other items within it.

"I am not against the bomber,"

110,000 Ballots for Beilfuss, 35,194 for Larson, Poll Shows

MADISON (AP) — The official canvass of the March 5 primary election gave Judge Bruce Beilfuss 110,000 votes and Harold E. Larson 35,194 as they won nomination for the State Supreme Court race.

Beilfuss, a circuit court judge from Neillsville, and Larson, a Superior attorney, will be opponents in the April 2 election for the post that will become vacant next January with the retirement of Chief Justice Timothy Brown.

The canvass results, announced Wednesday by the secretary of state's office, listed these totals for the three other candidates in the high court primary.

William Evans of Milwaukee 28,056, State Sen. Davis Donnelly of Eau Claire 22,933, and Christ Alexopoulos of Milwaukee 12,304.

Gigantic Cleanup Task After Floods

Thousands of Families Go Back to Homes in 5 States

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mud, muck and misery greeted thousands of families returning to their homes today in portions of five southern states hit hardest by rampaging rivers and streams.

Other thousands were homeless still, but the torrential rains were over and the flood waters were receding in most sections.

Property damage mounted to many millions of dollars, and massive cleanup operations added to the cost. Thick mud coated homes, businesses and roads in some areas. Occasional mudslides blocked streets.

Disaster Areas

Parts of southeastern Kentucky and southwestern West Virginia were declared disaster areas by President Kennedy.

Fifteen deaths were attributed to the floods and five persons were missing. Six died in West Virginia, four in Tennessee, two in Kentucky, two in Virginia and one in Alabama.

Volunteers built an emergency wall of dirt to augment a flood wall at Prestonsburg, Ky., and the barrier turned back the Big Sandy River with just four inches to spare.

At Paintsville, down river from Prestonsburg, water was reported over the parking meters on the main street. About 1,000 of the 2,400 persons in the town were evacuated, but a Civil Defense spokesman described the situation as well in hand.

Bus Passengers Rescued

Ten passengers and a driver were rescued from a Greyhound bus trapped for more than eight hours in flood waters on a highway 35 miles west of Chattanooga, Tenn.

Amphibious vehicles were used to remove the passengers and bus driver Forrest F. Darnell of Memphis, Tenn. said he was forced to stop the vehicle in shallow water sweeping across highway 64 when a car stalled in front of him shortly after midnight Wednesday.

The water rose quickly to about four feet and poured two feet deep into the bus, he said.

"The water was so swift it picked up the front of the bus and set it on the shoulder of the road," he said. "The bus rocked all night."

Elsewhere, the Tennessee River approached flood level but was expected to be held in control by Tennessee Valley Authority dams and spillways. Other rivers were receding.

No Attack on Soviet Vessel, U.S. Declares

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has denied a Soviet charge that three American warships fired on a Soviet trawler last Friday.

Six Navy destroyers fired gunnery exercises in the area—70 miles east of Norfolk, Va.—but the nearest surface ship was 12 miles away, five miles beyond the destroyers' maximum anti-aircraft range, said a statement issued Wednesday night by the State Department.

The surface ship was not identified and a spokesman said he did not know if it was a Soviet vessel.

Formal Reply Prepared

In its protest the Soviet Union said two cruisers and a destroyer fired dummy — nonexplosive — shells near a Soviet ship. This, said Moscow, was "an act of sheer wantonness which could have grave consequences."

Lincoln White, State Department press officer, said he did not know whether the anti-aircraft

Lawmaker From California Found Dead by Spouse

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Clyde Doyle, D-Calif., acting Chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, died unexpectedly in his sleep early today. He was 75.

The veteran Congressman, who was serving his ninth 14-month term, had been active in Congressional work in recent days.

Only last night he and Mrs. Doyle had attended an American Legion banquet.

He was found dead in his bed by Mrs. Doyle at 1:30 a.m.

Doyle represented the 23rd California Congressional district — a portion of Los Angeles county. He was the ranking Democratic member of the House Committee on Un-American Activities and recently had been serving as its acting chairman because of the illness of the Chairman, Rep. Francis E. Walter, D-Pa. He also was a ranking member of the House Armed Services Committee.

Asides of the Congressman said he had led a fight recently against abolition of the committee on Un-American activities, and that he also had been active in consideration of the armed services budget.

He wrote bills in several sessions of Congress to outlaw the Communist party.

Results of Poll

U. S. Foreign Policy Supported Abroad but Soviets Also Gaining

BY LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The popularity of U.S. foreign policy has hit a record high among West Europeans but the Soviets have scored striking gains too, according to a new U.S. Information Agency poll.

The recent rise in pro-Soviet sentiment was attributed to "the avoidance of war over Cuba," which many in Europe attribute more to Soviet moderation than to U.S. strength.

Public Favours U.S.

The USA survey of opinion in four major European nations, dated last month and still classified as confidential, reported that America still runs well ahead of the Soviet Union in popular opinion.

It also said: 1. Confidence in U.S. leadership showed record gains in Britain and West Germany, but dropped some in France where President Charles de Gaulle is "so dramatic locality at odds" with President Kennedy.

2. Frenchmen nonetheless continue to hold the United States in high esteem, although De Gaulle's drive for "independence" from America is making some headway and predominant French opinion favors non-alignment with either Washington or Moscow.

Findings of USA polls were the basis of contentions by Kennedy in his 1960 presidential campaign that U.S. prestige abroad had slumped during the Eisenhower years.

Last month USA agreed to make public its surveys after they at least one to two years old. Its stated reason for the delay was to avoid damage to U.S. foreign relations by publicizing current studies. Under present USA policy, last month's poll would not be released before 1965.

The new survey said USA researchers would shortly prepare a special memorandum from the

Decline in France

The report's first conclusion from preliminary returns on European polls was that "favorable impressions of U.S. foreign policies now stand at the highest point registered in Measurements on this index extending back to 1936."

"On confidence in the ability of the U.S. to provide leadership for the West in dealing with present world problems," the February 1963 responses ranged from a plus 68 per cent net favorable in Germany to 10 per cent in Britain and a minus 10 per cent in France. The figures all represented gains over May 1960 except in France, where the decline was described as "limited."

As for West European opinion of the Soviets, the survey said "The marked gains in pro-U.S. feeling in the West since 1960 are

County Board Adopts Surplus Food Plan

Welfare Head Calls Town of Oneida 'Distressed Area'

Outagamie County's Town of Oneida was described Tuesday as a "distressed area" and in need of immediate help.

Making the statement was Alfred R. Eggert, director of Outagamie County's welfare department, who spoke in support of the county accepting the state's surplus commodity program. The county board Tuesday approved the program and will spend $15,000 this year to administer it.

Eggert said the surplus commodity program which would provide foodstuffs to needy people will get underway as soon as personnel and space are provided in his department for the program. Several Outagamie County board committees are looking into the space and personnel problem now, he said.

Town of Oneida Supv. Norman Austin agreed with Eggert that his area should be considered "distressed" and in need of help. Austin said employment is low in the area and that most young people are out of work.

Can't Get Jobs

"The older people here have more work than the young men," Austin said. "The young men are untrained and uneducated and cannot get good jobs."

Some work for Town of Oneida people is provided in Green Bay and Kaukauna. There is no industry in the township. Several family farms hire one or two men during the summers, but no more, Austin said.

Eggert said this winter has been the lowest employment level for the Town of Oneida. He said even seasonal work which the area depends upon during the spring and summer is falling off.

There are many large families in the township, Eggert said. The average family consists of four children, but families with as many as 10 or 12 children are not unusual. The average family

Post-Crescent Tours Historymobile II Will be On Exhibit for Three Days

The story of Wisconsin's newspapers will be brought to life for the people of Appleton when the State Historical Society's Historymobile II pays a visit here Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The mobile display, featuring "Newspapers Make History, 1833-1962," will be parked at the rear of the Post-Crescent building in the area bounded by Franklin and Superior streets.

Complementing the historical exhibit will be an invitation to see a daily newspaper in action, with arrangements made for tours of the Post-Crescent plant for students on Friday and for the public on Saturday.

The mobile exhibit will be open to the public free of charge from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Saturday and from noon to 7 p.m. on Sunday. Friday will be "Student Day" in order to give pupils of all ages ample opportunity to view the exhibit. Friday hours for the Historymobile will be 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

During the hours of 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday, junior and senior high school students are invited to tour the Post-Crescent plant. The general public is invited to tour the Post-Crescent on Saturday during the hours the Historymobile is open.

in the county is 3.2 people, Eggert said.

Austin said about 2,550 people live in the Town of Oneida. Some are on Indian relief, some receive old age assistance and social security and others receive ADC (Aid to Dependent Children) relief. Eggert said the ADC relief in the town is fewer than 50 families.

"We should have had some commodity surplus program here several years ago, Austin said. He said he had urged the county to participate in the program in other years.

Some families which earn less than $300 per month and consist of seven members or more will be eligible for the surplus commodities. They will receive butter, dry milk, cheese, beans, rice, corn meal, wheat flour, chopped meat and lard shortening. Eggert said the purpose of the program is to encourage receivers to improve their diet.

Eggert said throughout the county about 700 families will be eligible during the first month of operation. By next fall, he said, over 1,000 families will receive the commodities.

cal Society exhibit will be open, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

The Historymobile will move from Appleton to Neenah-Menasha, where it will be located near the Twin City News-Record on Monday and Tuesday.

The exhibit depicts the growth and development of the newspaper industry in Wisconsin from territorial days to the present. Visitors will progress from the scene of an early-day printing shop to a graphic explanation of present day multi-color newspaper printing.

Woman Injured in Forest Junction Auto Accident

CHILTON — A Neenah woman was injured as a result of a two-car crash about 4:47 p. m. Sunday a mile west of Forest Junction on U. S. 10, a Calumet County police accident report filed here late Monday shows.

She was Mrs. Perry S. Thiessen, 45, 313 Quarry Lane, Neenah, and the report lists neck and leg injuries. Mrs. Thiessen was an occupant of a parked car when the vehicle was struck from behind by a car driven by Eugene D. Laska, 32, Brillion Hotel, Brillion.

Thiessen told police he was weathered on the highway when his car had a flat tire. He pulled to the shoulder, stepped out to inspect the tire when his car was hit from behind. Laska said he was blinded by the setting sun and thought the Thiessen car was moving.

The impact sent the Thiessen car hurtling forward for 91 feet. Laska's car skidded 188 feet before the collision and went into the left ditch.

New London OKs Teaching Contract

School Board Member Questions Salary Offered by Superintendent

NEW LONDON — Board members approved a teaching contract for Miss Fay Royan, 1415 Bartell Drive, Appleton, to replace Mrs. Kathryn Bruhn as elementary music instructor.

Miss Royan was hired at a starting salary of $4,700, which was questioned by Mrs. Marion Markman, board member. Mrs. Markman said she couldn't recall the board had approved the new salary schedule. A starting salary of $4,700 is what the new schedule calls for. The old salary schedule has a starting rate of $4,400. Supt. Lloyd Qualley told the board he

Minow Backs Newspaper-TV Cross-Control

Joint Ownerships Sometimes in Public Interest, He States

WASHINGTON (AP) — Newton H. Minow, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, said Wednesday cross-ownership of newspapers and television stations in some instances is in the public interest.

This occurs, he said, when such ownership strengthens the financial position of a newspaper that might otherwise have a hard time staying in business.

A recent informal study by the commission's staff, he said, indicated that almost every newspaper that has ceased publication in recent years has been without any radio or television affiliations.

He gave it as his personal view that the study "strongly suggests that the newspaper publishers who do not have an interest in television are presently subject to a significant competitive disadvantage."

Minow said he hopes as new television channels become available through the opening up of ultra-high-frequency stations some of them will be assigned to newspaper publishers who do not now own stations.

Concentration Dangerous
But, on the other hand, Minow said, concentrated ownership of newspapers and television stations can lead to serious abuses.

He said the FCC is currently investigating complaints of unfair competition stemming from joint newspaper-TV ownership.

The complaints come from Mobile, Ala., Worcester, Mass., and "upstate New York," he said. He gave no further details.

"There is no indication these things occur on a wide scale," he said, "but there are some, and we are pursuing them very deeply."

Minow was the first witness at hearings aimed at finding out the causes for the declining number of newspapers in the United States. The hearings are scheduled to run for more than a month, and will comprise the most intensive study Congress has ever made of the news media.

Large Chains Mentioned
Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., who opened the hearings by declaring a deep concern for preserving newspaper competition and a free press, said three newspaper chains control 45 daily papers, 25 magazines, 10 radio-AM stations, 7 radio-FM stations, 12 television stations, two photograph services and News-Feature syndicates.

"Do you think such concentration of news media is significant?" he asked Minow.

"It is more than significant," Minow replied. "It could be very dangerous."

Most of the specific cases the subcommittee wanted to talk about turned out to be still pending before the FCC, and Minow declined to discuss them. Generally, he said, a practice that arises where a newspaper and television station are jointly owned is the discounting of advertising rates to an advertiser who uses both mediums.

Minow commented to the subcommittee that the rapid growth of television as a competitor for the advertising dollar has probably contributed to the decline of many newspapers.

Although newspapers and television, in competition, tend to broaden the news coverage available to the public, he said, "broadcasting cannot wholly substitute for the newspapers it may displace."

New London Police Take Appleton Course

NEW LONDON — Members of the New London Police Department are attending police school at Appleton. The school is conducted by members of the FBI, and members of the Appleton and Menasha police forces.

The weekly sessions consist of accident investigation, accident reporting, crime investigating, searching the scene of a crime, and many other police subjects.

New London's Pear Street took on a barren look Wednesday as workmen cut down the large elm tree a few feet from the doorway of Wally's Barbershop. The tree was estimated to be more than 100 years old and five feet across the butt. This picture was made Wednesday afternoon just before workmen got their equipment ready to bring the giant down. Leukemia Claims Hilbert Girl HILBERT — Miss Diane Woelfel, a 17-year-old Hilbert High School senior, died of leukemia about 3:10 a.m. Wednesday at University Hospital, Madison. She had been ill since May.

Miss Woelfel was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Woelfel, route 1, Hilbert. She was born at Fond du Lac, Aug. 17, 1945. Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Saturday at St. Mary Catholic Church here, with burial in the church cemetery. Friends may call after 3 p.m. Friday at the Kapitzke Funeral Home, Hilbert.

Survivors include the parents, eight sisters, three brothers and the paternal grandparents.

County GOP Split May be Reopened

Leon Jensen After Party Chief Job; Seen as Effort to Change Control

An old split in the Outagamie County Republican Party probably will be re-opened at the county caucus Thursday night.

Leon Jensen, route 2, Hortonville, an attorney, announced today he is a candidate for party chairman. Leonard E. Pasek, Appleton, is not seeking re-election.

John Conway, Appleton hotel operator, is the choice selected by the party nominating committee and approved by the executive committee.

Large Turnout
The caucus, which begins at 7:30 p.m. at Conway Hotel, is expected to draw a large turnout. Party stalwarts regard the Jensen candidacy as an attempt to take control from the group, which has directed Outagamie County Republican affairs for years. The in-party feud has erupted several times in the last decade, but usually has been resolved, with the party stalwarts still in control.

In addition to Conway, the nominating committee will present the following slate of officers, unanimously approved by the committee and the executive committee:

Mrs. Talbot Peterson, vice chairman.
Henry Scheig, secretary.
Max Hensel, treasurer.
Mrs. Orville Marnacha, Seymour.
Mrs. Melvin Bunnow, Kumbria.

Chilton Scouts Will Sponsor Annual Smelt Fry
CHILTON — The annual Boy Scout smelt fry will be sponsored again by the Chilton Scouts. It was decided at a weekend meeting of the Chilton Boy Scout committee and the Scout committee of the Kiwanis Club. No date has been selected with the last week in April tentatively picked.

Proceeds of the event will be used to finance the Scout activities for the coming year. All of the proceeds will be kept in the Scout treasury with some designated to partially defray the cost of camping at Rokiho.

The Scouts again will help as they did last year with the serving while the food preparation will be handled by parents, adult leaders and committeemen.

The fry last year netted about $400.

Former Chilton City Clerk Dies

CHILTON — Former Chilton city clerk, Otto A. Horst, 83, died about 8:30 p.m. Monday at a De Pere nursing home where he had been a resident for the past four years.

Horst was born May 15, 1879, in the Town of Charlestown. He served as city clerk for 17 years, from 1932 to 1949.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Pfeiffer Funeral Home here with burial in the Union Cemetery, Town of Charlestown.

Survivors include a daughter, two step-daughters, seven grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

Calumet Home for Aged Gets Good Report by State Agency

Teachers Ask Revamping of Pay Schedule

Claim Clintonville Plan Provides No Degree Incentive

CLINTONVILLE — The Clintonville board of education Tuesday heard a plea from Teachers' Association representatives for reconsideration of the pay schedule adopted last month.

The representatives asked for a compromise plan in which bachelor degree teachers would start at $4,600 and go to a maximum of $6,550, and master degree teachers would start at $4,900 and go to $7,240.

The board adopted a schedule which would start bachelor degree teachers at $4,600, which is $100 more than last year, with a maximum in 15 years of $6,480. Master degree teachers would start at $4,900, which is $100 more than last year, and will have a maximum of $7,140 in 17 years experience.

Raise Maximum
The Teachers' Association representatives claimed that the original board adoption reduced the differential between bachelor and master degree teachers to the point where it was questioned whether there was any financial advantage in making the sacrifices necessary to obtain a higher degree. The board altered the original adoption by raising the maximum $80.

The Clintonville Teachers' association at its last meeting rejected the first proposal claiming that it was below average for schools of this area and size.

Surprise to be Tried June 11 In Baby's Death

Gary P. Surprise, 22, route 1, Kaukauna, pleaded innocent Tuesday of homicide by reckless conduct in the death of his four-month-old son, Scott, Feb. 15. He will be tried before a jury June 11.

Surprise was returned to jail after his brief court appearance. He is being held in lieu of payment of a $5,000 bond.

Scott died of a sub-dural hemorrhage (head injury), Feb. 15 and an autopsy showed bruises and scratches on the baby's body. Surprise told Sheriff Calvin Speck he slapped the baby when it began fussing in his crib the night of Feb. 14. Surprise has been held in jail since Feb. 27.

Too Much Danger

Giant Landmark Elm Cut at New London

NEW LONDON — Nature gave way to progress Wednesday when the large elm tree in front of Wally's barbershop on S. Pearl St. came down.

The tree, which was over five feet across the butt and 164 inches in circumference, was a sapling when settlers came to the spot on the Wolf River now called New London.

Before being toppled by chainsaws it lowered nearly 100 feet in the air. The mighty trunk stood just a few feet from the door of the barbershop and had been classed as a landmark of the city's south side.

Walter Schwartzkopf said it became necessary to have the tree removed when the threat of falling limbs became an ever increasing danger. Cost of insurance on the tree alone amounted to a considerable amount each year, he said. Last year one of the large overhanging limbs had to be cut.

For 31 years before the building became a barbershop, the elm marked the location of the Elm Tree Shoe Repair Shop that was operated by the late Albert Marzinszik.

When word got out that the tree would be cut down, citizens stopped in the shop and asked not to have the tree cut. Among them were a representative of a workman's organization and the editor of the local newspaper.

"During a heavy wind I will be able to rest easier," Wally said "without the thought of having the tree or one of its large branches come crashing down."

For several hours this morning traffic had to be rerouted in the one block of S. Pearl St. while workmen from the Don Larson Tree Service dealt the monster elm its fatal blows.

Institution Operating at Full Capacity With Long Waiting List

CHILTON — Calumet Homestead, the county's home for the aged at New Holstein, is operating at full capacity with a long waiting list but the situation apparently hasn't affected the Homestead's efficiency.

A state department of public welfare inspection report, accepted Tuesday by the county board, failed to note a single recommendation or criticism of the operation.

Total capacity at the time of the Jan. 29 inspection was 53, the same as the occupancy. Medical care given residents met standards Dr. F. P. Larme, New Holstein physician, visits the Homestead three times a week and is on call at any time for an emergency.

Special Care
Two of the patients it was noted, required intensive medical care, 10 were incontinent and six required special care for feeding. In all, 19 were served with trays. Aside from the regular visits by the physician, the Homestead has a staff nurse.

Residents requiring minimal medical care are assessed $100 for the service. Those demanding moderate care are assessed $125 and the rate for maximum care patients is $150. Rates are the same for welfare and private paying residents.

The rehabilitation program includes exercise for residents twice weekly but lacks inservice education. The latter was the closest the report came to a criticism.

Food Service
In the food service department, inspectors found all equipment and facilities to be clean. A chef and

Brillion JCs Present Calf To FFA Youth

BRILLION — The Brillion Junior Chamber of Commerce Thursday awarded a purebred calf to Wesley Hedrich, route 2, Brillion, a sophomore at Brillion High School.

In order to qualify for the award, a boy must be an FFA member. The winner is selected on the basis of his over-all interest in farming and his co-operation in past work in farming programs. The actual judging is done by a committee of FFA boys from Brillion High School.

Dave Wothie, Brillion High School vocational agriculture instructor, spoke at the meeting. The Jaycee state bowling tournament will be April 20 and 21 at Burlington. The Brillion Jaycees plan to send a team. Gene Buboltz is in charge.

Carl Miller announced the annual spring party is tentatively scheduled April 27 at New Holstein.

Father of 10 Killed When Tractor Upsets
WINNECONNE (AP) — A father of 10 children was killed Tuesday when he was crushed beneath an overturned tractor.

The victim, 51-year-old Sylvester H. Nett, was working on the Herbert Helm farm near Winneconne, when the accident occurred.

Coroner Arthur Miller said Nett was hauling a manure spreader which became stuck in the mud. Nett unhooked the spreader, managed to free it and was backing the tractor to connect it to the spreader when the tractor overturned.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Friday at Sacred Heart Catholic Church, Sherwood, with burial in the parish cemetery. Friends may call at the Kapitzke Funeral Home, Hilbert, after 2 p.m. Thursday.

In addition to his wife and 10 children, he is survived by three sisters, three brothers and 16 grandchildren.

Calumet County Agent Talks to Men's Club

BRILLION — Orrin Meyer, Calumet County agricultural agent, spoke at the Thursday meeting of the Men's Club of Brillion Methodist Church.

Program chairmen were Roy Bastian and Chester Tamm. Wesley Tamm and Clarence Reichardt were in charge of the social hour.

Tom Halverson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Halverson, 216 State St., Waupaca, was elected to reign as king of the Waupaca High School junior prom. "Jaime Paris," April 19. He has selected Judy Mittelstaedt to reign as queen. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Catholic Retreat Set For Calumet Students

Hundreds Are Expected to Attend Event at St. Mary Church Sunday

CHILTON — Several hundred high school students from all areas of Calumet County are expected to attend the first county-wide retreat for that age group Sunday at St. Mary Catholic Church here.

Sponsored by the Calumet Council 2536, Knights of Columbus, the event will begin with a 9:30 a.m. high mass and will conclude at 4 p.m. with the papal blessing and benediction.

The Rev. John Feeney, assistant pastor of St. Theresa Church, Appleton, will serve as retreat master. Assisting him will be the Rev. Henry Schmitt and the Rev. Duane Drenne, pastor and assistant, respectively, at the host church.

After the mass, breakfast will be served to the communicants in the church hall. The first conference in the school hall, is scheduled to get underway at 10:40 a.m. A second general conference will be able to make necessary arrangements. However, for those who are uncertain of their ability to attend, tickets will be available as late as Sunday morning. The $1.25 fee is to defray the cost of the food.

Lunch Hour
While the girls attending the retreat have lunch in the church hall, a conference for boys will be in the school hall.

The committee has asked that reservations be completed by Friday so those in charge of preparing the breakfast and noon lunch will be able to make necessary arrangements.

Survivors include a daughter, two step-daughters, seven grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

Clintonville High School basketball squad was escorted by fire trucks and police cars Wednesday when it flew to the state tournament at Madison. Nearly 1,000 townsfolk were on hand to wish the boys luck. The pep band played during the ceremonies. The mayor and Association of Commerce wished the players luck for the city. (Laib Photo)

The Big Day for the Fox River Valley Sons of Erin is coming up again, and they are making plans for the 18th annual Irishmen's party on St. Patrick's Day, Sunday, at the Menasha Hotel. The party will include dinner, entertainment, and "Irish disturbances." Planning the party are, from left, Emmet Rohan, Kaukauna, social chairman, Eugene Garvey, Appleton, president; Daniel Burns, Kaukauna, vice president; David Flanagan, Kaukauna, director, and Joseph F. GOP Leader Says No Split in County

Harve Wolfe Attacks Jensen Faction in Outagamie Party

A spokesman for the Outagamie County Republican Party today questioned a reported "split" in the party ranks and lashed at the candidacy of Leon Jensen, 30, route 2, Hortonville, for party chairman.

Harve Wolfe, Appleton statutory committee chairman, said, "There is no apparent split that I know of. There is discussion, certainly, as to various candidates, but the fact that Mr. Jensen is trying to promote a split to improve his own situation makes me wonder about the reasons behind his desire to be county chairman. . . It makes me wonder who the several Republicans urging him to run are and what their real reasons are."

The Republicans will hold their county caucus at 7:30 p.m. today at the Conway Hotel. John Conway has been nominated by the nominating committee for chairman. Leonard E. Pasek, present chairman, does not intend to seek re-election.

'New Leadership'

Jensen announced his candidacy Tuesday and said the party needs "new leadership" and that projects and policy should be "made at the grass roots level, not on the executive level."

"Why does he (Jensen) want to overthrow the party stalwarts?" Wolfe asked. "... on the slate of candidates proposed by the nominating committee, all but one represents new leadership."

"He (Jensen) is defying the fundamentals of good management," Wolfe charged. "A political organization is no different than a business. Here, our profits are votes. Policy cannot be made at the grass roots level. It can be carried out there. Policy and the initiation of policy must be made at the executive level and controlled by the county chairman."

Wolfe, who backs Conway, questioned Jensen's "grasp of leadership" technique. He noted that Conway "has devoted years of time and energy to learning how a political party operates."

Eleventh Hour

In a statement released today, Conway said, "I believe in the democratic process of free elections in party leadership as well as in the people's right to elect their representatives."

Faith Lutheran to Have Lenten Service

Faith Lutheran Church will have midweek Lenten services at 7:30 p.m. today. The Rev. H. E. Simon, pastor, will preach on "What Must I Do to Be Saved," and the senior choir will sing.

The Lenten services today at Zion Lutheran Church will be at 7 p.m., not at 7:30 p.m. as reported Wednesday. Services are conducted each week during Lent at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday and 7 p.m. Thursday.

Home Parade Will Show Nine Model Houses

Display to be Open For Week, Starting Saturday Afternoon

Nine model homes, representing the latest developments in design and technical refinements, will be opened to public inspection this week-end as the Valley Home Builders Association presents its 1963 Parade of Homes.

This year's parade will open at 1 p.m. Saturday, and continue through the following week - end. Hours of inspection are from 1 to 9 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday, and from 6 to 9 p.m. on week-days.

The new homes — two Colonials, two split-levels and five ranch-style dwellings — have been constructed on Crestview plat, off the 2300 block of E. Newberry Street. Both ravine and river lots are featured on the plat, which was developed by the Garvey Agency, Henry Hendricks and Merle G. Wendt.

Builders Listed

Builders taking part in the show are Hendricks, who is chairman of the 1963 parade; Wendt, Leon Fischer; Milton Fischer; Fox Valley Builders, Inc.; Chester J. eliers; B & B Construction Co.; Antone J. Kuba, and the Sterling Construction Co.

A brochure of the new homes will again be given out this year. Eight thousand adults viewed and examined the seven furnished model homes on display at the 1962 Parade. An even larger crowd is expected this year.

The sponsoring organization was formed in September, 1957, and is affiliated with the Wisconsin Builders Association, Madison.

Bills Would Permit Zoning At Highway Interchanges

MADISON (AP)—Bills authorizing the State Highway Commission to zone traffic interchanges on Interstate and state trunk highways were recommended for passage Wednesday by the Assembly Highways Committee.

Douglas Haist of the State Highway Department told the committee the bills would authorize such zoning within a radius of one mile of the intersections, providing local zoning was lacking.

Zoning would cover land use and regulate building in the area, he said.

Eugene Williams, an Oshkosh attorney, was the only opponent of the measure.

"It's the mile radius I object to," Williams said. "Government has the right to take, but it shouldn't take more than it needs."

A bill authorizing state participation in an interstate compact for exchange of information on driving convictions was criticized by the American Automobile Association (AAA) and the Automotive Trades Association.

Larry Teich, representing the AAA, said there is no uniformity among states on enforcement, judicial interpretation or penalties in traffic laws.

Louis Milan of the Automotive Trades Association said the compact would "put a lot of unjustifiable marks on drivers' records."

But Assemblyman William Steiger, R-Oshkosh, author of the proposal, said the compact "would make suspension and revocation of drivers' licenses effective."

Now, he said, some drivers are licensed in several states and if they lose one they will have another license.

"This legislation would make a driver's entire record known in his home state as well as other states," he said.

NLRB Examiner Hears Testimony On Union Requests

Ruling Required Before Vote on Post-Crescent Representation

A National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) examiner conducted a three hour hearing Wednesday regarding union representation requests which involve production workers at the Appleton Post-Crescent.

The employees of the newspaper, which is owned and operated by the Post Publishing Co., have been represented by the Post-Crescent Craftman's Union, an independent union, since 1921.

The hearing, conducted in a conference room at the city hall by Hymen Bear of the Chicago NLRB office, was procedural and a requisite prior to the setting of a date for a representation election as required by federal law.

Before Examiner

Before the NLRB examiner were:

A petition of the Post Publishing Co., also signed by officers of the Post-Crescent Craftman's Union, to have the latter listed on the ballot to be the representative or collective bargaining agent for all production employees at the newspaper.

Also, the petition of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' Union of North America, which is pressing its bid to be the representative of the newspaper's pressmen, stereotypers and apprentices — totaling 17 employees.

All employees, including pressmen, stereotypers and apprentices, presently belong to the Post-Crescent Craftman's Union.

The unions and the company previously submitted petitions to the NLRB requesting the representation election be held.

Raymond Bohlig, St. Louis Park, Minn., representing the pressmen's International union, and Gilbert J. Niesen, Racine, business representative of the Wisconsin District Joint Council of Pressmen's Unions, contended the pressmen, stereotypers and apprentices at the Post-Crescent should be designated as one work unit, separate of the other production departments.

Atty. Victor Harding, Milwaukee, representing the company, claimed all production workers could belong to the one union and emphasized the pressmen and stereotypers were flexible in that they had interchangeable duties and assignments. On behalf of the company, he objected to breaking up production employees into separate work units.

Registered Objection

J. Joseph Cummings, Appleton attorney, represented the Post-Crescent Craftman's Union, an intervening party, in the proceedings before the NLRB examiner, and registered objection to the request to designate workers in the pressroom as a separate work unit.

Two area representatives of the International Typographical Union (ITU) also sat in on the proceedings as observers but did not participate in the hearing.

Only witnesses called to give testimony were Sylvester Kneepkens, Kaukauna, president of the Post-Crescent Craftman's Union, and Henry G. Starck, 1530 W. Prospect Ave., the newspaper's production manager.

The NLRB examiner informed representatives of the pressmen's

400 to be Employed at New California Facility Which Will Make Printing Papers

NEENAH — Kimberly-Clark Corp. announced today construction will start immediately on a multimillion dollar pulp and paper mill at Anderson, Calif., site of its Shasta Division.

Completion is scheduled for November, 1964.

The new integrated facility will manufacture printing papers for the expanding needs of western states. The supporting pulp mill will have a daily capacity to produce 150 tons of several grades of bleached kraft pulp. The paper mill has a designed normal capacity for 64,000 tons.

Build Near Markets

John R. Kimberly, board chairman, said, "The decision to proceed with the project is a part of a long held corporate policy to build plants near markets for better customer service and value and, therefore, Kimberly-Clark must have printing paper manufacturing facilities in the western market."

The new plant is centered in an area where Kimberly-Clark has saw mills and 325,000 acres of forest lands so that it will be possible to more completely utilize the complete timber resources by the use of waste wood in the pulp mill.

Initial employment is estimated at 400, with a payroll of about $3 million annually.

Better Rooming Conditions Being Sought

Health Board to Work With Other Appleton Groups

A move to improve safety and sanitary conditions in Appleton rooming houses was initiated Wednesday by the Appleton Board of Health, following an inspection of several rooming houses by the city sanitarian and the Appleton fire department.

The Board of Health decided to work cooperatively with the fire and police departments and building inspectors to inspect rooming houses and seek improved conditions where necessary.

These same units may decide later to work cooperatively on formulation of a rooming house code, Dr. Marvin Kagen, city health commissioner, said after the meeting.

Lack Sanitation

City Sanitarian William Moldenhauer conducted the inspection of four rooming houses in cooperation with the Appleton fire department. His report to the board of health stated "the inspections disclose a very definite lack of awareness of the owners, managers and occupants, as to basic safety and sanitation."

He recommends that in the absence of licensing of rooming houses or apartment buildings in Appleton, corrective measures should be undertaken under terms of the State Industrial Code.

He reported finding uncovered rubbish cans; basements, hallways, stair landings and rooms filled with papers and various types of junk; basements and communal toilets in need of cleaning; broken stairs; ceilings, walls and floors in need of repair, and outdated fire extinguishers.

Dr. Joseph L. Benton, who presided at the meeting, said these buildings should be condemned if they aren't kept clean.

3 Meetings Today On Milk Production

OSHKOSH — Quality milk production meetings were held this afternoon at Winneconne and Omro and will be held at 8 p.m. today at the Oshkosh City Hall annex for farmers, dairy plant operators, veterinarians and milk machine servicemen.

Speaking at the meetings are James W. Crowley, extension dairyman, and L. A. Brooks, extension agricultural engineer, both of the University of Wisconsin, and Robert Williams, of the state department of agriculture's marketing division.

They will discuss the 1963 milk markets, milking machines and milking techniques for producing a better quality product and advancing the milk quality.

Another Meeting

However, Schaefer said another meeting will be held at an undetermined date to explore the problem further. Asked if they had arrived at any decision, Schaefer said nothing was determined.

Conviction of a firm violating the state law in regard to contract terms calls for a penalty of $500 for each offense, a jail term of 30 to 100 days, or both.

The two workers who claim they were underpaid by Geiger have estimated they have about $900 coming.

In addition to the allegation that the Geiger firm violated its contract with the city in regard to the wage agreement, Schlieve claims the firm also sub-contracted some of the work which, if proven, is also a violation of the law.

The board's action earlier in the week in denying the hearing was by a 6 to 2 vote. It took the position the issue was between the workers and the contractor, with the burden on the former to go to court.

60 Days in Jail

OSHKOSH — Walter Warczak, 60, Milwaukee, was sentenced to 60 days in Winnebago County jail this morning by County Judge James V. Sitter after Warczak pleaded guilty of petty larceny. He was charged with taking two clocks worth $10.98 from an Oshkosh store.

Historymobile In Appleton For 3 Days

Historymobile II, featuring an extensive exhibit of Wisconsin Newspapers, will be in Appleton on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The mobile display of the State Historical Society will be parked at the rear of the Post-Crescent building in the area bounded by Franklin and Superior streets. It will be open to the public free of charge from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday and from noon to 7 p.m. Sunday.

Friday will be "Student Day," with the exhibit open from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Visitors to the historical exhibit, entitled "Newspapers Make History, 1833-1962," will also have an opportunity to see a daily newspaper in action, in special tours of the Post-Crescent. Tours have been arranged for students from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday and for the general public from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday.

Churchill Spent Early Life Alone

Winston Lived in Private Schools.
Until He Entered Cavalry at 21

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill, aggressive and so self-confident he can compose a book by dictating it, had a lonely life while growing up. Perhaps it was this loneliness that shaped and strengthened him.

It may explain to some degree why, in a hunt for recognition and identity, he asserted himself so belligerently the rest of his life, even when it meant making mortal enemies in his own England. But he was also a romantic and remained one. It was no wonder when he was nine and his father gave him Stevenson's "Treasure Island" to read he "devoured it with delight."

Second of Series

Ever since he has been a kind of young Jim Hawkins fighting for the treasure against the Long John Silvers of the world. The villains varied but the treasure never did. It was always the good of England, as he saw it.

Boarding Schools

His parents, Lord Randolph Churchill and his mother, Jennie Jerome of New York, shipped him off to boarding school when he was seven. He stayed in schools, one after another, until he went into the cavalry at 21.

He himself says his nurse, a fat and elderly lady named Mrs. Everest, was his "dearest and most intimate friend" during the years of his growing up. He stayed with her when she was dying. His father he worshipped but hardly knew.

Churchill was 21 when his father died. In those 21 years Lord Randolph, a self-centered man and a failure in British politics, had perhaps not as many as six extended conversations with his son, not as much as one weekend of talking.

And Churchill didn't get to know his mother well until after his father's death. But a turning point came in his life one day when he was 12, playing with his 1,500 lead soldiers on a big table in his room.

For 20 minutes his father watched with a smile and, still smiling, suggested he go into the army when he grew up. Churchill did. He thought at the time his father had visions of military splendor for him.

Real Reason

Later, from some one else, Churchill learned his father's real reason for suggesting the army. Lord Randolph thought his son was too stupid to be a lawyer and even wondered if he could make his way in England at all.

He wasn't the only one who thought Churchill stupid. He was at the bottom of his class in school. He couldn't learn Latin, Greek or mathematics. He could learn only what interested him, he said, and they didn't.

Even when he got out of military school he had to go into the cavalry because his marks weren't good enough for the infantry. For anyone like him a university was unthinkable.

Yet, somehow he developed a love for the English language, which returned his affection. In addition, he had those two priceless commodities of genius: A prodigious memory and unbelievable energy.

Lowest Boy

When he was the lowest boy in the lowest class at Harrow he won a prize open to the whole school by reciting 1,200 lines of Macaulay's Lays of Ancient Rome without, as he says, "making a single mistake."

The energy persisted into his old age. While President Franklin D. Roosevelt died at 63, worn out, Churchill didn't become Britain's prime minister and war leader until he was 65. He set a blinding pace for five years and then, at 70, became prime minister again.

From being the low boy in school he went on to write more than 30 books, including histories of both world wars, win a Nobel Prize for literature, and become both the greatest orator of the century and one of the great figures of history.

But it was a long struggle, disheartening for long stretches, which seemed to reveal the scars of loneliness.

He wasn't popular in school, in society, or in the army because he was too brash, often too brassy, too free with advice and criticism. In the army he annoyed the general and was called a "medal-hunter" and "self-advertiser."

It was the same in British politics. Virginia Cowles, who has written an excellent biography of Churchill, said of his long career in Parliament: "No man has been more bitterly hated in his time."

He chopped his opponents to hash. He defied his political leaders and popular opinion. He was always talking—opinions, advice, criticism—and never shut up.

He irritated his own Conservative party so much there were times when he got up to talk that the Conservatives walked out.

Yet, in the moments of his country's greatest crisis it was his voice—Harry Hopkins, Roosevelt's right-hand man, called it a "mushy" voice—the British people most wanted to hear.

He said all the things—like "In defeat, defiance"—they felt but couldn't express. He himself explained it later: "It was the nation that had the lion's heart. I had the luck to be called on to give the roar."

Special Highway Preserves Sights In Puerto Rico

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—To get people away from the noise and tensions Puerto Rico is designing La Ruta—the route. It will be for Puerto Ricans and tourists who want to find peace of mind and soul, says Hunter Randolph, landscape architect who has mapped a route stretching 180 miles through Puerto Rico's central mountains. The route avoids towns. Along the way will be 11 old world taverns for the wayfarer, Randolph wants the taverns rustic with no modern furnishing save bedding in the mountains in 1960. He asked Randolph to make the survey. La Ruta is part of an island-wide effort to help Puerto Ricans preserve their identity in a changing world.

Thursday, March 14, 1963 Appleton Post-Crescent A5

This will keep the cost of the project low—no heavy expenditures for modern highways. Gov. Luis Munoz Marin conceived La Ruta while campaigning in the mountains in 1960. He asked Randolph to make the survey. La Ruta is part of an island-wide effort to help Puerto Ricans preserve their identity in a changing world.

"Newspapers feel the session should be open from start to finish," he said. Randolph A. Haase, editor of the Twin City News-Record of Neenah-Menasha, opposed the bill on the basis of public tax money being involved and the need for completely open hearings in any such matters. He pointed out the City of Menasha recently completed a labor contract with its municipal union under completely open negotiations, although the labor bargaining agent originally had asked for closed sessions. Following the signing, both sides indicated having the meetings open to the press and the public had not particularly hampered or hindered negotiations. He also presented a statement from Richard J. Steffens, Menasha city attorney, who emphasized the difference between private and governmental unions and the effect the latter have on the tax rate in any labor agreement.

Ed Johnson, representing the municipalities, opposed the measure because public negotiations are "not too important."

"If the veil of secrecy is allowed it should be when the governing body is preparing its offer to the employees," Johnson said. John Lawton, Madison attorney for various state and local government employees, declared that bargaining on wages, hours and working conditions "just cannot be carried on in the open." He pointed out that secret government sessions are permitted for bargaining in contracts for the sale and purchase of goods.

Arvid Anderson, a Wisconsin Employment Relations Board member, said, "moves for a compromise are seriously inhibited if the press is present. The board is not in favor of secrecy in public business—the public does have a right to know—but that's not what is involved here."

Give and Take

Anderson said he favored the bill as an individual, not as a board member.

Sen. Jerris Leonard, R-Milwaukee, author of the measure, said he agreed with Anderson that there must be a "give and take" in bargaining in order for sessions to be successful. This can not be done in presence of the press, he said.

Sen. Reuben La Fave, R-Oconto, a committee member, proposed an amendment to require that the final ballot by a governing body on provisions of a work contract must be by roll call, not voice vote.

State Health Office Asks for More Money

Funds Needed to Beef Up Supervision, Regulation of Hundreds of Nursing Homes

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON—The state department of health has appealed to the legislature for money to beef up its supervision and regulation of hundreds of private Wisconsin nursing homes that are admitting more of the state's elderly persons each year.

Dr. Carl N. Neupert, state health officer, made the appeal as he described the agency's budget request for the next two years, which included a proposal for the employment of 21 new persons. The agency now has 347 persons on its payroll, including many working under federal money grants which have increased in size and numbers in recent times.

500 Nursing Homes

There are now more than 500 nursing homes in the state, currently enrolling more than 16,000 aged residents. The median age of persons applying for admission to such homes is about 80 years.

Historymobile In Appleton For 3 Days

Historymobile II, featuring an extensive exhibit of Wisconsin Newspapers, will be in Appleton on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The mobile display of the State Historical Society will be parked at the rear of the Post-Crescent building in the area bounded by Franklin and Superior streets. It will be open to the public free of charge from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday and from noon to 7 p.m. Sunday.

Friday will be "Student Day," with the exhibit open from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Visitors to the historical exhibit, entitled "Newspapers Make History, 1833-1962," will also have an opportunity to see a daily newspaper in action, in special tours of the Post-Crescent. Tours have been arranged for students from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday and for the general public from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday.

Seymour Livestock

Cattle strong, canners and cutters. 11½-14½; utility, 14-16½; heifers, 14-18½; bulls, 16-19½.

Calves slower, choice to prime, 29-33; good to choice, 25-29; standard to good, 19-24; throw outs, 18 and down.

Hogs, private treaty, no yardage or commission, butchers, 180-240 pounds, 13-13½; hogs, 10½-12½; hogs, 9½-10.

Good dairy and beef type heifer and bull calves up to 15 cents per lb. over veal price depending on weight and conformity up to 37 cents and over.

Priests prefer to feed their elderly residents in bed, because it is easier for them, although it is damaging to the health and welfare of the aged person.

Legal Responsibility

His department is also falling behind in its legal responsibility to inspect local general hospitals, and the small town and rural hospitals especially need regular inspection visits from the state specialists, he admonished.

The need for close state control of the local nursing homes, he warned, will become greater rather than less in the future because there is little reason to hope for an improvement in the supply of nurses who could work in such facilities.

Antarctic Peak Bears Name of Kaukauna Man

KAUKAUNA — Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. Lyle A. McGinnis, 423 W. Eighth St., from the National Science Foundation, Washington, D.C., an Antarctic land peak has been named after their son, Lyle D. McGinnis.

The geographical feature located at 84 degrees 32 minutes south latitude and 178 degrees west longitude was named after McGinnis as he was an assistant seismologist with an International Geophysical Year expedition which visited Antarctica in 1957. McGinnis spent 18 months in the area.

The name was approved by the U. S. Board of Geographical Names. He was a 1949 graduate of Kaukauna High School and after serving a year in the navy graduated from St. Norbert College in 1954. He received a masters degree in geophysics from the University of Missouri, St. Louis.

He currently is employed by the Illinois State Geological Survey and is studying for his doctorate at the University of Illinois. He is married and the father of two children.

Cross Drive Peak This Week

Door-to-Door Solicitation, Envelopes Will be Distributed

The County is mobilizing a force to raise $37,064 in the cross fund drive. Activities are at their peak. Residential solicitation conducted throughout the county this week, and in stock workers will dis-velopes today and pick the Sunday afternoon. The goal is set well above last year's. Of the total raised, 10 percent stays in the county activities of the local chapter, and the rest goes into the national fund.

STON — Rep. Alvin E. R. Mercer, Tuesday with the Federal Communications Commission, asked for a con-ferment to build a TV station at Merrill, on the Wisconsin 32nd Division to active duty. The home service committee reported 4,056 hours of work with 346 cases.

Expenses Detailed

Another major item in the 1962 budget was $1,583 for safety services. Some 1,318 persons from be-ginners through instructors earned certificates in the swim-ming instruction and water safety program of the county Red Cross.

The county chapter ended the 1962 fiscal year with a $64.57 oper-ating deficit. Other expenses in-cluded $7,231 for office and ad-ministration, $16.28 for home nursing, $101.62 for service groups, $107.50 for public infor-mation, $5.40 for Junior Red Cross, $435.23 for campaign expense, $34.38 for disaster and miscel-laneous expense, and $427.64 for capital expenditures.

Total expenses for the 1962 fiscal year were $15,826.32. A total of $14,565 was paid to the national organization, leav-ing $1,261.32 from the 1962 cam-paign for local use. Other income included $333.52 from sale of sup-plies, $703.44 from chapter con-tributions, and $699.29 from interest, for a total income of $15,761.75.

Oshkosh College To Build Dorms For $1.5 Million

Project Will Provide Housing
For About 500 Students by 1964

OSHKOSH — President Roger E. Guiles of Oshkosh State College today announced a $1.5 million dormitory expansion project for the college. Bids will be taken in June to provide two men's dormitories which will house a total of 500 students.

Dr. Guiles met Wednesday afternoon with representatives of the state architect's office to discuss the project.

Ten parcels of property have been secured in the southern half of the block bounded by Elmwood Avenue on the west, Irving Avenue on the south and Cherry Street on the east. The south edge of Capitol Court forms the northern boundary of the property being secured.

Property Options

Options for purchase of this property, which is just north of and across the street from the new Breese Hall dormitory, were secured during the last several weeks. The dormitory construction was authorized last fall by the Board of State College Regents.

Present plans, Dr. Guiles explained, are to erect two separate men's dormitory buildings, each housing about 250 students. These new buildings should be ready by the fall of 1964. The property being secured will allow for construction of only two dormitories plus some lawn and parking space for student residents.

Completion of this project will increase the college dormitory capacity to 2,075 students, he explained.

This is not sufficient to meet the number of students needing housing and there always will be a need for private homes where students may find rooms, the college president stressed.

Women's Dorm

Dr. Guiles also outlined today that for the 1963-64 school year only Donner Hall, now a women's dormitory along High Avenue, will be turned over for housing men students. The new 500-unit Taylor Hall will be opened this fall for housing women students and those now in Donner Hall will be transferred to this new dormitory.

When the two new men's dormitories open in the fall of 1964, Donner Hall will be returned to the housing of women students.

This is the first year, Dr. Guiles pointed out, that the college has not had to use hotels for the housing of students. The college requires that all freshmen students not living at home or with relatives be housed in college dormitories.

Because of the heavy increase in student enrollment in recent years, the college has had to house some of the students in Oshkosh hotels.

About one-third of the student population commutes to the college, either living at home in the Oshkosh area or in communities not too far distant from Oshkosh.

Breese Hall

Last fall a new men's dormitory, Breese Hall, and a new women's dormitory, Donner Hall, each housing about 250 students, were opened for use.

The site being secured for the two new men's dormitories measures about 252 feet along W. Irving Avenue, about 300 feet along Cherry Street and about 302 feet along Elmwood Avenue. Construction costs for the dormitory are handled through the state building corporation and are amortized through payments by the students for their housing. Tax funds are not used to provide the building construction costs, Dr. Guiles mentioned.

Architect for the new dormitories is the firm of Sanstedt, Knoop and Yarbrow of Oshkosh.

Drive to Pare Budget May Cut School Aids

port for the schools would almost surely push upward the rate of local school taxation.

Although the Meunier report contains high explosive in a political way, it was signed by a Democratic member of the committee as well as two other Republicans. The Democrat was George Molinaro of Kenosha, caucus chairman of the Democratic minority in the assembly who would normally be expected to oppose such GOP strategy in the financial tug-of-war with the Democratic state administration. The other signers were Assemblymen Harper of Grant County and Wackett of Jefferson County.

The Rothwell aid budget request was based upon an existing statutory formula, which reflects higher enrollments and higher operating costs in the local schools.

The school lobby is pressing for a liberalization of the formula, which would add some $30,000,000 to the request for this budget period, and Gov. Reynolds has endorsed it and offered a supplementary income tax increase to pay for it.

If the Republicans make good their threatened cutback, the level of state support might be cut about $50,000,000, or to the level of the last two years. That might force an increase in local tax levies of one or more mills in the local districts. The state now bears about a quarter of the cost of operations of the local schools, which Rothwell said is comparatively low among the states of the country and also comparatively low when measured against the state's economic capacity.

County Mental Hospitals Bill Faces Defeat would boost the amount paid by counties for care of patients in state institutions from $5 a week to 50 per cent of the average per capita costs.

Wilbur J. Schmidt, state welfare director, said the state aids would be increased by $2.7 million and the amount paid to the state by counties would be increased $2.4 million.

Praises Measure
Schmidt emphasized that the net increased cost to the state would thus be $303,000.

On his part, Thelen emphasized that county costs would go up $2.4 million.

"I think this bill is a good one because it would make treatment centers of the county institutions," Thelen said, "but making state institutions out of county hospitals, as this bill does, should not be financed out of the property tax."

"You are not going to pass this bill if it increases property taxes by that amount," Thelen warned.

Louis Garard, Racine County corporation counsel, told the committee "it would be tragic" if the bill is amended in such a way that an increase in state financing would cause its defeat.

Garard was one of a large delegation of Racine County representatives led by County Judge Francis Wendt who supported the measure. Added support came from the Wisconsin Association of County Hospitals, represented by Lynn Lucia of Green Bay and John Lindner of Eau Claire.

These also supported two other mental health bills heard by the committee.

The measure to provide for state membership in the interstate compact on mental health and provide that in the future only mental patients can be admitted to county mental hospitals. The mentally infirm or senile would be cared for separately.

Soviet Rocket Probe Will Reach Planet After 7-Month Flight

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet rocket probe to the planet Mars is reported more than 60 million miles from the earth.

The half-ton space ship launched last Nov. 1 is travelling at a rate of about 864,000 miles a day. It is expected to reach the vicinity of Mars in late May, making the journey in seven months.

Poll Indicates Foreign Policy Backed Abroad

sentiment in the latest surveys in Western Europe appear to be paralleled by no less striking gains in pro-Soviet sentiment.

"The Soviet gains are most apparent in the current extent of approval of recent Soviet policies. There is also very substantial improvement in the Soviet peace image, and some increase, except in West Germany, in the general level of esteem for the Soviet Union."

The study found the "net favorable" impressions of Soviet international conduct from June 1962 to February 1963 switched from minus 53 per cent to plus 3 per cent in Britain, from minus 66 to minus 13 in Germany and from minus 35 to plus 21 in France.

National Interests

The percentages of those saying their country's basic interests agree with America's dropped some in France and Britain between February 1960 and February 1963 but climbed in Germany and Italy, the poll indicated.

The "net favorable" rate slipped from 68 per cent to 51 per cent in Britain and from 9 to 4 per cent in France, while in Germany it rose from 64 to 77 per cent. The Italian response went from 27 per cent in February to 42 per cent in June 1963, the latest count listed for Italy.

In probing for neutralist inclinations among the Europeans, the USIA polls asked whether the respondents thought their country should side with the United States, with the Soviet Union, or with neither. The "net favorable" percentages were derived by subtracting the pro-Soviet and "neither" answers from the pro-U.S.

On this, the count between May 1960 and last month went from minus 6 to plus 12 in Britain, from plus 42 to plus 67 in Germany, and from minus 28 to minus 34 in France. The bulk of the French minuses came from those favoring nonalignment.

Negroes Seek Total Desegregation of N. C. School System

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—A suit asking total desegregation of the High Points N.C. school system has been filed in U.S. Middle District Court here by the parents of eight Negro students.

The suit, filed Wednesday, asked that all students, teachers and other school personnel be assigned without regard to race. It names the High Point Board of Education as defendant.

The plaintiffs claim the High Point board has used the State Pupil Assignment Act to maintain discriminatory practices.

Irishman Complains of Legends About Nation

MONTREAL (AP) — An Irishman complained Wednesday about such lovely Irish legends as leprechauns—and approaching St. Patrick's Day, too.

"Other countries just won't take us seriously when it comes to trade matters," complained Brendan O. Cassidy, the Irish trade representative in Montreal.

"One of the great obstacles we have encountered in the promotion of exports from Ireland is the fact that a misty wall of legends has given most people in other countries the impression that Ireland is not a land of trade and commerce," Cassidy told the Westmount Rotary Club.

Do You Need Draperies

Thousands of Fox Cities People Claim
Prange's Custom Draperies Are The Best!
We Think They're Right . . . Here's Why:

Can You Take 5 Minutes? Read The Whole Story

Set a beautiful story in motion. A story of Prange's custom draperies. From the first phone call to the final installation of the draperies in your home, a story of vast assortments, superior quality, expert craftsmanship, and Prange's low prices. A story of a refreshing transition from your old draperies to stimulating new colors, patterns and fabrics. It's the simple, delightful and inexpensive way to create exciting newness in your home. Pick up your phone and shop at home. Dial RE 3-5511 and Prange's will come to you. You make your selection right in the actual setting to be redecorated. The most convenient way to choose your draperies. Prange's staff of custom representatives are hand picked for their seasoned knowledge of decoration and design and experience, and you will find their manner friendly, their taste impeccable. You will discover that they can show you the largest, most complete range of drapery, slip cover, and upholstery fabrics in this area . . . within the price range you want.

Now the fun really starts. You are suddenly surrounded with the wonderful world of '63 decorator fashions and lavishing colors. You will see all the new shades; topaz, golds, apricots, greens, violets, purples, electric blues. You will discover reds are coming up, pinks and roses are losing the dusty look. You will see green gage, and bronze, a subtle no-color green that blends with everything. You will also see a new subtle off-white and oyster or banana color which are complimentary to every color scheme, plus just the right shading of beige tones to tie in with the popular floor covering colors. One thing is certain, you are going to have the most complimentary draperies that you can imagine.

Then the wonderful world of fabrics, by Bloom, Waverly, Kandell, Cohn-Hall-Marx. You will find textures and sheers in unlimited varieties. And the look of today . . . the Silk Look, the Spanish Look, the Modern Look, the Provincial Look and the One-Color Look. You will see everything from Tweeds to Damasks, Luxury Antique Satins, cottons, linens and the new heavy Casement Look.

Now you have selected the right fabric in the right color and the making begins. We will measure to insure a perfect fit and your draperies will be made in one of the most complete workrooms in the country, complete with all of the equipment necessary for the proper making of custom draperies. Our drapery tailors are skilled in the craft of cutting, piecing, hemming, pleating, folding these draperies into an end product of which we have a great deal of pride. And this skilled workmanship and lavish care shows in the finished product in your home.

No extra detail is spared because Prange's takes pride in giving you the extras. We match all fabrics particularly at the seams; hand sewn linings, many hand finishing touches, plus final pressing and pleat folding. When we are finished your draperies have every deluxe detail you could hope to find anywhere at prices that you can afford.

The story ends happily when one of our installation men installs your draperies and rods in your home and checks them for flawless fit . . . and notes mentally your smiling satisfaction.

There is seldom a P.S. to our drapery story. If ever there should be an error, or the slightest dissatisfaction, we will make any adjustments necessary to insure that complete satisfaction is given.
